QUESTIONS PRESENTED

1. Is an absent member of a class certified under Rule 23, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a "party" within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) such that district and circuit judges, members of the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation, and Justices of the Supreme Court must recuse themselves if they or their spouses own stock of any absent class member?

2. Is a district judge's recusal immediately appealable to the Court of Appeals pursuant to either 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) or the collateral order doctrine under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 where the district judge had presided in a complex multidistrict class action for almost five years, substantial time and effort would be required to familiarize a new judge with the litigation, and the sole basis for recusal was that the district judge's spouse had inherited stock in an absent class member?

PARTIES TO THE PROCEEDING

Petitioners are named plaintiffs in In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, MDL Docket No. 296, a multidistrict class action currently pending in the United States District Court for the District of Arizona, and are listed in note 1, infra. Respondents are defendants below and are listed in note 2, infra.

Petitioners recognize that compliance with Supreme Court Rules 21 and 28 in class actions is ordinarily accomplished by listing only the named representative parties. E.g., Weyerhaeuser Co. v. Lyman Lamb Co., No. 81-1618 and Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. Lyman Lamb Co., No. 81-1619, ____ U.S. ____, 102 S.Ct. 2232 (1982), granting cert. sub nom. In re Plywood Antitrust Litigation, 655 F.2d 627 (5th Cir. 1981). The district court Order in this case, however, held that all 210,235 putative class members are "parties" for purposes of recusal under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4), thus compelling petitioners to identify all class members as "parties." In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F. Supp. 1076, 1079-80 (D. Ariz. 1981).

In order to avoid listing 210,235 "parties" in this printed petition, petitioners are filing concurrently herewith a "Motion for Relief from Compliance with Certain Provisions of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3" so that petitioners might obtain leave to lodge with the Clerk of the Court only one copy of this list and serve this Petition on only the named parties below.

PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT

Petitioners respectfully pray that a writ of certiorari issue to review the decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit entered on January 27, 1982, as modified April 15, 1982.

OPINIONS BELOW

The opinion filed May 26, 1981, by Chief District Judge C. A. Muecke is reported at 515 F. Supp. 1076 (D. Ariz. 1981), and is reprinted as Appendix B hereto. The opinion filed January 27, 1982, by the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, as amended on denial of rehearing and rehearing en banc on April 15, 1982, is reported at 673 F.2d 1020 (9th Cir. 1982), and is reprinted as Appendices A and G hereto.

JURISDICTION OF THIS COURT

The Order of the Court of Appeals was entered on October 30, 1981 (Appendix D hereto), an amended dissent filed on November 19, 1981 (Appendix E hereto), and an Opinion issued on January 27, 1982 (Appendix A hereto). On February 3, 1982, petitioners filed a timely petition for rehearing and suggestion for rehearing en banc, which was denied April 15, 1982 (Appendix G hereto). On June 7, 1982, Justice Rehnquist issued an Order granting petitioners an extension of time in which to file a petition for a writ of certiorari until August 15, 1982. The jurisdiction of this Court is invoked under 28 U.S.C. § 1254(1).

STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

The statutes involved are 28 U.S.C. §§ 455, 1291 and 1292(b), which are reprinted as Appendix I hereto.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Beginning in September 1976, petitioners[1] brought a total of 32 separate actions in 12 different district courts, individually and as class representatives, seeking monetary and injunctive

[1] Petitioners and the plaintiffs below are: the States of Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas and Utah; Rubenstein Development Company and Harry Rubenstein; Bill Carson d/b/a Bill Carson Construction and Bill Carson Construction Co., Inc.; Leavell Company; James I. relief from respondents and other defendants[2] for an alleged conspiracy to fix, stabilize and maintain the price of cement and cement-containing products throughout the United States in violation of section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. The jurisdiction of the district courts was based upon 28 U.S.C §§ 1331 and 1337 and sections 4 and 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 15 and 26. On September 12, 1977, the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation transferred certain of these actions to the United States District Court for the District of Arizona and assigned them to Chief Judge C. A. Muecke for coordinated pretrial proceedings pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 437 F. Supp. 750 (J.P.M.D.L. 1977). See also In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 465 F. Supp. 1299 (J.P.M.D.L. 1979).

Following extensive discovery and voluminous briefing, Judge Muecke certified that these actions should proceed as class actions pursuant to Rule 23, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 1979-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶62,502 (D. Ariz. 1979). The parties then undertook further discovery to compile from defendants' customer lists the names and addresses of 210,235 putative class members. 673 F.2d, at 1022. Using this list for mailed notice and also using supplementary notice by publication, the putative class members were advised pursuant to Rule 23(c)(2), Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, of the pendency of this litigation and of their right to be excluded from the class.[3] The deadline for putative class members to seek exclusion from the class expired on December 31, 1980, and, more than four years after the litigation was first commenced, the membership in the class was finally fixed.

On February 23, 1981, respondents filed a motion asking Chief Judge Muecke to recuse himself under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4). CA9 App. Ex. 14. The motion was based on the fact that Chief Judge Muecke's wife had inherited as her sole and separate property stock in seven absent class members. 515 F. Supp., at 1080, 1082-83. The motion argued that Judge Muecke was required to recuse himself no matter how insignificant his wife's stock holdings because (1) absent class members are "parties" to the litigation within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4), and (2) his wife's stock ownership was "a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy" under section 455(b)(4).

Based solely on his conclusion that absent class members are parties,[4] Chief Judge Muecke granted respondents' motion and recused himself on May 26, 1981. Chief Judge Muecke noted that any conceivable financial benefit to his wife was so insignificant that it could not "seriously be contended that [his] continuation in this matter creates the appearance of impropriety," 515 F. Supp., at 1081, and lamented over the waste-

[3] Exhibit 6 in Appendix to Petition for Permission to Appeal From the United States District Court for the District of Arizona Pursuant to Title 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) and Brief of Petitioner (hereinafter "CA9 App. Ex. ").

[4] Regarding respondents' alternative basis for recusal, Chief Judge Muecke found "the term 'subject matter in controversy' to be inherently vague," but noted that his "conclusion that the 'parties' provision of § 455 is applicable to the present case makes the resolution of the 'subject matter in controversy' issue unnecessary." 515 F. Supp., at 1080.

fulness and inefficiency of transferring the litigation to a new judge.[5] Nonetheless, he interpreted section 455(b)(4) as imposing a mandatory requirement of recusal based upon his wife's stock ownership in absent class members:

> I have concluded that I must recuse myself, not because I feel a sense of conflict, and not because I feel that to continue would create the appearance of impropriety. I have concluded that I must recuse myself for the sole reason that the law, as written, says I must.

515 F. Supp., at 1078. On June 3, 1981, Chief Judge Muecke amended his May 26, 1981, Opinion, found that his recusal "involve[d] a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion and [that] an immediate appeal ... may materially advance the ultimate determination of the litigation," and certified his decision for interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b). Appendix C hereto.

Petitioners sought review in the Ninth Circuit on three separate jurisdictional grounds: (1) interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (No. 81-5481); (2) appeal of a collateral order pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291 and Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949) (No. 81-8079); and (3) writ of mandamus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1651 (No. 81-7465). The majority of the Ninth Circuit panel dismissed the section 1291 appeal and denied the petition to appeal under section 1292(b), but set the application for a writ of mandamus for argument before a different panel.

[5] Chief Judge Muecke commented:

> Compare my wife's financial interest in this litigation with the burden of applying § 455. As I have said, this case is into its sixth year. This Court has entered 75 pretrial orders, decided countless motions, and retains a working knowledge of where the suit has been and where it is headed. Such knowledge is crucial to competent case management. To transfer five and one-half years of work and paper to a new judge seems unfair, not only to the parties, but to the unlucky transferee and will in all likelihood be the occasion for delay. Decisions which might routinely be disposed of by me may well take a new judge longer until he has the opportunity to become acquainted with the case.

515 F. Supp., at 1081 (footnote omitted).

Writing for the majority, Judge Wallace expressly rejected contrary decisions in the Third and Fifth Circuits, and narrowly interpreted the phrase "controlling question of law" in section 1292(b) as being limited to those issues which "could materially affect the outcome of the litigation in the district court." 673 F.2d, at 1026-1027, citing Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., 496 F.2d 747, 755 (3rd Cir.), cert. denied 419 U.S. 885 (1974); Hadjipateras v. Pacifica, S.A., 290 F.2d 697, 702-03 (5th Cir. 1961). The majority then held that Chief Judge Muecke's interpretation of section 455(b)(4) was "not a 'controlling question of law,' and therefore the jurisdictional prerequisites for section 1292(b) review ha[d] not been met." 673 F.2d, at 1026. Judge Wallace ignored decisions from other circuits where section 1292(b) appeals of recusal orders had been permitted. E.g., In re Virginia Electric and Power Co., 539 F.2d 357 (4th Cir. 1976), cited at 673 F.2d, at 1030 (Boochever, J., dissenting).

In also dismissing the section 1291 appeal, the majority recognized that the Cohen doctrine applied to "orders which finally determine 'claims of right,' " 673 F.2d, at 1024, but held that petitioners had no claim of right "in not having a judge disqualify himself unnecessarily when a recusal order would so disrupt the course of the litigation as to cause substantial delay." Id., at 1025. Although he noted that "five of the seven members of the [Judicial] Panel [on Multidistrict Litigation] own stock in putative class members," and that under Chief Judge Muecke's ruling "the Panel [could not] act to assign the cases to a new judge or remand them to the districts where they were originally filed," id., at 1024, Judge Wallace reasoned that this stock ownership did not present an obstacle to Panel action because 28 U.S.C. § 455 did not apply to members of the Panel. 673 F.2d, at 1024-25.

Judge Boochever dissented. He argued that the Ninth Circuit should follow the rule applied in the Third and Fifth Circuits and interpret "controlling question of law" to include " 'procedural determination[s] that may importantly affect the conduct of an action,' " 673 F.2d, at 1029, quoting In re Duplan Corp., 591 F.2d 139, 148 n.11 (2nd Cir. 1978) (Friendly, J.), and not simply those issues which actually determine the outcome of a suit. Applying this standard, Judge Boochever concluded that the Circuit Court should, in the exercise of its discretion, review the recusal order under section 1292(b). 673 F.2d, at 1029-30. Judge Boochever also disagreed with the majority's dismissal of the section 1291 appeal, 673 F.2d, at 1030-31, and its conclusion that 28 U.S.C. § 455 did not apply to members of the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation. 673 F.2d, at 1031 n.6. Judge Boochever agreed, however, with the majority's decision to set the application for a writ of mandamus for oral argument.

On January 4, 1982, a separate panel of the Ninth Circuit heard argument on petitioners' application for a writ of mandamus, but no decision has yet been rendered. The Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation has refused to appoint a new district judge to replace Chief Judge Muecke until after the Ninth Circuit ruling (Appendix H hereto) and, if it follows the reasoning of Chief Judge Muecke and Judge Boochever, it may be incapable of assigning a new judge.[6] Thus, some 15 months have now passed since Judge Muecke recused himself; no new judge has been appointed to replace him; there are no immediate prospects for the appointment of a new judge; and serious questions exist over whether the Panel can act to appoint a new judge.

REASONS WHY THE WRIT SHOULD BE GRANTED

I

THIS COURT SHOULD NOT INTERPRET 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) IN A MANNER WHICH WOULD PREVENT CONSIDERATION OF THE IMPORTANT ISSUES PRESENTED BY THIS PETITION

The issues presented by this petition are important ones which need to be decided by this Court in order to resolve the various conflicts among the Circuits. Yet, if Chief Judge

[6] Under 28 U.S.C. § 1407(d), the concurrence of four Panel members is necessary "to any action by the Panel." The 1982 financial disclosure statements of Judges Pointer, Caffrey, Harper and Daugherty show stock holdings in entities on the Master Class List. Thus, there are only three Panel members who would not own stock "in a party to the proceeding" under Chief Judge Muecke's ruling.

Muecke's decision is correct and a single share of stock in an absent class member is a disqualifying interest, this Court would not be able to grant or deny this petition or even decide the simple procedural motion for relief from the Rules being filed concurrently herewith. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1, this Court must have a quorum of six Justices, and lower court judgments must be affirmed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2109 when a quorum cannot be convened. Applying Chief Judge Muecke's ruling would result in recusal of five Justices, thereby defeating the quorum and preventing consideration of this petition.[7]

To be able to consider this petition, this Court must reject Chief Judge Muecke's erroneous interpretation of section 455(b)(4). Absent class members should not be considered to be parties under section 455(b)(4) because "general law does not treat class members and parties in an identical fashion," 515 F. Supp., at 1079, and Congress should not be presumed to have upset this general law without a clear expression of intent. No such intent has been evidenced. Nor should stock ownership in an absent class member be considered to be "a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy" under section 455(b)(4) because that provision applies only to "direct ownership." In re New Mexico Natural Gas Antitrust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794, 796 (10th Cir. 1980). The most that can be said for stock ownership in an absent class member is that it is an indirect "other interest" to be judged under the substantiality standard of section 455(b)(4) rather than the per se rule applied by Chief Judge Muecke.

Resolution of the issues presented by Chief Judge Muecke's recusal decision is important for other reasons. If that decision is correct, then this Court needs to amend Supreme Court Rules 21, 28.1 and 28.3 to bring them into compliance

[7] The 1982 financial disclosure statements of Chief Justice Burger, and Justices Blackmun, Powell, Rehnquist and O'Connor include stock holdings in corporations which appear on the Master Class List. Justice O'Connor also appears to be disqualified under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(5)(ii) because of her spouse's former membership in a law firm representing a number of the respondents and defendants in the district court.

Justice Rehnquist has previously ruled on motions for extensions of time in this litigation without mentioning whether his stock ownership in absent class members requires recusal pursuant to section 455(b)(4).

with section 455(b)(4).[8] With the increasing prevalence of class actions, the issue will be a recurring one. Indeed, this is actually the second time that this issue has been before this Court with the same parties.[9]

[8] The normal practice in class actions under Supreme Court Rules 21, 28.1 and 28.3 is simply to list the representative parties. Mead Corp. v. Adams Extract Co., ____ U.S. ____, 102 S. Ct. 1994 (1982), denying cert. sub nom. In re Corrugated Container Grand Jury, 659 F.2d 1330 (5th Cir. 1981), and Weyerhaeuser Co. v. Lyman Lamb Co., No. 81-1618, and Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. Lyman Lamb Co., No. 81-1619, ____U.S.____, 102 S. Ct. 2232 (1982), granting cert. sub nom. In re Plywood Antitrust Litigation, 655 F.2d 627 (5th Cir. 1981), were all cases like the present one involving nationwide classes; yet in none of those cases did this Court have before it a list of all class members.

If Judge Muecke's ruling is correct, it is possible that this Court did not have a quorum to deny certiorari in Mead or to grant certiorari in Weyerhaeuser and Georgia-Pacific, and this Court certainly should not have acted upon those petitions without at least having the lists of the class members in those cases.

[9] Alpha Portland Industries, Inc. v. California, ____U.S.____, 102 S. Ct. 17 (1981), dismissing petition for cert. pursuant to Rule 53.2(c) sub nom. In re Grand Jury Proceedings at Chattanooga, Tennessee, 649 F.2d 387 (6th Cir. 1981), was a related case involving the same parties who are now before this Court, and also presented the issue whether 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) requires the recusal of Justices of this Court because of ownership of stock in absent class members.

In Alpha, various cement manufacturers who are also respondents in this case sought review of the Sixth Circuit decision transferring certain grand jury materials to Chief Judge Muecke. Their petition for a writ of certiorari in Alpha was before this Court at about the same time that Chief Judge Muecke entered his recusal order and since Chief Judge Muecke's decision would also have required recusal of the Justices of this Court who owned stock in absent class members, the petitioners in this case felt obligated as officers of the Court to bring to this Court's attention the possibility that recusal might be required if Chief Judge Muecke was correct in his decision that absent class members are "parties" within the meaning of section 455(b)(4). See July 23, 1981, letter from Peter K. Shack to Alexander L. Stevas regarding Alpha Portland Industries, Inc. v. California, No. 80-2062, reprinted as Appendix K hereto.

When confronted with the possibility that this Court might actually be required to consider the correctness of Chief Judge Muecke's decision, the cement manufacturers followed the highly unusual course under Supreme Court Rule 53.2(c) of unilaterally dismissing their petition for a writ of certiorari and tendering to the petitioners in this case the full amount of their damages and costs in this Court in opposing that petition. Any other action by the cement manufacturers would have resulted in this Court's considering (in the Alpha case) the correctness of Chief Judge Muecke's decision at least a year before it is decided here.

This Court should therefore reject Chief Judge Muecke's interpretation of section 455(b)(4) and consider the important issues presented by this petition.

II

THE NINTH CIRCUIT'S INTERPRETATION OF 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) CONFLICTS WITH THE DECISIONS OF OTHER CIRCUIT COURTS OF APPEALS

A. The Ninth Circuit's Refusal to Entertain Section 1292(b) Appeals of Recusal Decisions Conflicts with the Rule Adopted by Four Other Circuit Courts.

The Ninth Circuit now stands alone in prohibiting section 1292(b) appeals of decisions by district judges recusing themselves. The Ninth Circuit holding is directly contrary to decisions by the Courts of Appeals in the Third, Fourth, Sixth and Tenth Circuits, all of which have permitted section 1292(b) review of district court recusal orders. Haas v. Pittsburgh National Bank, 627 F.2d 677 (3rd Cir. 1980); In re New Mexico Natural Gas Antitrust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794 (10th Cir. 1980); In re Virginia Electric & Power Company, supra; Kelly v. Metropolitan County Board of Education, 479 F.2d 810 (6th Cir. 1973).

While certain recusal decisions perhaps should not be reviewed under Section 1292(b), that is no justification for the Ninth Circuit's blanket rule prohibiting appellate review in all cases. As the Ninth Circuit itself recognized in this case, "judicial resources might be saved" by permitting appellate review in certain situations. 673 F.2d, at 1027. There will, for example, be cases where recusal turns solely upon an important question of law having far-reaching implications, such as "the important question of the applicability of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) to class actions." Id. Congress intended section 1292(b) to be a means of expediting lawsuits while still avoiding a proliferation of inappropriate appeals. Sen. Rep. No. 2434, 85th Cong., 2d Sess. (1958), reprinted in 1958 U.S. Code Cong. and Admin. News at 5255-57; Katz v. Carte

Blanche Corp., supra, 496 F.2d, at 753-56. The Ninth Circuit's narrow and unique interpretation is contrary to the manifest purpose of section 1292(b).

The Ninth Circuit rule that recusal orders are not appealable under section 1292(b) conflicts with both the Congressional purpose underlying that statute and the decisions of other circuits. These conflicts should be resolved by this Court.

B. The Ninth Circuit's Limitation of Section 1292(b) Appeals to Outcome-Determinative Issues Conflicts with the Broader Interpretation Applied by Other Circuit Courts.

The Ninth Circuit interpreted section 1292(b) to apply only to issues which "could materially affect the outcome of litigation," 673 F.2d, at 1026, and expressly rejected the broader view followed in at least the Third and Fifth Circuits that section 1292(b) is available for interlocutory appeal of legal issues "the resolution of which may appreciably shorten the time, effort, or expense of conducting a lawsuit." Id., at 1027, citing Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., supra, 496 F.2d, at 755-56; Hadjipateras v. Pacifica, S.A., supra, 290 F.2d, at 702. In limiting interlocutory appellate review to legal issues which actually affect the outcome of a lawsuit rather than the broader test intended by Congress,[10] and the rule followed in other circuits and advocated by the commentators,[11] the Ninth Circuit has misconstrued section 1292(b).

The outcome-determinative test adopted by the Ninth Circuit is too narrow a reading of section 1292(b). There is a wide variety of pretrial legal issues where interlocutory appellate review will materially advance or expedite the litigation although not affecting who wins or loses the suit. E.g., Garner v. Wolfinbarger, 433 F.2d 117 (5th Cir. 1970) (change of venue order appealable under section 1292(b)); Schine v. Schine, 367 F.2d 685 (2nd Cir. 1966) (severance appealable under section 1292(b)). Appellate review of such decisions would ordinarily not be available under either sections 1291 or 1651, and if section 1292(b) review is also foreclosed a substantial body of significant legal decisions will be developed solely by the district courts without any guidance by the appellate courts. What is required by section 1292(b) is that the question be one of law rather than of fact or discretion. E.g., DeWitt v. American Stock Transfer Co., 440 F. Supp. 1084, 1088 (S.D.N.Y. 1977). The legal question must be "controlling" in the sense that it will have a significant impact on the future conduct of the proceedings. E.g., Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., supra. Of course, a proliferation of interlocutory appeals can always be avoided because the Circuit Courts must "exercise . . . the discretion granted . . . by the statute, [to decide whether] . . . to accept jurisdiction." 673 F.2d, at 1026.

[10] See Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., supra, 496 F.2d, at 753-56.

[11] E.g., Note, Interlocutory Appeals in the Federal Courts under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), 88 Harv. L. Rev. 607 (1975), and other authorities cited at 673 F.2d, at 1029 (Boochever, J., dissenting).

The Ninth Circuit's ruling conflicts with these objectives of section 1292(b) and the decisions of other Courts of Appeals. This Court should issue the writ of certiorari to resolve these conflicts

III

THE NINTH CIRCUIT HAS IMPROPERLY INTERPRETED AND APPLIED THE COLLATERAL ORDER DOCTRINE FOR APPEALS UNDER 28 U.S.C. § 1291

The Ninth Circuit refused to accept jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 even though it found that the district court's recusal decision was a "collateral order" falling within this Court's recent articulation of the rule of Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541, 546 (1949), in Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, 449 U.S. 368, 378 (1981).[12]

Relying on Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478 (7th Cir. 1981), the Ninth Circuit concluded that section 1291 jurisdiction was lacking because petitioners had no "recognizable interest" or "claim of right" with which an erroneous [12] "[W]e cannot disagree that an order granting recusal conclusively determines a disputed question, completely separate from the merits of the action, which, if not reviewed immediately, will be effectively unreviewable on appeal from final judgment." 673 F.2d, at 1023.

recusal could have interfered since Chief Judge Muecke's duties could be assumed by a replacement judge to be appointed by a four-member majority of the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation. However, the Ninth Circuit noted that "even the Court in Hampton suggested that [the preclusion under the recusal order of the appointment of a replacement judge] might satisfy the 'claim of right' requirement." 673 F.2d, at 1024, citing Hampton's reference to In re Virginia Electric & Power Co., supra, 643 F.2d, at 479 n.2.

The Ninth Circuit majority held that Judicial Panel members are not subject to the section 455 recusal provisions and, therefore, there is no impediment to the appointment of a new judge. However, there is an apparent conflict in such a holding between the Ninth Circuit and the Judicial Panel, which has refused to appoint a new judge until after a ruling on the merits of Chief Judge Muecke's recusal is issued. (Appendix H hereto.)

Judge Boochever's dissent recognized that "the reasons that would preclude a judge from adjudicating the merits of a case are equally relevant in determining whether a judge should participate in the reassignment of a case", 673 F.2d, at 1031 n.6, and suggested temporary appointments to the Judicial Panel in order to create a quorum. However, this also is precluded under Chief Judge Muecke's order since section 1407(d) places responsibility for Panel appointment on the Chief Justice, who also owns stock in an absent class member.[13] Accordingly, before he can act, the Chief Justice will have to determine that (1) he disagrees with Chief Judge Muecke, (2) appointing temporary Panel members is not within the scope of section 455, or (3) he is disqualified and his duties may be assumed by another Justice.[14]

[13] The Chief Justice's 1982 Financial Disclosure Statement indicates he owns stock in 3M Corp., which has previously been established as having made a purchase qualifying it for class membership.

[14] Another effect of Chief Judge Muecke's Order would require the Clerk's office to do a complete recusal review based on all 210,235 putative class members in this litigation, and that all courts involved in all class actions complete a review of all class members even though a determination of the class may not be made until a substantial amount of the litigation (as here, four years) has been completed.

CONCLUSION

The petition for a writ of certiorari should be granted.

OPINION

BEFORE: WALLACE, SKOPIL, and BOOCHEVER, Circuit Judges.

WALLACE, Circuit Judge:

Plaintiffs, appellants and petitioners herein, seek review of the district court's order of May 26, 1981, granting a motion to recuse brought by defendants, appellees and real parties herein. Three avenues are attempted: a direct appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1291, a discretionary interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), and a petition for a writ of mandamus. Defendants move to dismiss the appeal on the ground that a grant of a motion to recuse is not a final appealable order subject to review under 28 U.S.C. § 1291, and argue that an interlocutory appeal under section 1292(b) is not warranted. We dismiss the appeal for lack of jurisdiction and deny the petition for permission to appeal pursuant to section 1292(b). Review will be based upon the petition for mandamus.

I.

Plaintiffs, a national class of public and private purchasers of cement and cement-containing products, and two statewide classes of governmental purchasers, assert a nationwide conspiracy among various cement producers to fix, maintain and stabilize the price of cement and cement products in violation of, inter alia, Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. The original suit was filed in the District of Arizona in 1976. Similar actions, which were filed in other parts of the country, were thereafter transferred by the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation to the District of Arizona for consolidated pretrial proceedings. Because of his experience with the pretrial proceedings that had already been conducted in the actions pending in the District of Arizona, Judge Muecke was assigned to hear the coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 437 F. Supp. 750, 753 (J.P.M.D.L. 1977).

On March 9, 1979, Judge Muecke certified that the litigation proceed on behalf of a nationwide class of public and private cement purchasers and two statewide governmental entity classes. Following certification of these classes, the parties lodged with the court a Master Class List of 210,235 entities, consisting of all putative class members who could be ascertained through reasonable efforts. On January 12, 1981, after Judge Muecke had approved the list and had given notice to the putative class members, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2), that they could elect exclusion from the class by written request prior to December 31, 1980, defendants informed Judge Muecke in a letter that a comparison of his 1980 financial disclosure statement with the Master Class List indicated that his wife owned stock in seven of the 210,235 entities, none of which had requested exclusion. Defendants asserted that such stock ownership constituted interests both in parties to the litigation and in the subject matter of the litigation, thereby mandating Judge Muecke's recusal under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4).[1] On February 23, 1981, defendants filed a motion for Judge Muecke's disqualification on the grounds asserted in their previous letter. Judge Muecke granted defendants' motion to recuse on the basis that his wife's stock ownership fell within the per se rule of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4), which requires recusal when a judge's spouse has a financial interest in a party to the proceeding. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F. Supp. 1076 (D. Ariz. 1981).[2] On June 3, 1981, Judge Muecke certified his order for an interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b).

II.

The first question we must decide is whether a party may take an appeal, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291, from an order granting a motion to recuse. Under section 1291, the courts of appeals are vested with "jurisdiction of appeals from all final decisions of the district courts. . . ." The Supreme Court has consistently interpreted this language as indicating that a party may not take an appeal under this section until there has been a decision by the district court that "ends the litigation on the merits and leaves nothing for the court to do but execute the judgment." Coopers & Lybrand v. Livesay, 437 U.S. 463, 467 (1978) (Coopers & Lybrand), quoting Catlin v. United States, 324 U.S. 229, 233 (1945). An order granting a motion to recuse clearly does not terminate the entire litigation.[3] "Such an order is appealable, therefore, only if it comes within an appropriate exception to the final-judgment rule." Coopers & Lybrand, supra, 437 U.S. at 467. In this case, plaintiffs rely on the "collateral order" exception articulated by the Supreme Court in Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949) (Cohen).

In Cohen the Supreme Court recognized that some orders by their nature require review at an earlier stage, because they will be effectively unreviewable upon appeal from a final judgment. Id. at 546. The Cohen collateral order doctrine allows appeals from orders that can be said to fall within > that small class which finally determine claims of rights separable from, and collateral to, rights asserted in the action, too important to be denied review and too independent of the cause itself to require that appellate consideration be deferred until the whole case is adjudicated.

Id. Although there is a strong policy behind the rule that appeals are to be made only following final judgment on the merits, the Court has recognized that under certain circumstances "a rigid insistence on technical finality would sometimes conflict with the purposes of the statute." Coopers & Lybrand, supra, 437 U.S. at 471. Recently, the Court summarized the Cohen standard in the following manner:

> "[T]he order must conclusively determine the disputed question, resolve an important issue completely separate from the merits of the action, and be effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment."

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, 449 U.S. 368, 375 (1981), quoting Coopers & Lybrand, supra, 437 U.S. at 468.

Firestone also stressed that the Cohen exception is narrow and teaches that "interlocutory orders are not appealable 'on the mere ground that they may be erroneous.'" Id. at 378. Thus, in determining whether a district court's order granting a motion to recuse is appealable prior to final judgment, we must be aware not only of the practical effect of denying immediate review upon a particular party, but also of the potential "unjustified waste of scarce judicial resources" which can result if the limited exception carved out in Cohen is transformed "into a license for broad disregard of the finality rule imposed by Congress in § 1291." Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, supra, 449 U.S. at 378.

Plaintiffs argue that an order granting recusal is appealable under Cohen. Applying the standard as summarized by the Court in Firestone, id. at 375, we cannot disagree that an order granting recusal conclusively determines a disputed question, completely separate from the merits of the action, which, if not reviewed immediately, will be effectively unreviewable on appeal from final judgment. Cf. In re Coordinated Pretrial Proceedings in Petroleum Products Antitrust Litigation, Nos. 80-5970 et seq., slip op. 5155 (9th Cir. Oct. 13, 1981) (allowing appeal from order disqualifying counsel under Cohen). However, not all orders which meet the requirements of this standard are reviewable under section 1291. The Court in Cohen spoke of that small class of orders which finally determine "claims of right." More recently the Court has explained that in the situations in which Cohen has been applied, "each involved an asserted right the legal and practical value of which could be destroyed if it were not vindicated before trial." United States v. MacDonald, 435 U.S. 850, 860 (1978) (footnote omitted). Thus, criminal defendants have been permitted appeals prior to criminal trials when they claim a violation of the double jeopardy clause, Abney v. United States, 431 U.S. 651, 662 (1977), or a violation of their statutory and constitutional right to bail, Stack v. Boyle, 342 U.S. 1, 6 (1951). In these situations, like the posting of security for costs involved in Cohen, the party seeking immediate review can establish not only that the district court's order is effectively unreviewable on appeal, but also that the effect of an erroneous decision by the district court will deprive him of some protectable interest. See Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, supra, 449 U.S. at 376-77. The rights sought to be vindicated by an immediate appeal would be extinguished by the time a final judgment is entered. Since the Supreme Court has recently cautioned that the final judgment rule and the important policies which support it must not be eroded by an unnecessarily liberal application of the Cohen exception, we are convinced that the "claim of right" language used in Cohen and reiterated by the Court on subsequent occasions must be viewed as establishing a mandatory prerequisite for a Cohen collateral order. See Community Broadcasting of Boston, Inc. v. FCC, 546 F.2d 1022, 1028 (D.C. Cir. 1976). It is this threshold requirement that plaintiffs in the present case have failed to meet.

In Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478 (7th Cir. 1981), the Seventh Circuit considered the question of whether the erroneous grant of a motion to recuse deprives the litigant opposing the motion of any recognizable interest. In holding that it did not, the court stated: "[W]e fail to conceive of any interest which the plaintiffs have as litigants for review of [the] recusal order.... While plaintiffs have a right to have their claim heard by the district court, they have no protectable interest in the continued exercise of jurisdiction by a particular judge." Id. at 479. We agree.

Plaintiffs attempt to distinguish Hampton on two grounds. First, they argue that Judge Muecke's decision prevents any other federal judge from being assigned to hear the case and therefore denies them the right to have their case heard at all. In Hampton, reassignment of the case was routinely made by the clerk's office on a random basis. In contrast, reassignment of the instant case requires a concurrence of four of the seven judges on the Judicial Panel of Multi-District Litigation. Plaintiffs claim that because five of the seven members of the Panel own stock in putative class members, the Panel cannot act to assign the cases to a new judge or remand them to the districts where they were originally filed. Even the court in Hampton suggested that a consequence such as that asserted by plaintiffs might satisfy the "claim of right" requirement of Cohen. Id. at 479 & n.2.

We need not decide this question since we opine that stock ownership in putative class members by judges on the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation does not affect the Panel's ability to transfer the present proceedings to a new judge. 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) requires only that a judge disqualify himself in any "proceeding" where he has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to that proceeding. Section 455(d)(1) defines the word "proceeding" as including "pretrial, trial, appellate review, or other stages of litigation." 28 U.S.C. § 455(d)(1). Although the reassignment by the Panel could be construed as a pretrial stage of litigation, in light of the obvious purpose of section 455 to prevent a judge from adjudicating rights in any case in which he appears to have an interest, we refuse to construe the word "proceeding" to include the performance of ministerial duties such as assigning a case to another judge. See Stringer v. United States, 233 F.2d 947, 948 (9th Cir. 1956). While the issue may be ultimately decided if and when the question is presented directly to the Panel, we conclude that the contention is of insufficient merit to persuade us that plaintiffs' fear of never having their case heard is well founded.

Plaintiffs also assert that the present case differs from Hampton because of Judge Muecke's four-year experience with the litigation. In Hampton the recusal order came immediately after the judge was assigned to the case and before he had gained substantial experience with the litigation or made any substantive orders. Hampton v. City of Chicago, supra, 643 F.2d at 479-80. Judge Muecke, on the other hand, had made numerous pretrial orders and secured a working knowledge of the suit during his four-year tenure. Plaintiffs essentially argue that although a litigant does not have a right to have a particular judge hear his case, a litigant does have a protectable interest in not having a judge disqualify himself unnecessarily when a recusal order would so disrupt the course of the litigation as to cause substantial delay. However, plaintiffs have failed to demonstrate how Judge Muecke's recusal would substantially delay the present litigation. Plaintiffs merely speculate that because the pretrial proceedings have taken over five years, the time required for a new judge to familiarize himself with the case will be substantial and thus deny them their right to a speedy and inexpensive adjudication of their claims. While plaintiffs' assessment of Judge Muecke's effective service should not be minimized, we should not rule out the possibility that the next judge selected by the Multi-District Panel may be even more familiar with the substantive issues of the litigation, which are as yet essentially undecided, or be aware of different pretrial or trial techniques. Thus, the ultimate disposition of this case may not be appreciably delayed at all.

There is another, more fundamental reason that we cannot accept plaintiffs' argument. There may well be exceptional situations in which the costs of familiarizing a new judge, in terms of delay, will prove to be very great. However, there will also be situations in which, although the original judge's participation greatly exceeds that of the judge in Hampton, the effect of recusal on the course of litigation will be nonexistent or insignificant. It is not necessary to create a general rule permitting immediate appeal of all recusal decisions in order to resolve the exceptional situations. See Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, supra, 449 U.S. at 378 n.13. Ultimately, if dissatisfied with the district judge's decision and confident that the litigation will be greatly disrupted, a party may seek a writ of mandamus from the court of appeals. It is for just such an exceptional circumstance that the writ was designed. See Community Broadcasting of Boston, Inc. v. FCC, supra, 546 F.2d at 1028. Plaintiffs have done so here and that petition will be reviewed on the merits.

III.

Plaintiffs have also applied to us for permission to appeal the district court's order pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b).[4] Section 1292(b) provides a mechanism by which litigants can bring an immediate appeal of a non-final order upon the consent of both the district court and the court of appeals. Whether an order of judicial recusal is properly appealable under section 1292(b) is a question of first impression in our circuit. Our analysis must begin by examining the statute and its legislative history.

When a party seeks a section 1292(b) interlocutory appeal, the court of appeals must undertake a two-step analysis. First, we must determine whether the district court has properly found that the certification requirements of the statute have been met. These certification requirements are (1) that there be a controlling question of law, (2) that there be substantial grounds for difference of opinion, and (3) that an immediate appeal may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation. If we conclude that the requirements have been met, we may, but need not, exercise jurisdiction. The second step in our analysis is therefore to decide whether, in the exercise of the discretion granted us by the statute, we want to accept jurisdiction. In the present case, it is not necessary to discuss how this second determination is made, as we have concluded that the question whether 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) compels Judge Muecke's disqualification is not a "controlling question of law," and therefore the jurisdictional prerequisites for section 1292(b) review have not been met.

While Congress did not specifically define what it meant by "controlling," the legislative history of 1292(b) indicates that this section was to be used only in exceptional situations in which allowing an interlocutory appeal would avoid protracted and expensive litigation. United States Rubber Co. v. Wright, 359 F.2d 784, 785 (9th Cir. 1966) (per curiam); Millbert v. Bison Laboratories, 260 F.2d 431, 433-35 (3d Cir. 1958). Although some circuits have criticized such a narrow approach to interlocutory appeals, see, e.g., Hadjipateras v. Pacifica, S.A., 290 F.2d 697, 702-03 (5th Cir. 1961), recently the Supreme Court in Coopers & Lybrand indicated its approval of the "exceptional circumstances" standard of section 1292(b) when it stated that the appellant "still has the burden of persuading the court of appeals that exceptional circumstances justify a departure from the basic policy of postponing appellate review until after the entry of a final judgment." Coopers & Lybrand, supra, 437 U.S. at 475, quoting Fisons, Ltd. v. United States, 458 F.2d 1241, 1248 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 405 U.S. 1041 (1972).

Keeping in mind this "exceptional circumstances" standard, we now must decide what Congress meant by the expression "controlling question of law." Courts have refused to interpret the phrase so narrowly as to require that reversal of the district court's order terminate the litigation. See e.g., United States v. Woodbury, 263 F.2d 784, 787 (9th Cir. 1959). One court has stated that, at the very least, a controlling question of law must encompass "every order which, if erroneous, would be reversible error on final appeal." Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., 496 F.2d 747, 755 (3d Cir.), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 885 (1974). However, this latter standard is of little guidance in the present case since the erroneous granting of a motion to recuse could not constitute reversible error upon a final appeal. Quite to the contrary, after the litigation has been tried before an impartial judge, the recusal order of the former judge is effectively mooted.

Just because an erroneous recusal order would not constitute reversible error on final appeal does not preclude it from review under section 1292(b). Rather, all that must be shown in order for a question to be "controlling" is that resolution of the issue on appeal could materially affect the outcome of litigation in the district court. See United States Rubber Co. v. Wright, supra, 359 F.2d at 785. In discussing the "controlling question of law" requirement in United States v. Woodbury, we stated:

> In our view the question of privilege which the government now would have us review involves nothing as fundamental as the determination of who are necessary and proper parties, whether a court to which a cause has been transferred has jurisdiction, or whether state or federal law should be applied.
> The issues of this lawsuit and the ability of the court to render a binding decision therein are in no way affected by the order to produce documents. . . .
>
> . . . .
> In our opinion the claim of privilege here asserted is collateral to the basic issues of this case, and cannot be regarded as presenting a "controlling question of law" as those words are used in the statute.

263 F.2d at 787-88 (emphasis added). The question whether Judge Muecke erroneously disqualified himself under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) must be viewed as collateral to the basic issues of this lawsuit.

Furthermore, Judge Muecke's recusal order will neither affect the ability of the district court to render a binding decision nor materially affect the outcome of the litigation in the district court. At best, all that can be said is that if the recusal decision was erroneous and can be overturned immediately upon appeal, some time at the district court level may ultimately be saved. This assumes, of course, that it would take less time for the parties to appeal the recusal order than it would to familiarize a new judge with the litigation. If so, that would not materially affect the outcome of this litigation, but only its duration. Some courts have adopted the view that a question is controlling if it is one the resolution of which may appreciably shorten the time, effort, or expense of conducting a lawsuit, see Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., supra, 496 F.2d at 755-56; Hadjipateras v. Pacifica, S.A., supra, 290 F.2d at 702;

E.F. Hutton & Co. v. Brown, 305 F. Supp. 371, 403 (S.D. Tex. 1969), thus essentially reading the "controlling question of law" requirement out of section 1292(b). We reject this approach. Congress could easily have chosen only to require that a question materially advance the litigation in order for it to be immediately reviewable. Since Congress chose to add the additional requirement that the issue for which review is sought must be a "controlling question of law," it would be improper for us to construe the statute as though these two requirements were interchangeable.

In conclusion, it is difficult for us to think of a question which is more separable from and collateral to the merits of this lawsuit than is the question of Judge Muecke's recusal decision. Since an appellate decision that recusal was improper could in no way materially affect the eventual outcome of the litigation, we cannot view the question as controlling. The precedent in this circuit has recognized the congressional directive that section 1292(b) is to be applied sparingly and only in exceptional cases, and that the "controlling question of law" requirement be interpreted in such a way to implement this policy. See, e.g., Robbins Constr. Co. v. Lawrence Mfg. Co., 482 F.2d 426, 429 (9th Cir. 1973); United States Rubber Co. v. Wright, supra, 359 F.2d at 785. Such precedent prohibits us from disregarding the "controlling question of law" requirement in the statute despite the fact that judicial resources might be saved by doing so. We admit that our adherence to precedent may mean that the important question of the applicability of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) to class actions will not be subject to direct appellate review, at least in the case where the district court grants the motion to recuse, and will require the parties to challenge the decision, as was done here, by a petition for writ of mandamus. However, Congress must have been aware of this possibility when it enacted the per se stock ownership rules of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4). It is for Congress to decide whether this question is so important that direct appellate review must always be available.

APPEAL DISMISSED; PETITION TO APPEAL INTERLOCUTORY ORDER DENIED; PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDAMUS TO BE HEARD ON THE MERITS.

FOOTNOTES

1. Under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4), a judge must disqualify himself where:

> He knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse or minor child residing in his household, has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

2. Judge Muecke also ruled that Canon 3C(1)(c) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, which is identical to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4), also imposed a per se obligation that he recuse himself. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F. Supp. 1076, 1079 (D. Ariz. 1981).

3. Apart from their Cohen argument, plaintiffs also assert that Judge Muecke's recusal order should be considered a final order and thus be reviewable under section 1291 since it deprives the plaintiffs of having their case heard at all. As we discuss in regard to the applicability of the collateral order doctrine, see infra, there is no merit to the argument that the recusal order effectively puts an end to the litigation on the basis that the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation will be unable to reassign the case under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4). Therefore, plaintiffs' argument that the recusal order in this case should be considered a final order must be rejected.

4. 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) provides:

> When a district judge, in making in a civil action an order not otherwise appealable under this section, shall be of the opinion that such order involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion and that an immediate appeal from the order may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation, he shall so state in writing in such order. The Court of Appeals may thereupon, in its discretion, permit an appeal to be taken from such order, if application is made to it within ten days after the entry of the order; Provided, however, That an application for an appeal hereunder shall not stay proceedings in the district court unless the district court or the Court of Appeals or a judge thereof shall so order.

BOOCHEVER, Circuit Judge dissenting:

I respectfully dissent. I think that Judge Muecke properly certified his recusal order, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1292(b), and that we should have accepted the interlocutory appeal. In addition, I think that an appeal pursuant to the "collateral order" exception to the final judgment rule, see Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949), would have been proper. The gist of the majority's opinion is that exercising jurisdiction over this interlocutory appeal would be improper because (1) Judge Muecke's recusal order does not present a "controlling question of law" and (2) plaintiffs assert no "claim of right" as required by Cohen. I find neither of these arguments convincing.

The majority states the issue before us too broadly, and, in doing so, confounds the application of both section 1292(b) and the collateral order doctrine. Stating the issue too broadly causes the majority to overstate the risk of rampant interlocutory appeals. As I see it, the issue is not whether all judicial recusals are open to interlocutory appeal. The issue is much narrower: is a judicial recusal order appealable either under section 1292(b) or Cohen when (1) it arises in a complex class action suit, (2) the judge bases his order upon a technical and literal reading of 28 U.S.C. § 455 even though he finds that he would neither be influenced by his spouse's minor stockholdings nor create the impression of impropriety by hearing the case, and (3) the judge recuses himself after presiding over the case for several years under circumstances requiring a new judge to expend substantial time and effort to become familiar with the case? I answer this question in the affirmative.

A. Section 1292(b)

We must conduct a two-step analysis when a party seeks a section 1292(b) appeal from a certified order. We must first determine whether the order certified for appeal meets the statute's threefold certification requirements.[1] If we find the order certifiable, we must then decide whether we want to accept jurisdiction. The majority concludes that Judge Muecke erred in certifying his recusal order because the recusal issue was not a "controlling question of law;" it, therefore, never reaches the second step of the analysis. I disagree with the majority's reasoning, and believe that we should accept jurisdiction.

Judge Muecke's recusal order meets all of section 1292(b)'s certification requirements. Two are clearly satisfied. First, an immediate appeal from Judge Muecke's recusal order might materially advance the ultimate termination of this litigation. Judge Muecke has warned of the delay he foresees if another judge is required to preside over this litigation. Second, this appeal involves an issue over which reasonable judges might differ. As Judge Muecke suggests, Congress may not have contemplated the application of 28 U.S.C. § 455 to class action litigation. This uncertainty provides a credible basis for a difference of opinion regarding section 455's applicability to class action suits.

Finally, I think the certified recusal order presents a "controlling question of law." Judge Muecke's recusal order presents a question of law; whether that question is "controlling" is the difficult issue. Because Congress did not explain what it meant by "controlling," we must construe that requirement in light of congressional purposes underlying section 1292(b)'s adoption—saving time for the district court and for the litigants while protecting against undue proliferation of appeals. See Katz v. Carte Blanche Corp., 496 F.2d 747, 755 (3d Cir.) (en banc), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 885 (1974); Hadjipateras v. Pacifica, S.A., 290 F.2d 697, 702-03 (5th Cir. 1961). The Third Circuit found testimony in section 1292(b)'s legislative history indicating that " 'controlling' means serious to the conduct of the litigation, either practically or legally." Katz, 496 F.2d at 755. The Second Circuit has remarked that "controlling questions of law" may include "procedural determination[s] that may importantly affect the conduct of an action." In re Duplan Corp., 591 F.2d 139, 148 n.11 (2d Cir. 1978) (Friendly, J.). Several commentators have adopted similar interpretations. See Note, Interlocutory Appeals in the Federal Courts under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), 88 Harv.L.Rev. 607, 623 (1975); 16 C. Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 3930, at 169; 9 Moore, Federal Practice, ¶ 110.22[2], at 260 (2d.ed. 1975) ("The critical requirement is that it [the question] have the potential for substantially accelerating the disposition of the litigation."). I agree with these interpretations of the "controlling question" requirement. So defined, it is abundantly clear that this case presents a "controlling question of law."

There can be no doubt but that Judge Muecke's recusal order would importantly affect the conduct of this action. During the five years he presided over this case, Judge Muecke devoted numerous hours to pleadings, hearings, and other procedural matters. He has made numerous decisions that have affected the scope and character of the suit. He shares an intimacy with this litigation that would take another judge much time and effort to acquire. He warns of the delay and injustice that will occur if another judge is required to familiarize himself with this case:

> To transfer five and one-half years of work and paper to a new judge seems unfair, not only to the parties, but to the unlucky transferee and will in all likelihood be the occasion for delay. Decisions which might routinely be disposed of by me may well take a new judge longer until he has the opportunity to become acquainted with the case.

In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F. Supp. 1077, 1081 (D. Ariz. 1981). We should not take these admonitions lightly, as Judge Muecke is in a far better position than we to evaluate the probability and effects of delay. With this in mind, I would hold that Judge Muecke did not err in certifying his recusal order for section 1292(b) review.

Finding us empowered to assert jurisdiction over this appeal, I would then rule that we should hear its merits. In exercising our discretion to accept or reject certified orders for interlocutory appeal, we must be guided by the policies and concerns that motivated Congress to adopt section 1292(b). Congress intended to create a mechanism that would shorten the period between the commencement of an action and its ultimate termination and would avert unnecessary work and expense. See Appeals from Interlocutory Orders and Confinement in Jail-Type Institutions: Hearings on H.R. 6238 and

H.R. 7260 before Subcomm. No. 3 of the House Comm. on the Judiciary, 85th Cong., 2d Sess., at 14 (1958). See also Katz. 496 F.2d at 753-56. It placed this mechanism under "the immediate, sole, and broad control of Judges so that within reasonable limits disadvantages of piecemeal and final judgment appeals might both be avoided." Hadjipateras v. Pacifica, S.A., 290 F.2d at 702-03. In doing so, it has entrusted the judiciary with the responsibility of developing an interlocutory appellate procedure in light of its own perceptions of need and its ability to control a potentially explosive source of appeals. Congress instituted a guard against the proliferation of interlocutory appeals by requiring that district courts certify their orders pursuant to stated criteria as a prerequisite to section 1292(b) appeals, and by further making such appeals subject to our acceptance.

I believe that the issue in this case warrants review at this interlocutory stage. The criteria for district court certification have been established. The narrowness of the issue before us obviates the risk of establishing precedent that might open the floodgates of interlocutory appeals. The importance of that issue and the impossibility of its later review dictate that we exercise our discretion by accepting this application for interlocutory appeal. Cf. In re Virginia Electric & Power Co., 539 F.2d 357, 364 (4th Cir. 1976) (applying similar logic to justify interlocutory review of a judicial disqualification order).

B. Collateral Order Doctrine

I also disagree with the majority's conclusion that we cannot exercise jurisdiction over Judge Muecke's recusal order pursuant to the Cohen collateral order doctrine. To come within that doctrine "the order must conclusively determine the disputed question, resolve an important issue completely separate from the merits of the action, and be effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment." Coopers & Lybrand v. Livesay, 437 U.S. 463, 468 (1978). The majority concedes that Judge Muecke's recusal order meets these requirements. It adds, however, that the collateral order doctrine is designed only to protect rights "the legal and practical value of which could be destroyed if... [they are] not vindicated before trial." United States v. MacDonald, 435 U.S. 850, 859-60 (1978) (footnote omitted). It then argues that petitioners can assert no "claim of right," as required by Cohen, 337 U.S. at 546. That is, the parties can claim no right to have a particular judge hear their case. This argument ignores a significant plaintiffs' right. Plaintiffs are entitled to have their case proceed to trial without undue delay. See generally Fed.R.Civ.P. 1. This right is inarguably of "legal and practical value" and would seem to mount in importance as their case approaches trial.[2] Under the circumstances of this case an erroneously issued recusal order would infringe on this right by causing undue delay.[3]

Not only does the recusal order satisfy the judicially-fashioned requirements for collateral order appeals, its present review would also be consistent with the policies underlying the collateral order exception to the final judgment rule.[4] Because it recognized that the dangers of delaying review may occasionally exceed the risk, cost, and inconvenience of piecemeal review, the Court gives the finality requirement a "practical rather than a technical construction." Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacquelin, 417 U.S. 156, 171 (1974), quoting from Cohen, 337 U.S. at 546. In the instant case, an appeal from Judge Muecke's recusal order would enable plaintiffs to obtain review of a question that would otherwise escape review. Just as important, review of the recusal order would not radically disserve any of the policies that the final judgment rule was designed to protect. A major risk of piecemeal review—disruption of the trial court proceedings—has already occurred in this case. Hearing this appeal would, at worst, only

[2] Judge Muecke reported, in his recusal order, that, "[w]hile trial is not yet underway, discovery has been substantial and is nearing completion." 515 F.Supp. at 1077. After more than five years of pretrial proceedings, the parties have significantly neared trial.

[3] Of course there is a countervailing right in having a disinterested judge preside over this litigation. Concededly, this right supercedes the right to go to trial promptly. It is not clear whether Judge Muecke is to be considered disinterested. Consequently, the clash between plaintiffs' right to proceed promptly to trial and the defendants' interest in assuring that a disinterested judge preside over the case merely highlights the importance of having us review the recusal order to determine whether plaintiffs' right to a prompt trial must be compromised.

[4] The final judgment rule is set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 1291.

prolong the delay already injected into this proceeding.[5] Moreover, added delay in this case is justified because it would enable us to clarify the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 455 and thereby potentially prevent unnecessary recusals that could cause delay in future cases. The instant case is one in which a practical construction of the finality rule is justified. I would allow a Cohen appeal.

To conclude, I think that the legal issue raised by Judge Muecke's recusal order is of major importance. It is likely to recur in future class action suits, where it will again affect the efficiency with which those cases proceed. Yet, because writs of mandamus will not issue unless the district court has committed "clear and indisputable" error, see United States v. Mehrmanesh, 652 F.2d 766, 770 (9th Cir. 1981); Arthur Young & Co. v. United States District Court, 549 F.2d 686, 691 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 431 U.S. 829 (1977), confining our review of this issue to occasions when writs of mandamus are sought may effectively cause it to escape the type of review by which it may be decided solely on its merits.

I would accept this interlocutory appeal.[6]

[5] If we were to hear this appeal and affirm the recusal order, we would effectively leave the case where it stood when it first came before us. Alternatively, if we found grounds to reverse, we could return the litigation to Judge Muecke and obviate the delay that will occur if another judge is appointed to preside over this litigation.

[6] I also disagree with the majority's thinking regarding the effect that stockholdings by members of the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation will have on their qualification to reassign the case. In my opinion, the reasons that would preclude a judge from adjudicating the merits of a case are equally relevant in determining whether a judge should participate in the reassignment of a case. Although this issue is not one of controlling importance since temporary appointments to the panel could be made, see 28 U.S.C. § 1407(b) (authorizing Chief Justice of United States to designate judges to serve as Panel members "from time to time"), thereby enabling it to reassign the case, the need to empanel other judges would present the prospect of additional delay.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE
DISTRICT OF ARIZONA

IN RE CEMENT AND CONCRETE ANTITRUST LITIGATION	MDL DOCKET NO. 296 MASTER FILE NO. CIV. 76-488A PHX CAM
THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO: ALL ACTIONS	OPINION AND ORDER

This matter is before the Court on Motion to Recuse, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) and Canon 3C(1)(c) of the Code of Judicial Conduct. I am asked to disqualify myself for the reason that my wife owns shares of stock in several members of the plaintiff class.

The present case is one of a growing number of very large antitrust class actions that have confronted the federal court system in recent years. The original suit was filed in this district in 1976. Similar actions which were filed in other parts of the country were thereafter transferred to this district by the Panel on Multidistrict Litigation. The subject matter of this case involves allegations of a nation-wide price fixing conspiracy in the cement industry. Plaintiffs are purchasers of cement or cement-containing products. In one way or another, Cement touches millions of people.

The history of Cement is long and complex. In the five years since it was filed, this Court has spent hundreds, if not thousands of hours reading and researching pleadings, conducting hearings, meeting with counsel, and issuing decisions. While trial is not yet underway, discovery has been substantial and is nearing completion.

In order to put defendants' motion in context, it is important to appreciate the size of the plaintiff classes. One of these classes, the National Cement Class, consists of more than 210,000 names, a substantial portion of which are corporate entities. The shareholders of these corporations would number in the millions. Before the present dispute, the class list existed only on microfiche and, to this Court's knowledge, had never been committed to hard copy.

On January 12, 1981, I received a letter from Mr. David Bonderman, on behalf of various Cement defendants. Mr. Bonderman advised the Court that, comparing the contents of my 1980 financial disclosure report with the names on the National Cement Class list, it appeared that my wife owned shares of stock in seven of the 210,000 class members. From this, Mr. Bonderman concluded that I was under a per se obligation to recuse myself pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) and Canon 3C(1)(c) of the Code of Judicial Conduct.

I must admit that my first reaction to Mr. Bonderman's position recalled the words of Mr. Bumble in Dickens' Oliver Twist: "If the law supposes that... the law is a ass—an idiot."[1] Upon closer review of the authority cited by Mr. Bonderman, however, it became apparent that his argument was not without support in the language of § 455 and Canon 3C. Therefore, on January 14, 1981, the Court ordered that plaintiffs be prepared to respond to the legal arguments raised in the letter at a hearing, which was set for Friday, January 30, 1981.

The Court's decision in this matter follows extensive briefing as ordered by the Court from the parties, oral argument on two occasions, and input from the Advisory Committee on

[1] See also George Chapman (1559-1634), Revenge for Honour, III.ii: "I am ashamed the law is such an ass."

Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States. I have concluded that I must recuse myself, not because I feel a sense of conflict, and not because I feel that to continue would create the appearance of impropriety. I have concluded that I must recuse myself for the sole reason that the law, as written, says I must.

28 U.S.C. § 455 and Canon 3C

The relevant language of § 455 and Canon 3C is identical:

> Any... judge... shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.
>
> He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:
>
>
> > He knows that he... or his spouse... has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding....
>
> For the purpose of this section the following words or phrases shall have the meaning indicated:
>
> ...
>
> > "Financial interest" means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small....
> (Emphasis added).

Defendants have taken the position that my wife's stock ownership in class members constitutes a "financial interest" in either the "subject matter in controversy" or in a "party to the proceeding."

Both of these arguments could be avoided if the words "any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding" could be read to modify a disqualifying "financial interest." If this were the case, a financial interest in the "subject matter in controversy" or in "a party to the proceeding" would be disqualifying only if the interest was such that it could be "substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding." Despite the logical attractiveness of such a reading, the only Circuit Court to have addressed the issue has rejected it:

> The statute differentiates between two kinds of interests. If the judge has a direct ownership, legal or equitable, then disqualification is required regardless of the size of the interest, unless one of the specified exceptions applies. On the other hand, an interest not entailing direct ownership falls under "other interest," and requires disqualification only if the litigation could substantially affect it.

In re New Mexico Natural Gas Antitrust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794, 796 (10th Cir. 1980). See also Opinion of the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States, May 7, 1981 at 3, which is attached to this Opinion as Exhibit A and incorporated by reference herein.

The Advisory Committee's Opinion

Given the similarity between § 455 and Canon 3C, defendants' argument raises ethical as well as legal considerations: For this reason, all memoranda in this matter, filed in the Motion to Recuse, including a transcript of oral argument, were referred to the Advisory Committee on the Codes of Conduct with a request for an opinion, which request was first initiated by this Court to the Committee on January 29, 1981.

Upon due consideration of all materials that were provided to this Court, the Advisory Committee concluded that I should recuse myself. The Committee did not consider the first issue raised by defendants, whether my wife's stock ownership in a class member constituted a "financial interest in a party to the proceeding." While the Committee's opinion was not specific, it suggested the applicability of defendants' alternate arguments, that my wife's stock constitutes a "financial interest in the subject matter in controversy" or "any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding." In recommending recusal, the Committee emphasized that ethical considerations require a judge to consider "possible and potential conflicts of interest as well as actual conflicts of interest." Advisory Opinion at 4. The Committee also suggested that any eventual judgment which would result in a financial benefit to a corporation in which my wife owned stock might create the appearance of impropriety. See Canon 2, Code of Conduct.

Regardless of the applicability of § 455, this Court is very persuaded by the Advisory Committee's conclusions as to Canon 3C. Section 455 outlines the legal boundaries of when a judge must recuse himself. Canon 3C defines the ethical boundaries. Even if I could legally proceed with a case, I would refuse to do so if I were to determine that it was ethically improper.

Given that § 455 purports to adopt a per se rule regarding disqualification, it is amazing that the statute is not more specific as to when the per se rule would apply. The problems created by the language of § 455 are compounded by a dirth of legislative history on the questions before this Court. Section 455 might operate with some degree of success in the context of simple litigation. When applied to complex multidistrict class actions, however, the statute appears to break down.

The first question raised by defendants is whether the class members in whom my wife owns stock are "parties" within the meaning of § 455(b)(4). If they are, the statute commands my recusal "however small" my wife's interest in them might be.

Despite the proliferation of class-actions in this country, there is no indication that Congress directly considered the question whether "party" under (b)(4) should be read to include "class member."

The strongest points raised by plaintiffs are that the statutory language does not refer to class members, and that general law does not treat class members and parties in an identical fashion. See e.g. Greenfield v. Villager Industries, Inc., 483 F.2d 824 (3d Cir. 1973) (the purpose of class actions is to bind persons (class members) who are not "parties"); Hawaii-Pac Venture Capital Corp. v. Rothbard, 564 F.2d 1343 (9th Cir. 1977) (class members have no absolute right to intervene in class action).

The problem with plaintiffs' argument is that, where it counts, class members and parties are identical. There is no question that class members are included in the benefits and burdens of a judgment on an equal basis with parties. For this reason, there appears to be no reason in logic why a financial interest "however small" in a named party to a litigation should be grounds for recusal, but that the same interest in a class member should not be. Neither the degree of conflict, nor the appearance of impropriety is altered by a litigant's classification as "party" or "class member."

The second question raised by defendants is whether my wife's stock in class members constitutes a "financial interest" in the "subject matter in controversy." As noted above, neither the language nor the legislative history of § 455 provides much guidance as to the application of the statute to the instant situation. We know only that if my wife has such an interest, "however small," I must automatically recuse myself—even if it does not make practical sense to do so.

I find the term "subject matter in controversy" to be inherently vague. While it obviously applies to in rem proceedings, see Hearings Before the Subcommittee on Improvements in Judicial Machinery of the Committee of the Judiciary, United States Senate, 93rd Congress, July 14, 1971, and May 17, 1973, Congress has not indicated whether it is limited to such proceedings and, if it is not, how far the term extends. Although the Fourth and Tenth Circuits have determined that a "remote, contingent benefit" is not a "financial interest" within the meaning of the statute, see In re New Mexico Natural Gas Antitrust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794, 796 (10th Cir. 1980); In re Virginia Electric & Power Co., 539 F.2d 357 (4th Cir. 1976), I am directed to no federal decisions which contain any significant discussion on the particular issue involved here—the definition of "subject matter in controversy."

Fortunately, my conclusion that the "parties" provision of § 455 is applicable to the present case makes the resolution of the "subject matter in controversy" issue unnecessary.

Competing Considerations

As I have said, it is somewhat surprising that Congress did not consider the effect of § 455 on the administration of class action litigation. Not only has the class action become an increasingly common form of litigation in this country, the likelihood of § 455 applying in a class action, with its many "parties", is is much increased over simple litigation. This is aggravated when one considers that a party cannot waive the application of § 455, either voluntarily or by estoppel, and that § 455 demands disqualification no matter how small a judge's financial interest in the litigation might be.

My surprise at Congress' failure to consider the impact of § 455 on class action litigation is also occasioned by the fact that the administrative burden of applying the per se rule to class actions is greater than the burden of applying it to simple litigation. Given the number of participants in a large class action, it is not an easy matter to determine whether a per se conflict exists. In normal litigation, a judge can simply compare his families' holdings with the names on the caption to the complaint. In a complex multidistrict class action, the litigation may be well underway before a comprehensive class list can be compiled. To switch judges in mid-stream not only wastes judicial time and energy, but can constitute a substantial administrative burden. I question whether such a result should be occasioned per se "however small" a judge's financial interest. I also question whether the result should be the same regardless of the stage of the litigation, and regardless whether estoppel might otherwise apply.

The problems of applying § 455, as written, to large multidistrict class action litigation are demonstrated by application of the statute to Cement.

Consider the amount of money involved on the question whether a judge would be influenced by potential gain to himself or his family. As computed by plaintiffs, and not contested by defendants, the total amount my wife could possibly be enriched by a ruling favorable to the plaintiffs (keeping in mind that a jury trial had been timely requested) is between $4.23 and $29.70. (See attached computations Exhibit B). Given the cost of educating a new judge, both to the parties and to the Government, this amount seems wholly inconsequential. In addition, consider that the stocks in question are my wife's sole and separate property, and whether Congress took community property concepts into account when imputing a spouse's interests to a judge. Finally, consider that judges are not even required to report gifts of less than $100 on the financial disclosure reports.* In the face of these facts, can it seriously be contended that my continuation in this matter creates the appearance of impropriety?

Compare my wife's financial interest in this litigation with the burden of applying § 455. As I have said, this case is into its sixth year. This Court has entered 75 pretrial orders, decided countless motions, and retains a working knowledge of where the suit has been and where it is headed. Such knowledge is crucial to competent case management. To transfer five and one-half years of work and paper to a new judge seems unfair, not only to the parties, but to the unlucky transferee and will in all likelihood be the occasion for delay. Decisions which might routinely be disposed of by me may well take a new judge longer until he has the opportunity to become acquainted with the case.[2]

This Court's observation that § 455 works anomalous results when a litigation is well under way has been noted by the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct and the Judicial Conference of the United States. In 1980, the Committee submitted the following draft legislation to the Conference, which would add a new subsection (f) to 28 U.S.C. § 455:

* But, see Canon 5(C)(4)(c), Code of Judicial Conduct for United States Judges.

[2] Contributing considerably to a quick understanding of this case, is the high level of competence of the attorneys involved. This Court is deeply appreciative of the superb quality of the briefs and arguments presented by counsel, and it is a cause of personal regret that meetings with counsel will come to an end.

> (f) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, if any justice, judge, magistrate, or bankruptcy judge to whom a matter has been assigned would be disqualified, after substantial judicial time has been devoted to the matter, because of the appearance, after the matter was assigned to him, of a party in which he individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse or minor child residing in his household, has a financial interest (other than an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome), a waiver of disqualification may be accepted from the parties; in the absence of waiver, disqualification is not required if the judge determines that the public interest in avoiding the cost of delay of reassignment outweighs any appearance of impropriety arising from his continuing with the matter to completion.

The Conference approved the foregoing, and authorized its transmission to Congress, where it is presently pending. Should Congress see fit to adopt the proposed subsection (f), many of the problems referred to in this decision would be remedied. Indeed, had proposed subsection (f) been in force today, this Court would have reached a different conclusion as to the necessity of disqualification under § 455.

Effect of Recusal on the Future of Cement

My reluctance to let this case go would be increased if I thought it would invalidate any of the action taken in this case in the past years. I am firmly convinced, however, that my past rulings will remain intact, and that the only effect will be administrative.

Despite its other possible shortcomings, § 455 does not require disqualification until a judge "knows" that he has a financial interest. Until he is so informed, how can there be a conflict? How can there even be the appearance of impropriety? More importantly, how can it be contended that his past decisions could be affected by a financial interest of which he was unaware?

Defendants have conceded that I was unaware that the companies in whom my wife held stock were class members. After all, the National Cement Class alone contains over 210,000 members, and the class list, which was on microfiche, was not provided to the Court until this dispute arose and the Court requested this list and it was provided in a printout four feet high. Since the Court became apprised of this problem, it has made no substantive rulings. Motions have been argued, but taken under advisement pending the Court's decision on recusal.

Given that "knowledge" of a financial interest in a class member cannot be discovered until the litigation has progressed to the point that it has produced a class list, to permit attacks on "pre-knowledge" rulings on the basis of a subsequent determination of interest would not only be illogical, it would constitute an intolerable burden to the administration of class action litigation.

In accordance with the above, I hereby recuse myself from further participation in the Cement portion of this litigation. Whether this ruling should also apply to the Concrete portion, which has not been raised in the Motion to Recuse, is a decision that should be made in light of the foregoing Opinion. This Court will entertain any proposals or motions that the parties believe appropriate.

This Court will also be in touch with the members of the Panel on Multidistrict Litigation who will determine the Court to which these proceedings will be transferred.

DATED this 26th day of May, 1981.

EXHIBIT A

May 7, 1981

The Honorable C. A. Muecke
Chief Judge, U. S. District Court
United States Courthouse
Phoenix, Arizona 85025

Dear Judge Muecke:

Your inquiry to Judge Tamm of January 29, 1981 has recently been referred to the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct.

We understand your question arises by reason of your acting as presiding judge in a multidistrict class action which has been assigned to you. It involves allegations against numerous defendants by reason of a claimed nation-wide price fixing conspiracy. The case was brought by a large group of named plaintiffs in 1976. One of the alleged classes, known as National Cement Class, consists of over 210,000 names, almost all being corporate entities. The members of this class may have more than 10,000,000 individual shareholders. Defendants' counsel in a brief filed with you in support of their motion to recuse state that the action is against "virtually all of the national cement manufacturers."

It appears that you have been advised recently by counsel for certain named defendants that they have learned from your financial disclosure statements that either you or your wife is the owner of stock in nine members of the National Cement Class. None of the nine are named as party plaintiffs. Some documents indicate seven corporations. The number is immaterial.

You have advised that your wife does own stock in these companies through an inheritance from her mother; that the inheritance was received by her at about the time the suit was filed. You advise that the total value of the stock so held by your wife is approximately $50,000.

It further appears undisputed that these companies are members of the class referred to in the complaint as "National Cement Class." It further appears that under the court's order any member of this class was permitted to opt out by December 31, 1980 and that none in which your wife was a shareholder did so. It follows that each of these corporations will be bound by the litigation assigned to you and will benefit from the litigation if a recovery is had.

We infer from your letter that the number of shares owned by your wife in the companies is not large and when considered in relation to the total number of shares outstanding in all nine companies may be de minimis. You have very frankly, and commendably, told us that the total value of the number of shares owned by her as it relates to your wife's total financial holdings makes it of substantial importance to her.

We first circumscribe the coverage of this opinion. This is not a case where the judge after he has spent weeks or months in a trial learns of the facts such as those which exist here. It is also not a case where during or following a long trial an attempt is made to bring in a party or parties, or create a situation, in order to disqualify the judge. This is not a case where any corporation has been added to the class in order to disqualify the judge. It is also likely, but we do not regard it as controlling in your reaching a decision, that at the time the suit was filed the grounds for the claim of disqualification were unknown to counsel and to the court.

While your letter raises indirectly the question of whether there is any judge or judge's spouse who does not have an interest in some Cement Class corporation similar to your wife's interest, we do not presently feel that that question is presented. If the multidistrict litigation committee should conclude that all federal judges available in the United States to hear the case have the same factual situation which exists in your family we will then meet that issue. We do not consider such a conclusion as a likelihood.

To review, we again mention certain undisputed facts. You are aware that your wife owns stock in a corporation or corporations which though not named parties to the lawsuit before you will be bound by its results. It is certain that these corporations, if plaintiffs are successful in the suit, will benefit financially by the result. The extent of the benefit is presently undeterminable. It is presently unknown whether the financial benefits to your wife, if any, will be substantial or will be de minimis. We do know that your wife's total stock interest in certain corporations of the class is substantial to her.

The briefs submitted to you, copies of which you have so kindly furnished each member of the Committee, discuss whether or not your wife is a party to the litigation before you.

A majority of the Committee concludes that it does not need to reach that issue. The disqualification statute, 28 USC § 455, provides in (a)(4) that a judge shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:

> "He knows that . . . his spouse . . . has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding. . . ."

and in the definitions provides in (d)(4):

> " 'financial interest' means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small. . . ."

Whether the spouse is a party or not the judge should disqualify himself if the spouse has a financial interest, however small, in the subject matter in controversy or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding. While the other interest must be one that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding the financial interest in the subject matter in controversy is not so limited.

There are other matters which you should consider also:

That judges must report gifts amounting to over $100. This may or may not have any bearing with you as to what is substantial.

That Resolution L adopted by the Judicial Conference of the United States in October, 1971 (see IV-27 Code of Judicial Conduct for United States Judges) indicated that all judges should consider not only actual, potential or probable conflicts of interest but possible conflicts as well. The effect of possible conflicts is emphasized in the statement that the frequent practice of a judge having to advise counsel of a possible conflict is fraught with potential coercive elements which make this practice undesirable. Under the resolution you should consider not only possible conflicts but potential conflicts as well. This may also make irrelevant the question of whether she or the corporations are actually parties. Possible and potential conflicts of interest as well as actual conflicts of interest are to be considered by a judge.

That Canon 3 disqualifies a judge who holds stock in a corporation which is a party to a lawsuit regardless of how large or small the financial interest may be. That Canon 3 also states in effect that a judge should disqualify himself in a proceeding in which his impartiality might be reasonably questioned, including instances where he knows that his spouse has "any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding".

That Canon 2 requires that a judge avoid not only impropriety but the appearance of impropriety as well. From the facts outlined by you you have knowledge of your wife's financial interest in certain of the class members. In Advisory Opinion 57 this Committee has previously suggested that the owner of stock in a parent corporation has a direct legal or equitable interest in a controlled subsidiary and where the judge knows that a party before him is controlled by a corporation in which he owns stock the judge should disqualify himself. In Advisory Opinion No. 27 it was held that although the judge's wife had no financial interest in a drug store defendant which was her lessee and which, with others, was a defendant in a class action case brought under the Sherman and Clayton Antitrust Acts and also under the antitrust laws of the state that there could be an appearance of impropriety for the husband to hear the case. You must consider whether or not your inquiry presents in substance this question, to-wit: Could you say in good conscience, if you do not recuse and later enter a judgment in this case whereby one or more of the corporations in which your wife is a stockholder receive financial benefit, that it would not have the appearance of impropriety for you to have heard the case and entered such an order?

A majority of the members of the Committee conclude that you should recuse but we emphasize to you that the Committee's function is solely advisory. The final decision in this, as in other ethical situations, remains your individual responsibility.

For the Committee,

Howard T. Markey
Chairman

EXHIBIT B

QUANTIFICATION OF MRS. MUECKE'S INTEREST IN THE LITIGATION

The insubstantiality of the Court's "other" interest in this litigation is demonstrated by Table I, set forth below. These calculations are made with the following assumptions, all designed to unrealistically maximize Mrs. Muecke's recovery:

(1) Each of the nine entities which defendants claim provide the basis for recusal files a timely claim, for the full amount of purchases set forth in the compilation of defendants' interrogatory answers, and these claims are all approved for participation against the recovery herein. This assumption is unwarranted, since certain of the entities (e.g., American Can), apparently have a miniscule claim unlikely to warrant the effort.

(2) The approved plan of distribution provides for full weighting of claims of cement-containing products purchases with claims of cement, which are included in defendants' compilations of total purchases. (See, e.g., sales of ready-mix concrete to Carolina Power & Light by Gifford-Hill, as described in Gifford-Hill's responses to the Revised 15th Set of Interrogatories and included in defendants' compilations).

(3) The amount of recovery equals the total approved claims, such that for each $1.00 of approved purchases, the claimant receives $1.00 recovery, with the net result that all cement and cement-containing products have a net cost of zero. (By contrast, recoveries as a percentage of claimed amounts in other multidistrict antitrust actions have been less than 5%.)

(4) The nine class members pay no federal, state or local taxes on any recovery obtained.

(5) The entities in which Mrs. Muecke owns stock distribute their entire recovery to shareholders in the form of dividends. (This assumption also recognizes the increase in the corporations' total assets, which is presumably reflected in the price of their stock.)

(6) With respect to ITT, Minnesota Mining and Union Oil, the full amount of the recovery is transferred from the subsidiary (which is the class member) to the "parent" in which Mrs. Muecke owns stock, or, in the case of Union Electric, from the "agent" (which is the class member) to the "principal" in which she owns stock. This assumption is obviously extremely generous to defendants since, e.g., Minnesota Mining no longer owns the subsidiary accounting for over 97% of its total "claim", and ITT no longer owns the two subsidiaries accounting for over 99% of its total "claim".

Nonetheless, employing all of these unlikely assumptions, the total benefit to Mrs. Muecke would be less than $29.70. By discarding assumption (6), above, her total benefit (either by dividends or pro-rata increase of total assets) would be less than $4.23.

PRETRIAL ORDER NO. 77

Re: Certification of Interlocutory Appeal

This Court having issued its opinion and order dated May 26, 1981, and plaintiffs having made a motion in open Court during the regularly scheduled pretrial conference on May 26, 1981, for the certification of this opinion and order for interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), and good cause appearing therefor,

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that plaintiffs' motion is granted and that this Court's opinion and order dated May 26, 1981, be and it is hereby amended by the addition of the following:

THIS COURT FINDS AND DETERMINES that its May 26, 1981, opinion and order regarding 28 U.S.C. § 455 involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion and an immediate appeal from that opinion and order may materially advance the ultimate determination of the litigation and that opinion and order is certified for interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b).

BEFORE: WALLACE, SKOPIL and BOOCHEVER, Circuit Judges

This matter comes before the Court on petitions to permit an appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) from the opinion and order of Judge Carl A. Muecke entered May 26, 1981 and modified on June 3, 1981 recusing himself from all future proceedings in the class action litigation in In Re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation; and for a writ of mandamus to vacate that order. Additionally, petitioners have filed a direct appeal (No. 81-5481) and have moved for relief from compliance with Fed. R. App. P. 21 and 25 and 9th Cir. R. 13(e). Respondents have moved to dismiss appeal No. 81-5481.

The clerk shall calendar the mandamus petition for oral argument on the first available hearing date. The opposition to the petition for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) shall be treated as the response to the petition for mandamus. This order is without prejudice to further briefing being requested by the merits panel.

The motion to dismiss appeal No. 81-5481 is granted because a recusal order is not a final judgment or an order of the type from which a direct appeal may be taken under Cohen v. Beneficial Industries Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541, 546 (1949).

Permission to appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) is denied. The motion for relief from compliance with Fed. R. App. P. 21 and 25 and 9th Cir. R. 13(e) is granted.

Judge Boochever would grant permission to appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) but because no such permission has been granted concurs in the remainder of the order.

ORDER

BEFORE: WALLACE and BOOCHEVER, Circuit Judges.

Petitioners-appellants' motion for leave to file a petition for reconsideration out of time is granted. The petition attached to the motion is ordered lodged with the court.

An opinion expanding the views summarily expressed in the order filed October 30, 1981, will be filed on January 27, 1982. Petitioners-appellants may have seven (7) days from the date of filing of said opinion to file a new petition for rehearing if petitioners-appellants care to do so. If not, the petition heretofore lodged will be ordered filed.

AMENDMENT OF OPINION AND DENIAL OF REHEARING

BEFORE: WALLACE, SKOPIL, and BOOCHEVER, Circuit Judges.

The Opinion filed in the above matter on January 27, 1982, is amended as follows:

Following the sentence, "In conclusion, ... recusal decision," on page 602 of the slip opinion, first column, first full paragraph, footnote 5 is added as follows:

> We do not imply that issues collateral to the merits may never properly be the subject of a section 1292(b) appeal. This is only one factor that should be considered in determining whether permitting an appeal would materially affect the outcome of the litigation. We have allowed section 1292(b) appeals on issues that are clearly collateral to the merits. See, e.g., Lear Siegler, Inc. v. Atkins, 330 F.2d 595 (9th Cir. 1964); United Air Lines, Inc. v. Wiener, 286 F.2d 302 (9th Cir. 1961). In each instance, however, "exceptional circumstances" justified the departure from the basic policy of postponing appellate review until after the entry of a final judgment. See Coopers & Lybrand, supra, 437 U.S. at 475.

A majority of the panel as constituted above has voted to deny the petition for rehearing. Judge Boochever would grant a panel rehearing. The panel has voted unanimously to reject the suggestion for rehearing en banc.

The full court has been advised of the suggestion for rehearing en banc, and no judge of the court has requested a vote on the suggestion for rehearing en banc. Fed. R. App. P. 35(b).

The petition for rehearing is denied and the suggestion for rehearing en banc is rejected.

DOCKET NO. 296
BEFORE THE JUDICIAL PANEL ON MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION
IN RE CEMENT AND CONCRETE ANTITRUST LITIGATION

ORDER DEFERRING DECISION

The Panel previously centralized several actions in this litigation before the Honorable C. A. Muecke in the District of Arizona for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 437 F. Supp. 750 (J.P.M.L.1977); 465 F. Supp. 1299 (J.P.M.L. 1979). Defendants in this litigation have moved the Panel, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407(b), for an order reassigning the actions in this litigation to another transferee judge.

Defendants' motion was prompted by Judge Muecke's order, filed on May 26, 1981, recusing himself from the Cement portion of this litigation pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4). Plaintiffs in this litigation have sought review of Judge Muecke's ruling in the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, and plaintiffs' petition for a writ of mandamus has been briefed and orally argued before the Ninth Circuit.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that further consideration of defendants' motion for reassignment be, and the same hereby is DEFERRED until plaintiffs' mandamus petition pending in the Ninth Circuit has been resolved.

STATUTORY PROVISIONS

28 U.S.C. § 455

§ 455. Disqualification of justice, judge, or magistrate

(a) Any justice, judge, or magistrate of the United States shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

(b) He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:

(1) Where he has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding;

(2) Where in private practice he served as lawyer in the matter in controversy, or a lawyer with whom he previously practiced law served during such association as a lawyer concerning the matter, or the judge or such lawyer has been a material witness concerning it;

(3) Where he has served in governmental employment and in such capacity participated as counsel, adviser or material witness concerning the proceeding or expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular case in controversy;

(4) He knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse or minor child residing in his household, has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(5) He or his spouse, or a person within the third degree of relationship to either of them, or the spouse of such a person:

(i) Is a party to the proceeding, or an officer, director, or trustee of a party;

(ii) Is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding;

(iii) Is known by the judge to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(iv) Is to the judge's knowledge likely to be a material witness in the proceeding.

(c) A judge should inform himself about his personal and fiduciary financial interests, and make a reasonable effort to inform himself about the personal financial interests of his spouse and minor children residing in his household.

(d) For the purposes of this section the following words or phrases shall have the meaning indicated:

(1) "proceeding" includes pretrial, trial, appellate review, or other stages of litigation;

(2) the degree of relationship is calculated according to the civil law system;

(3) "fiduciary" includes such relationships as executor, administrator, trustee, and guardian;

(4) "financial interest" means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small, or a relationship as director, adviser, or other active participant in the affairs of a party, except that:

(i) Ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a "financial interest" in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund;

(ii) An office in an educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization is not a "financial interest" in securities held by the organization;

(iii) The proprietary interest of a policyholder in a mutual insurance company, of a depositor in a mutual savings association, or a similar proprietary interest, is a "financial interest" in the organization only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the interest;

(iv) Ownership of government securities is a "financial interest" in the issuer only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the securities.

(e) No justice, judge, or magistrate shall accept from the parties to the proceeding a waiver of any ground for disqualification enumerated in subsection (b). Where the ground for disqualification arises only under subsection (a), waiver may be accepted provided it is preceded by a full disclosure on the record of the basis for disqualification.

28 U.S.C. § 1291

§ 1291. Final decisions of district courts

The courts of appeals shall have jurisdiction of appeals from all final decisions of the district courts of the United States, the United States District Court for the District of the Canal Zone, the District Court of Guam, and the District Court of the Virgin Islands, except where a direct review may be had in the Supreme Court.

28 U.S.C. § 1292

§ 1292. Interlocutory decisions

(a) The courts of appeals shall have jurisdiction of appeals from:

(1) Interlocutory orders of the district courts of the United States, the United States District Court for the District of the Canal Zone, the District Court of Guam, and the District Court of the Virgin Islands, or of the judges thereof, granting, continuing, modifying, refusing or dissolving injunctions, or refusing to dissolve or modify injunctions, except where a direct review may be had in the Supreme Court;

(2) Interlocutory orders appointing receivers, or refusing orders to wind up receiverships or to take steps to accomplish the purposes thereof, such as directing sales or other disposals of property;

(3) Interlocutory decrees of such district courts or the judges thereof determining the rights and liabilities of the parties to admiralty cases in which appeals from final decrees are allowed;

(4) Judgments in civil actions for patent infringement which are final except for accounting.

(b) When a district judge, in making in a civil action an order not otherwise appealable under this section, shall be of the opinion that such order involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion and that an immediate appeal from the order may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation, he shall so state in writing in such order. The Court of Appeals may thereupon, in its discretion, permit an appeal to be taken from such order, if application is made to it within ten days after the entry of the order: Provided, however, That application for an appeal hereunder shall not stay proceedings in the district court unless the district judge or the Court of Appeals or a judge thereof shall so order.

Supreme Court of the United States
Washington, D.C. 20543

Re: Alpha Portland Industries, Inc., et al. v. California, et al. No. 80-2062

Dear Mr. Stevas:

By your letter of June 26, 1981, respondents have been granted an extension of time until August 7, 1981 within which to file a response opposing the petition for writ of certiorari in the above-entitled case. We hereby request a second extension on the two separate grounds stated below.

A. Respondents intend to file a separate motion along with the response to the petition for the writ of certiorari. This motion will be (1) to suggest recusal of the Chief Justice and certain Associate Justices; (2) to suggest the absence of a quorum; (3) to dismiss the petition for the writ of certiorari, and; (4) to affirm the judgment of the Court of Appeals.

Recusal will be suggested because the Chief Justice and Associate Justices Powell and Blackmun, or their wives or minor children, apparently are stockholders in certain corporations that are members of a class represented by respondents in the litigation to which the above-entitled case is ancillary, In Re Cement & Concrete Antitrust Litigation, MDL Docket No. 296, Master File No. CIV-76-488A-PHX-CAM, (D. Ariz.)

(hereinafter "M.D.L. 296")[1] The District Judge in M.D.L. 296 disqualified himself on May 26, 1981 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) because his wife owns stock in certain members of a class totaling over 210,000 entities which purchased cement or cement-containing products within the United States between January 1, 1968 and December 31, 1976. Although we do not think this decision is correct,[2] if it is correct, the Chief Justice and the above named Associate Justices would have to consider disqualifying themselves from ruling upon the petition for certiorari.[3]

Preparation of that motion, and dissemination to all respondents for comments will require additional time, until September 8, 1981.

B. If Rule 28.1 is applicable, there is an additional problem which, unless relief from that Rule is granted, will require an extension of time. The class member list in M.D.L. 296 contains the names of over 210,000 putative class members, mostly corporations. That list by itself in computer print-out form is over four feet high. Rule 28.1 provides that "[a]ny document . . . filed by or on behalf of one or more corporations, shall include a listing naming all parent companies, subsidiaries (except wholly owned subsidiaries) and affiliates of each such corporation."

[1] California filed an action in the District of Tennessee, Southern Division, specifically on behalf of all plaintiffs in M.D.L. 296 for transfer of grand jury materials from custody of that District Court to the District of Arizona for possible disclosure and use in M.D.L. 296. The decision authorizing transfer was appealed by petitioner herein to the Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, and affirmed by that Court. Petitioner then filed the pending petition for writ of certiorari.

[2] In Re Cement & Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 1981-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 64,030 at 76,331 (D.Ariz. 1981). On June 9, 1981, respondents appealed that decision to the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291, on June 15, 1981 petitioned that Court for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), and have moved to consolidate those appeals. On July 20, 1981, respondents also petitioned that Court for a Writ of Mandamus.

[3] Judge Sandra O'Connor would also have to consider disqualifying herself should she become an Associate Justice because her husband is a senior partner in a lawfirm which represents certain petitioners in this case as well as defendants in M.D.L. 296.

The District Judge in M.D.L. 296 said he must disqualify himself because class members are "parties" within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. 455(b)(4). Since that same statute will be the basis of our motion, and since we will file the motion and our response to the petition for writ of certiorari "on behalf of" the 210,000 putative class members, it would seem from a literal reading of Rule 28.1 that we must file a separate list of all parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates of each such corporate class member to comply with that Rule. If that is required, and we urge and hope that it is not, compliance with Rule 28.1 would be a massive undertaking and we would need an indefinite extension of time.

We would greatly appreciate advice as to compliance with that Rule in these circumstances. Can you determine whether Rule 28.1 is applicable, and if so, whether such an undertaking is required and whether you can grant the necessary extension of time? Or, should we seek relief from the Rule or its clarification from the Court?

Enclosed for your convenience are nine copies of this letter in the event you believe this matter should be brought to the attention of the Court.

Thank you for your consideration.

Very truly yours,

MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM COMPLIANCE WITH CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF SUPREME COURT RULES 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3

Petitioners respectfully move this Court for relief from certain provisions of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1, and 28.3, or if the motion is to be denied, that it be on the basis that absent class members are not "parties" for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 455 and Supreme Court Rule 21.1(b). In support of their motion, Petitioners state:

1. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1254(1), petitioners[1] are filing simultaneously herewith a Petition for Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit ("Petition") from an Opinion of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit dismissing an appeal taken pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291 and denying permission to appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b). The subject of those appeals is an Opinion and Order of Chief Judge C. A. Muecke, United States District Court for the District of Arizona, filed May 26, 1981. In his Opinion and Order, Chief Judge Muecke found that all members of three classes of purchasers of cement and cement-containing products certified in In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, MDL Docket No. 296, are "parties" to that litigation for purposes of evaluating disqualification under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4).[2]

2. Along with the Petition and this motion, petitioners are filing with the Clerk of this Court as Exhibit A hereto one copy of a five volume list of the 210,235 class members in MDL 296, and now move for relief from certain filing and service obligations under Supreme Court Rules 19.3 and 28.3, as well as the requirement of Rules 21.1(b) and 28.1 that the list of all parties, and their corporate parents, subsidiaries and affiliates, appear in the text of the Petition or as a footnote.

3. Under Judge Muecke's ruling, the Rule 21.1(b) list "of all parties to the proceeding" would include the names of all 210,235 class members appearing on the Master Class List. This computerized list of class members stands four feet high in standard, computer print-out form. For the copy provided to this Court, petitioners reduced the type face and thereby condensed the list to five volumes. Nevertheless, it was impossible to include the list within the body of the printed Petition or as an Appendix thereto without rendering it too physically cumbersome to be used by this Court. Accordingly, petitioners request that the filing of one copy of the five volume list with the Clerk of the Court

[2] Applying Judge Muecke's ruling to this Court would result in recusal of five Justices, thereby defeating the quorum and preventing consideration of this motion. The 1982 financial disclosure statements of Chief Justice Burger, and Justices Blackmun, Powell, Rehnquist and O'Connor include stock holdings in corporations which appear on the Master Class List. Justice O'Connor also appears to be disqualified under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(5)(ii) because of her spouse's former membership in a law firm representing a number of the respondents and defendants in the district court.

be deemed full compliance with Supreme Court Rule 21.1(b) and the printing requirement of Rule 33, and that they not be required to file additional copies of this list with the forty (40) additional copies of the Petition required by Supreme Court Rule 19.3.

4. Additionally, under Judge Muecke's ruling, compliance with Supreme Court Rule 28.1 would require the listing of all parents, subsidiaries and affiliates of each of the thousands of class members. Petitioners have no practicable way to compile this information. Petitioners accordingly request relief from further compliance with this Rule, such that filing of one copy of the Master Class List (as Exhibit A to this motion) constitutes compliance with Supreme Court Rule 28.1.

5. It would also entail an immense expenditure of manpower, copying costs and postage for petitioners to serve a copy of the list of all absent class members on each of the counsel for named parties to this proceeding as required by Supreme Court Rule 28.3. A microfiche copy of this list was previously provided to all defendants requesting a copy, and a hard copy of such list was also served on William J. Maledon, Esq., one of defendants' liaison counsel, in conjunction with the proceedings in the court of appeals. Petitioners are serving a copy of this Exhibit A on David Bonderman, Esq. who previously entered an appearance as counsel of record for respondents in conjunction with prior applications to Justice Rehnquist for an extension of time for filing the Petition. Accordingly, petitioners request that such service, coupled with the service of the Master Class List previously completed in the proceedings before the district court and court of appeals, be deemed sufficient to complete service on respondents to the Petition, and that petitioners are excused from further compliance with Supreme Court Rule 28.3.

6. In the alternative to granting relief from the foregoing rules, petitioners request that this Court hold that absent class members are not "parties" for the purpose of 28 U.S.C. § 455 or the Rules of the Supreme Court, and that the printed Petition fully complies with the Supreme Court Rules in its listing of all named parties to the action below. Such a holding would also permit this Court to consider this motion and all other petitions before it arising from this litigation without the loss of the quorum required under 28 U.S.C. § 1. See, fn.2, supra.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, petitioners pray this Court for an Order:

(1) That petitioners have fully satisfied Supreme Court Rules 21.1(b) and 28.1 by filing with the Clerk of this Court, as Exhibit A to this motion, one copy of the Master Class List of absent class members;

(2) That petitioners have satisfied the filing requirement of Supreme Court Rule 19.3 by filing 40 copies of the Petition and one copy of the Master Class List of absent class members with the Clerk of the Court; and

(3) That petitioners have satisified the service requirement of Supreme Court Rule 28.3 by serving copies of only their Petition on the respondents, the other named parties and class members who have entered an appearance in the proceedings in the district court, and by serving one copy of Exhibit A hereto on respondents' counsel of record in the Supreme Court; and that petitioners are relieved of any obligation which might otherwise exist to serve the Petition and/or Exhibit A hereto on all members of the classes, or to serve Exhibit A on any other of respondents' counsel.

Alternatively, petitioners pray that this Court order that absent class members are not "parties" for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 455 or the Supreme Court Rules, and that the Petition as filed is in full compliance with these Rules.

MOTION TO DEFER CONSIDERATION OF PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI

I
INTRODUCTION

Petitioners[1] understand that the petition for a writ of certiorari in the above-captioned matter (hereinafter "No. 82-287") is scheduled for consideration at this Court's conference of Friday, October 8, 1982. No. 82-287 is taken from the Order of the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit refusing to review the recusal of District Judge C.A. Muecke under either 28 U.S.C. § 1291 or § 1292(b). In addition, this petition presents as a threshold issue the question of whether an absent class member is a party within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4), which question must be resolved before this Court can ascertain whether a quorum is present to consider No. 82-287.[2] Coincidentally, that question also was the basis for Judge Muecke's recusal, and on October 1, 1982 the Ninth Circuit affirmed Judge Muecke's disqualification holding that absent class members are parties for recusal purposes under 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4).[3]

Petitioners intend to file a petition for a writ of certiorari from the Ninth Circuit's ruling by October 15, 1982, and respectfully request that this Court defer con-

[1] The identity of petitioners and respondants is contained in the petition for a writ of certiorari.

[2] Concurrently with the filing of No. 82-287, petitioners moved this Court for an order relieving them of the obligation of serving the petition on class members, which motion petitioners hereby incorporate by reference with regard to the service requirements of this motion.

[3] A copy of the Opinion affirming the recusal of Chief Judge Carl A. Muecke from In Re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation (MDL 296) is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Petitioners herein were the petitioners in the Ninth Circuit proceeding.

sideration of No. 82-287 to allow the recusal issue presented herein to be considered in conjunction with the petition for a writ of certiorari from the October 1 Opinion.

CONSIDERATION OF THE RECUSAL ISSUE IN NO. 82-287 SHOULD BE DEFERRED UNTIL THE MATTER IS FULLY BRIEFED ON PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI FROM THE NINTH CIRCUIT'S OPINION

All parties agree that full briefing on the recusal issue should be submitted before this Court considers the merits of the question.[4] Petitioners brought this issue to the Court's attention in No. 82-287 only because the 1982 financial disclosure statements of Chief Justice Berger and Justices Blackman, Powell, Rehnquist and O'Connor list stockholdings in corporations which appear on the Master Class List in MDL 296. Under the Ninth Circuit's October 1, 1982 Opinion, such stockholdings constitute interests in "parties" to No. 82-287 for which section 455(b)(4) mandates the recusal of the affected Justices. However, petitioners did not brief the merits of this interpretation of § 455(b)(4) in No. 82-287. The petition for a writ of certiorari which petitioners intend to file from the Ninth Circuit's October 1 Opinion will discuss the merits of the recusal question and, petitioners submit, substantially benefit this Court in deciding whether it has the quorum necessary to act in No. 82-287.

As the Ninth Circuit recognized in its October 1 Opinion, the recusal issue presents "a new and far reaching question of major importance to the district courts. . . ." (Opinion at 14.) It may, however, present a question of greater impact to this Court. There are probably enough district judges in the United States that class actions will continue to be litigated to completion, although routinely requiring more than one judge. In all probability, each of the circuit court benches is large enough that sufficient judges can be found to preside over any appeals which may arise in class actions. However, the Ninth Circuit's interpretation of § 455(b)(4) may create a category of "multi-million dollar lawsuit[s] of major national importance" (Opinion at 30) which are immune to review by this Court. The Cement Litigation would be one such example, and In Re Plywood Antitrust Litigation may well be another.

[4] Brief in Opposition to Petition for Writ of Certiorari, No. 82-287, at 14 n.22.

Although no class list was filed with this Court before certiorari was granted in Weyerhauser Co. v. Lyman Lamb Company, No. 81-1618 and Georgia-Pacific Corp. v. Lyman Lamb Company, No. 81-1619, it is apparent from the 1982 financial statement of Chief Justice Berger that he is a stockholder in a lumber company which is very likely a Plywood class member. As Justices White and O'Connor have already recused themselves from those proceedings on other grounds, no quorum can be convened to consider the merits of the certiorari petitions in Nos. 81-1618 and 81-1619 if only one more Justice of this Court owns stock in a class member.

Accordingly, petitioners submit that the recusal issue presented in No. 82-287 is not one which can be routinely disposed of preliminary to considering the petition. Rather, this question mandates full briefing, careful consideration, and the rendering of an opinion by this Court to guide circuit and district courts in the correct and orderly administration of class action litigation.

CONCLUSION

For all of the above stated reasons, this motion should be granted and No. 82-287 held for consideration with the petition for a writ of certiorari to be filed on or before October 15, 1982 from the Ninth Circuit's October 1 Opinion.

Real Parties in Interest.

On Petition for Writ of Mandamus
United States District Court for the District of Arizona
Honorable Carl A. Muecke, District Judge, Presiding

Argued and Submitted: January 4, 1982

Before: FERGUSON, NELSON and REINHARDT, Circuit Judges

REINHARDT, Circuit Judge

Plaintiffs seek a writ of mandamus directing the district court to vacate its opinion and order in which Judge Muecke granted the defendants' motion to recuse himself pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) (1976). In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F.Supp. 1076 (D. Ariz. 1981). Petitioners request that we issue the writ pursuant to our supervisory authority under the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651 (1976). We have previously dismissed plaintiffs' appeal from Judge Muecke's order for lack of jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (1976) and have denied plaintiffs' petition for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (1976). In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020 (9th Cir. 1982). In our opinion we concluded, however, that the petition for a writ of mandamus would be reviewed on the merits. Id. at 1025. We now do so under our supervisory authority to insure the proper and orderly administration of the federal judicial system. See Schlangenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104 (1964); La Buy v. Howes Leather Co., 352 U.S. 249 (1957).[1/]

I.

History of Proceedings

Beginning in 1976, twenty-one separate actions were filed in federal district courts in Arizona and California alleging a conspiracy among various cement and concrete producers to fix the price of cement and concrete in violation of the antitrust laws. On September 12, 1977, the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation transferred those actions to the Central District of Arizona and assigned the cases to the Honorable C. A. Muecke for coordinated or consolidated pretrial procedures. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 437 F. Supp. 750 (J.P.M.D.L. 1977). The Panel on Multi-District Litigation cited Judge Muecke's familiarity with the litigation as one of the reasons for transferring the case to the District of Arizona. Id. at 753.

Early in 1979, Judge Muecke certified a nationwide class of public and private cement producers and two statewide governmental entity classes. The parties lodged with the court a master class list that contained the names of 210,235 putative class members who could be identified with reasonable effort. Judge Muecke actively presided over the pretrial proceedings through January of 1981, during which time he entered over 75 pretrial orders, ruled on countless motions, supervised the substantial completion of the discovery process, approved the master class list, and gave notice to class members that they could opt out of the class by written request prior to December 31, 1980.

On January 12, 1981, several of the defendants advised Judge Muecke by letter that a comparison of his 1980 financial disclosure report with the names on the master class list revealed that Judge Muecke's wife owned stock in seven of the 210,235 class members. The defendants asserted that the judge was under a per se obligation to recuse himself pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) and Canon 3(C)(1)(c) of the Code of Judicial Conduct. Judge Muecke ordered the parties to brief the question and heard oral argument on two occasions.

Judge Muecke also requested an advisory opinion from the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States. The Committee responded by suggesting that Judge Muecke should disqualify himself because (1) his wife had a financial interest in the subject matter of the proceeding within the meaning of section 455, (2) his wife's interests could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding within the meaning of Canon 3 of the Code of Judicial Conduct, and (3) his continued handling of the case could create the appearance of impropriety in violation of Canon 2 of the Code of Judicial Conduct. 515 F. Supp. at 1083-84. See also Advisory Comm. on Judicial Activities, Disqualification in Class Actions, Advisory Op. 68 (1981).

Judge Muecke recused himself in an opinion and order, 515 F.Supp. at 1076. The judge did not reach the issue of whether he had a financial interest in the "subject matter" of the proceeding, but rather, based his order of recusal on his conclusion that his wife's stock constituted a financial interest in a "party" to the proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) (1976). In his opinion and order of recusal, Judge Muecke made it clear that the sole reason he disqualified himself was because he believed that section 455 imposed a per se rule of recusal in such circumstances:

> I must admit that my first reaction to [respondents'] position recalled the words of Mr. Bumble in Dicken's Oliver Twist: "If the law supposes that . . . the law is an ass -- an idiot."
> . . . I have concluded [,however,] that I must recuse myself, not because I feel a sense of conflict, and not because I feel that to continue would create the appearance of impropriety. I have concluded that I must recuse myself for the sole reason that the law, as written, says I must.

515 F. Supp. at 1078 (footnote omitted). Judge Muecke further indicated that he was willing and able to continue handling the multidistrict proceeding and that he would have done so were it not for section 455. Id. at 1081. Judge Muecke certified his order of recusal for an interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (1976).

Plaintiffs have sought review of Judge Muecke's recusal order through three avenues: (1) an appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291; (2) a petition for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b); and (3) a petition for a writ of mandamus requesting this court to exercise its supervisory authority over the district courts pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1651. Although we dismissed the appeal under section 1291 and denied permission to appeal under section 1292(b), we noted that where a party claims exceptional circumstances, such as major disruption of the litigation resulting from an order of recusal, the party may seek a writ of mandamus in the court of appeals. In deciding to review the petition on the merits, we said, "[i]t is for just such an exceptional circumstance that the writ was designed." 673 F.2d at 1025.

Bauman Revisited

A. Introduction

In reviewing petitioners' request for a writ of mandamus, we are guided by the principles collected and distilled in Bauman v. United States District Court, 557 F.2d 650 (9th Cir. 1977). In Bauman, we expressed our concern over the unprincipled use of the writ as a means of wresting control of litigation from the district courts merely because appellate judges disagree with interlocutory rulings of the district courts or are sympathetic to arguments made in support of petitions. Such unrestrained use of mandamus would undermine the mutual respect that is an indispensable element of the relationship between federal trial and appellate courts and would "subvert the policies underlying the finality rule, 28 U.S.C. § 1291, or the carefully limited congressional scheme governing interlocutory appeals . . . ." Id. at 653.

In order to confine the use of mandamus to its proper office, we enunciated five general guidelines in Bauman to assist in the determination of whether mandamus is the appropriate remedy in a particular case. The guidelines are:

(1) whether the party seeking the writ has no other adequate means, such as direct appeal, to attain the relief he desires; (2) whether the petitioner will be damaged or prejudiced in a way that is not correctable on appeal; (3) whether the district court's order is clearly erroneous as a matter of law; (4) whether the district court's order is an oft repeated error or manifests persistent disregard for the federal rules; and (5) whether the district court's order raises new and important problems or issues of law of first impression. Id. at 654-55. Related considerations include: whether the injury alleged by petitioners, although not correctable on appeal, is the kind that justifies invocation of our mandamus authority; whether the petition presents an issue of law which may repeatedly evade appellate review; and whether there are other compelling factors relating to the efficient and orderly administration of the district courts.

As we noted in Bauman, the guidelines are cumulative and may not all point to the same conclusion. Id. at 655. Moreover, all of the guidelines are unlikely to be met in any one case. Some are more relevant to particular categories of cases than others. Certain concepts relating to the traditional use of mandamus are not necessarily applicable in supervisory mandamus cases, or, at the least, are applied differently. The guidelines are not susceptible of mechanical application; they are not meant to supplant reasoned and independent analysis by appellate courts. In sum, the guidelines serve only as a useful starting point, an analytic framework for determinations regarding the propriety of mandamus relief.

B. The Availability and Adequacy of Other Relief and the Nature of the Harm Required for Mandamus Relief.

The first two criteria articulated in Bauman are designed to insure that mandamus, rather than some other form of relief, is the appropriate remedy. The petitioners must demonstrate that they have no other adequate means of obtaining the relief desired and that they will be damaged in a way not correctable on appeal from final judgment. There is another consideration as well: the injury must be the kind that warrants the invocation of the extraordinary remedy of mandamus.

The relief sought by petitioners is a writ directing Judge Muecke to vacate his order of recusal so that the able judge, who has an extensive working knowledge of this complex litigation, may continue to preside over the consolidated pretrial proceedings. Petitioners thus hope to avoid the inevitable costs and delay that would result from the assignment of a new judge, and seek to prevent the loss of Judge Muecke's unique working knowledge of this case. We have already denied petitioners' request to review the order of recusal under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (direct appeal of collateral order), and 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (discretionary interlocutory appeal). 673 F.2d 1020. While we may be free to reconsider that decision, we decline to do so.

We do not think it would be proper to reconsider here a decision we so recently announced unless new circumstances had intervened or our earlier decision was indisputably or patently erroneous. Otherwise, we would simply be substituting the views of the individual members of this panel for the judgment of the majority of our colleagues on the panel that heard the matter previously. Therefore, while we are impressed by the well reasoned and persuasive dissent of Judge Boochever, and believe that the views he expressed have substantial merit, we conclude that petitioners' avenues of interlocutory appeal from the recusal order must remain closed.

We next consider whether a post-judgment appeal would provide an effective remedy and thus render the exercise of our mandamus authority inappropriate. Although it has been stated that "disqualification questions are fully reviewable on appeal after final judgment," In re Corrugated Container Anti-Trust Litigation, 614 F.2d 958, 960-61 (5th Cir.), cert. denied. 449 U.S. 888 (1980), a review of the authorities indicates that a more accurate statement of the law is that an order denying a motion for disqualification is reviewable on appeal after final judgment. See, e.g., Berger v. United States, 255 U.S. 22 (1921); Potashnick v. Port City Construction Co., 609 F.2d 1101 (5th Cir. 1980) cert. denied, 102 S. Ct. 1256 (1982); SCA Services v. Morgan, 557 F.2d 110 (7th Cir. 1977); Los Angeles Trust Deed & Mortgage Exchange v. SEC, 285 F.2d 162 (9th Cir. 1960), cert. denied, 366 U.S. 919 (1961); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.13[10] at 187 n.1 (2d ed. 1982); C. Wright, A. Miller & E. Cooper, Federal Practice & Procedure, § 3553 at 384 (1975); Comment, Disqualification For Interest of Lower Federal Judges, 71 Mich. L. Rev. 533, 547 (1973).

It is, of course, possible that petitioners could seek to challenge the recusal order after final judgment has been entered, but no such review could prevent the damage that petitioners allege they will suffer or afford effective relief therefrom. Despite the fact that the petitioners may suffer tremendous disruption, unreasonable delay, additional cost, and the loss of Judge Muecke's valuable experience, a post-judgment reversal on appeal could not provide a remedy for those injuries. Moreover, whatever collateral injuries petitioners suffer will have been incurred even if they prevail fully at trial and thus have no right to appeal from the final judgment.

Equally important, when a trial judge enters an order granting a motion for disqualification the error, if any, cannot serve as a basis for reversal on appeal. In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d at 1025. A party cannot ordinarily predicate a claim of prejudicial error on the fact that he was required to try his cause before one judge who was duly qualified to preside rather than another. Prejudicial error does not occur simply because a particular judge fails to handle a case or some other judge does; the mere assignment of a matter to a judge does not affect the outcome of the case. It is the conduct of the judge in conducting the proceeding that gives rise to error which is prejudicial and requires reversal, not the assignment of the case to the judge.[2/] Thus, despite the fact that an erroneous order of recusal may cause collateral injury to the party, the error is harmless for purposes of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 61; therefore it does not constitute prejudicial or reversible error. See Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478, 480 n.7 (7th Cir. 1981); Kelly v. Metropolitan Board. of Education, 479 F.2d 810, 811 (6th Cir. 1973) (McCree, J., concurring).

We conclude that petitioners have no effective right of appeal and will be damaged in a way not correctable on appeal from final judgment. However, we must also consider the question whether petitioners have alleged the type of injury necessary to justify invocation of the mandamus remedy. In another context we stated that "[w]e have consistently rejected petitioners' position that the costs of trying massive civil actions render review after final judgment inadequate." In re Sugar Antitrust Litigation, 559 F.2d 481, 484 (9th Cir. 1977) (denying mandamus relief from an order certifying class).

There are, of course, limits to the hardships which litigants will be forced to bear as a result of erroneous interlocutory orders, even in traditional mandamus cases. In Varsic v. United States District Court, 607 F.2d 245 (9th Cir. 1979), we granted a petition for a writ of mandamus where the plaintiff was proceeding in forma pauperis and the district court erroneously transferred his case from the Central District of California to the Southern District of New York. Despite the fact that the transfer order was fully reviewable on appeal after final judgment, we found that plaintiff would suffer "peculiar hardship" and stated that > assuming that Varsic loses in the Southern District of New York, but successfully appeals the transfer order in the Second Circuit, he will again be severely prejudiced. The impact of the inevitable delay which would result from a second trial in the Central District of California following the appeal in the Second Circuit, on a person in his situation, would not be correctable on appeal.

Id. at 252 (emphasis added).

The principal damage that petitioners contend they will incur as a result of the recusal order is additional cost and unreasonable delay. Although the disruption of the proceedings may not prejudice petitioners to the same degree as the change of venue would have prejudiced Varsic, it appears that the recusal order will significantly impair the progress of this litigation. Nevertheless, we believe that there is a substantial question as to whether petitioners have demonstrated the kind of injury that would be necessary to justify the invocation of our mandamus authority in a traditional mandamus case.

Here, however, we are reviewing the petition pursuant to our supervisory mandamus authority. We are concerned with far more than the injury to these particular petitioners; we are concerned, inter alia, with the effect of the challenged order on the operation of the courts. Petitioners' contend that the recusal order will have a major disruptive effect on the administration of justice in the district of Arizona or any other district to which the litigation may be transferred.[3/] Moreover, they contend that the resolution of the legal question will, for reasons we consider below, add importantly to the efficient operation and administration of the district courts throughout this circuit. Under these circumstances, the degree of injury to petitioners is a less critical factor. We believe that in supervisory mandamus cases, as long as petitioners have demonstrated that they will suffer an actual injury not correctable on appeal, they have satisfied both the injury requirement and the second criterion in the Bauman analysis.

B. Oft Repeated Errors, New and Important Issues of Law, and The Need to Supervise the Administration of the Federal Judicial System

The fourth and fifth factors noted in Bauman are whether the district court's order is an oft repeated error, or manifests a persistent disregard of the federal rules, and whether the district court's order raises new and important problems or issues of law of first impression. Here, the fourth factor is absent and the fifth factor is indisputably present. It is unlikely that both of these factors would be present where a petition for mandamus presents a single issue, since one of the factors deals with repeated error while the other deals with questions of first impression.

While the two factors deal with contrasting situations, each for its own reason may implicate the duty of appellate courts to exercise supervisory control of the district courts in order to insure proper judicial administration. See generally Schlangenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104 (1964); LaBuy v. Howes Leather Co., 352 U.S. 249, 259-60 (1957) ("Supervisory control of District Courts by Courts of Appeals is necessary to proper judicial administration in the federal system."); Goldblum v. National Broadcasting Corp., 584 F.2d 904, 906 n.2 (9th Cir. 1978) (mandamus appropriate for the exercise of supervisory control of district courts necessary to proper judicial administration); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.28 at 312 (2d ed. 1982).

In the present case, it is the fifth Bauman factor that implicates our supervisory mandamus authority: we are faced with the need to resolve a significant question of first impression where the failure to do so may adversely affect the efficient operation of the district courts. See Schlangenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104, 111 (1969) ("[I]ssue of first impression that called for construction of Rule 35 in a new context. . . . Court of Appeals should have also, under these special circumstances, determined the "good cause" issue, so as . . . to settle new and important problems."); National Right to Work Legal Defense & Education Foundation, Inc. v. Richey, 510 F.2d 1239, 1243 (D.C. Cir.), cert. denied, 422 U.S. 1008 (1975) (review by mandamus appropriate "where the decision will serve to clarify a question that is likely to confront a number of lower court judges in a number of suits before appellate review is possible."); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.28 at 312-13 (2d ed. 1982) ("The courts of appeals possess the . . . power to supervise the administration of justice by their district courts . . . and they may review immediately questions of unusual importance the determination of which are necessary to orderly, even and efficient administration.").

Exercise of our supervisory mandamus authority is particularly appropriate when an important question of law would repeatedly evade review because of the collateral nature of the issue.[4/] See Colonial Times Inc. v. Gasch, 509 F.2d 517, 524-26 (D.C. Cir. 1975). In Colonial Times, the court held that mandamus could issue to correct an error in the discovery order before it. The court noted that the type of issues raised in the case before it, "while important to the general course of the litigation, are often collateral to the litigation and thus lost to appellate review in fact if not in theory." Id. at 526. The court stated that mandamus is appropriate "when the appellate court is convinced that resolution of an important, undecided issue will forestall future error in trial courts, eliminate uncertainty and add importantly to the efficient administration of justice." Id. at 524.

Similarly, in this case, an important question of first impression will evade review unless it is considered under our supervisory mandamus authority. Moreover, that question may continue to evade review in other cases as well. In cases in which district judges recuse themselves, the orders of recusal will be effectively unreviewable on appeal notwithstanding the injuries to the parties and the possible disruption of the orderly administration of the courts. While it is true that an order denying a motion for recusal might at some later time become the subject of an appeal, it would be contrary to the interest of orderly judicial administration to delay resolution of the important question before us in order to await the occurrence of such a possibility.

We believe that the petition in this case presents a new and far reaching question of major importance to the district courts, that the question is likely to continue to evade review and that its resolution would add importantly to the efficient and orderly administration of the district courts. The exercise of our supervisory mandamus authority is appropriate under such circumstances.

D. The "Clearly Erroneous as a Matter of Law" Standard

Whether Judge Muecke's recusal order is clearly erroneous as a matter of law involves a pure question of statutory construction. The meaning of the "clearly erroneous as a matter of law" standard of review is elusive at best, but especially so when a question of law of first impression is involved. If a district court were to adopt an interpretation of a statute that squarely contradicted the literal terms and clear intent of the statute, it could readily be said that the interpretation was clearly erroneous. But when a district court is faced with two plausible interpretations of a statute that has not been construed by an appellate court, it would be difficult in one sense to characterize either interpretation as "clearly erroneous". Viewed differently, however, if an appellate court were to review the interpretation adopted by the district court and reject it, that particular interpretation could at that point be said to be "clearly" erroneous. See United States v. Mehrmanesh, 652 F.2d 766, 773 (9th Cir. 1980) ("If we decide that the district court was wrong in its reading of [the statute], appellant's right to relief will be "clear and indisputable.") (Fletcher, J. dissenting).[5/]

We believe that the test set forth by the Supreme Court for determining when a finding of fact is "clearly erroneous" is instructive where a question of law is involved as well. In United States v. United States Gypsum Co., 333 U.S. 364 (1948), the Court stated that under Rule 52(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure:

> [a] finding [of fact] is "clearly erroneous" when although there is evidence to support [the district court's finding], the reviewing court on the entire evidence is left with the definite and firm conviction that a mistake has been committed.

Id. at 395. The "firm conviction" test provides a helpful approach to our efforts to determine when a district court's interpretation of a statute falls under the third Bauman criterion -- "clearly erroneous as a matter of law as that term is used in mandamus analysis," Bauman, 557 F.2d at 650. Two of our previous decisions suggest that we will characterize a ruling of a district court on a question of law as "clearly erroneous" only when, after a full review of the authorities, we are firmly convinced that the district court's interpretation was incorrect.[6/]

In Mehrmanesh, we were unable to determine the meaning of the statute simply from an examination of its language. After considering the limited authorities available, we were of the view that the "question decided below was a close one." Id. 682 F.2d at 770-71. We were not firmly convinced, either way, as to what the correct result should be. We concluded, therefore, that "[w]hether or not the district court's interpretation is ultimately upheld on appeal after final judgment, we cannot now find it to be 'clearly erroneous as a matter of law . . . .'" Id. (quoting Bauman v. United States District Court, 557 F.2d 650, 660 (9th Cir. 1977)). In Varsic v. United States District Court, 607 F.2d 245 (9th Cir. 1979), we also could not determine the meaning of the statute simply from an examination of the language. There we reviewed the legislative history of an Employee Retirement Income Security Act venue provision, compared its language with the language used in the venue provisions of other statutes, and analyzed cases construing those other provisions. After painstaking analysis of these materials and other questions, we said "[w]hile we should be careful in attaching the adverb 'clearly' to erroneous in our hindsight review, we conclude that the test is met here." Id. at 252.

In Mehrmanesh we found the question close -- we were not firmly convinced of the correct answer. In Varsic, we ultimately were. In line with the "firm conviction" test, United States Gypsum, for determining whether findings of fact are "clearly erroneous," we conclude that: when we are firmly convinced that a district court has erred in deciding a question of law, we may hold that the district court's ruling is "clearly erroneous as a matter of law as that term is used in mandamus analysis," Bauman, 557 F.2d at 660.

Moreover, we have some doubt that the district court's order need be "clearly" erroneous in supervisory mandamus cases where the petition raises an important question of law of first impression, the answer to which would have a substantial impact on the administration of the district courts. In cases in which the Supreme Court has reviewed the exercise of supervisory authority by the appellate courts over the district courts, it has not set forth any requirement that the order of the district court be "clearly erroneous" as a prerequisite to the granting of mandamus relief. See Schlagenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104 (1964); LaBuy v. Howes Leather Co., 352 U.S. 249 (1957); see also Note, Supervisory and Advisory Mandamus Under the All Writs Act, 86 Harv. L. Rev. 595, 611, 615 & n.86 (1973) ("Schlagenhauf . . . left no room in the area of advisory [supervisory] mandamus for a requirement of degree of error").

The requirement that the petitioner demonstrate that the order of the district court is "clearly" erroneous stems from our desire to avoid interference with the district court's control of the litigation before it. In the normal run of cases, it would be counterproductive for appellate courts to interfere when "the most that could be claimed is that the district courts have erred in ruling on matters within their jurisdiction." Schlagenhauf, 379 U.S. at 112 (quoting Parr v. United States, 351 U.S. 513, 520 (1956)). We are hesitant to declare that a district judge has exceeded his authority[7/] unless we are reasonably certain, i.e., "firmly convinced," that he has done so. But in supervisory mandamus cases involving questions of law of major importance to the administration of the district courts, the purpose of our review -- and the reason for our correcting an error made by a trial judge -- is to provide necessary guidance to the district courts and to assist them in their efforts to ensure that the judicial system operates in an orderly and efficient manner. Accordingly, in such cases we see no legitimate reason for refraining from exercising our supervisory authority where we can determine that an error has been made but cannot, for whatever reason, characterize the error as "clearly" erroneous.

Considering the nature of the issue before us, we believe that petitioners would be entitled to a writ were we to be firmly convinced that the district court was incorrect in its interpretation of section 455. Moreover, in light of the fact that the petition presents a question of law of first impression, the resolution of which would have a substantial effect on the orderly and efficient administration of the courts, we might issue the writ even were we simply to conclude that the district court was in error.[8/]

III

The Recusal Statute

We now turn to the question of the proper interpretation of section 455. Section 455 provides in part that

> (a) Any justice, judge or magistrate of the United States shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.
>
> (b) He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:
>
> . . . .
> (4) [When] he knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse . . . has a financial interest > in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding . . . .

>
> . . . .
>
> (d) For the purposes of this section the following words or phrases shall have the meaning indicated:
>
> (4) "financial interest" means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small . . . .
>
> . . . .
> (e) No justice, judge, or magistrate shall accept from the parties to the proceeding a waiver of any ground for disqualification enumerated in subsection (b). Where the ground for disqualification arises only under subsection (a), waiver may be accepted provided that it is preceded by a full disclosure on the record of the basis for disqualification.

Another provision of section 455 excludes specified mutual fund investments from the definition of "financial interest."[9/]

After the plaintiff class had been certified and the time had run during which class members could opt out, Judge Muecke was notified by the defendants that his wife owned stock in several of the plaintiff class members. The defendants contended that Mrs. Muecke's stock ownership constituted a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding and that Judge Muecke was under a per se duty to recuse himself. After extensive briefing, oral argument, and an opinion from the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States, Judge Muecke recused himself on the ground that his wife's stock ownership constituted a financial interest in a party to the proceeding within the meaning of section 455(b)(4).

In his opinion Judge Muecke correctly noted that in subsection (b)(4) of the statute, the phrase "financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding," unlike the phrase "or any other interest," is not modified by the subsequent phrase "that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding." Thus, subsection (b)(4) establishes two classes of disqualifying interests: first, "financial interests in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding;" these interests require recusal whether or not the outcome of the proceeding could have any effect on the interests; second, "other interests;" these interests require recusal only if they could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding. See In re New Mexico Natural Gas Anti-Trust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794, 796 (10th Cir. 1980). An "interest" is disqualifying whether it is held by the judge or his spouse. The issue before Judge Muecke, then, was whether his wife's stock ownership in several of the class members constituted a financial interest in a party to the proceeding or the subject matter in controversy. If such ownership constituted a financial interest in either, it is irrelevant, for purposes of recusal, whether that interest would be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

Judge Muecke held that ownership of stock in a class member constitutes a financial interest in a party to the proceeding. In so holding, Judge Muecke rejected the petitioner's arguments that, because the statute does not refer to class members and because general law does not treat class members and parties in an identical fashion, class members are not parties within the meaning of section 455. 515 F. Supp. at 1079.

Judge Muecke acknowledged that congressional silence on the question of the status of class members creates some difficulty in applying the statute:

> Given that § 455 purports to adopt a per se rule regarding disqualification, it is amazing that the statute is not more specific as to when the per se rule would apply. The problems created by the language of § 455 are compounded by a dearth of legislative history on the questions before this Court. Section 455 might operate with some degree of success in the context of simple litigation. When applied to complex multidistrict class actions, however, the statute appears to break down.
>
> . . . .
>
> Despite the proliferation of class-actions in this country, there is no indication that Congress directly considered the question whether "party" under (b)(4) should be read to include "class member."

Id. at 1079.

However, Judge Muecke found unpersuasive petitioners' argument that because general law does not treat class members and parties in an identical fashion for all purposes, class members are not parties for purposes of section 455. It is true that for certain procedural purposes, class members and parties are not treated identically.[10/] But, these differences in treatment are a concession to the nature of class action suits and the purposes of Rule 23: if every class member had to be treated as a party in all circumstances, the purposes of Rule 23 might in some instances be frustrated. Thus, for example, the presence of non-diverse class members will not defeat federal diversity jurisdiction so long as the class representatives and the opposing parties are diverse; e.g., Freidman v. Myers, 482 F.2d 435 (2d Cir. 1973); see also Snyder v. Harris, 394 U.S. 332, 340 (1969); 13 C. Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 1755 at 550 n. 82;

some courts have held that class members are not subject to discovery under Fed. R. Civ. P. 33; e.g., Fischer v. Wolfinbarger, 55 F.R.D. 129 (W.D. Ky. 1971); Wainwright v. Kraftco Corp., 54 F.R.D. 532 (N.D. Ga. 1972);[11] and other courts have held that class members should not be treated as parties for purposes of counterclaims under Rule 13; e.g., Donson Stores v. American Bakeries Co., 58 F.R.D. 481 (S.D. N.Y. 1973).[12]

Whatever the rule may be with respect to treating class members as parties for certain procedural purposes, it is clear that class members and parties are treated in substantially the same manner in regard to the substantive benefits and burdens of judgment. Thus, Rule 23 provides that any class member who has not opted out shall be included in the judgment, whether favorable or not to the class member, Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)-(3); a class member may appeal from an order approving a settlement to which the member objects, Ace Heating & Plumbing Co. v. Crane Co., 453 F.2d 30 (3d Cir. 1971); a class member is bound as a party for res judicata purposes, see e.g., Brown v. Vermillion, 593 F.2d 321 (8th Cir. 1979); Smith v. Alleghany Corp., 394 F.2d 381 (2d Cir.), cert. denied, 393 U.S. 939 (1968); 3B J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 23.60 at 23-468; 13 C. Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice & Procedure § 1784 at 178 ("According to traditional res judicata notions, a member of a class in a Rule 23 suit is considered to be a party by representation, and will be bound to the same extent as an actual party").

On some occasions, courts have expressly described class members as parties. In American Pipe & Construction Co. v. Utah, 414 U.S. 538 (1974), the Supreme Court stated "[u]nder the circumstances of this case, . . . the claimed members of the class stood as parties to the suit until and unless they received notice thereof and chose not to continue." Id. at 550-51. The Court held that the statute of limitations was tolled for "all members of the class who would have been parties had the suit been permitted to continue as a class action." Id. at 554. Similarly, in comparing the status of members of an organization that had filed suit to the status of class members in a class action, the Seventh Circuit stated that "the [Supreme] Court's remarks plainly imply that the organization's members are not parties to an organizational representative suit. Yet class members are parties to class actions. See e.g., Zahn v. International Paper Co., ..." Local 194, Retail, Wholesale & Department Store Union v. Standard Brands, 540 F.2d 864, 867 (7th Cir. 1976).[13/]

We need not decide the general question whether class members are in fact "parties" to a class action suit; for some purposes they are treated as such, and for other purposes they are not. Here, we need decide only if, for purposes of section 455, stock ownership in a class member constitutes an interest in "a party to the proceeding." We agree with Judge Muecke's analysis in rejecting petitioner's argument that class members are not parties within the meaning of section 455:

> The problem with plaintiffs' argument is that, where it counts, class members and parties are identical. There is no question that class members are included in the benefits and burdens of a judgment on an equal basis with parties. For this reason, there appears to be no reason in logic why a financial interest "however small" in a named party to a litigation should be grounds for recusal, but that the same interest in a class member should not be.

> Neither the degree of conflict, nor the appearance of impropriety is altered by a litigant's classification as "party" or "class member."

515 F. Supp. at 1079.14/

A review of the statute's legislative history adds considerable support to Judge Muecke's ruling that, because the appearance of impropriety is similar whether the interest is in a named party or a class member, class members should be viewed as parties for purposes of recusal under the statute.

Prior to its amendment in 1974, section 455 provided that

> Any justice or judge of the United States shall disqualify himself in any case in which he has a substantial interest . . . or is so related or connected with any party or his attorney as to render it improper, in his opinion, to sit on the trial, appeal or other proceeding therein.

The movement to amend section 455 was "spurred by the ambiguities and uncertainties" of the above language. 120 Cong. Rec. 36268 (1974)(statement of Rep. Kastenmeier). Representative Kastenmeier, the House sponsor of the bill to amend section 455, pointed to two main problems under the statute prior to its amendment. First, the statute provided no guidance on the question of how to determine the substantiality of a judge's interest in a party; second, the sole arbiter of the question of the substantiality of the judge's interest was the very judge whose impartiality was being questioned. Id. The House Judiciary Committee described the purpose of the amendment as follows: "[B]y setting specific standards, Congress can eliminate the uncertainty and the ambiguity arising from the language in the existing statute and will have aided the judges in avoiding possible criticism for failure to disqualify themselves." H.R. Rep. No. 1453 at 6, 93rd Cong. 2d Sess. 1974; reprinted in 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News 6351, 6355 [hereinafter cited as House Report].

At the time that Congress was considering the merits of the amended version of section 455, the American Bar Association (ABA) had adopted a new Code of Judicial Conduct. Canon 3(C)(1) of the ABA Code provided that

> A judge shall disqualify himself in a proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned, including but not limited to instances where
> . . . .
> (c) he knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse . . . has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding.

"Financial interest" was defined in the new code as a "legal or equitable interest, however small . . . ." Id., Canon 3(c)(3).

Although recusal is required under the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct where the judge has a financial interest in a party, however small, Canon 3(D) of the Code specifically provides that the parties may waive this ground for recusal if they agree in writing that the interest is insubstantial and the judge discloses the basis of his disqualification on the record.[15/] The Reporter for the ABA committee which formulated the Code explained why the committee adopted a waiver provision: "Because of the hardship to the litigants that could be brought about in some jurisdictions by the delay in obtaining another judge to replace a disqualified judge, the Committee decided that under specified circumstances a judge's disqualification based on economic interest . . . could be waived." E. Thode, Reporter's Notes to the Code of Judicial Conduct 71 (1973).

The proposed amendment to section 455 was cast in terms very similar to Canon 3(C) of the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct. Indeed, one of the stated purposes of the amendment was to bring the statutory requirement of recusal into line with the ethical obligation imposed by the newly adopted ABA Code of Judicial Conduct. 120 Cong. Rec. 36269 (1974). However, there were significant differences between the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct and the proposed amendment to section 455. The most notable difference was the absence from the proposed amendment of a waiver provision similar to that contained in Canon 3(D). This difference was the subject of much of the congressional debate about the amendment and was the source of most of the opposition to the enactment of the new section 455.

The absence of a provision allowing waiver of a ground for disqualification by the parties when a judge holds an insubstantial interest in a party led to criticism from several quarters. The Judicial Conference of the United States expressed its disapproval of the proposed amendment. The Judicial Conference took the position that the amendment to section 455 was unnecessary in light of its recent adoption of a new judicial code. In addition, it objected to the fact that the proposed amendment did not allow waiver of disqualification when the judge's interest was insubstantial. The Judicial Conference expressed the view that a waiver provision would be in the best interests of the litigants and the administration of justice. House Report at 10-12; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6360-61.[16/]

A number of members of Congress objected to the inflexible nature of the proposed amendment. Representative Dennis of Indiana condemned the proposal as "unreasonable and unrealistic" because it lacked a waiver provision. He pointed to the possible adverse consequences both before the House Judiciary Committee and on the floor of the House:

> The necessary effect of this inflexible provision is that, by legislative enactment, we could have a true Daniel come to judgment -- or a Learned Hand upon the bench -- and if the case involved, let us say, the Exxon Corporation, and the judge owned 20 shares of common stock, which he had inherited from his parents many years before and had never particularly thought of since, he absolutely could not sit, even though both parties to the cause preferred him -- because of his expertise, learning, and integrity -- to any and all other available members of the judiciary.
> To me, an inflexible provision of this kind does not make good sense, does not make for the highest quality of justice, and represents an over-reaction to a problem which, so far as the Committee has been advised, is largely non-existent.

House Report at 15; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6363. See also 120 Cong. Rec. at 36269.

Representative Smith of New York noted that the "American Bar Association generally supports the bill, but feels that the disqualification for any financial interest is unreasonable." He also raised concerns over the possible effect such a sweeping rule of disqualification could have on the federal judiciary. After arguing in favor of a waiver provision, he stated:

> I think this is very important in these days when judicial manpower in our Federal courts to which this will apply is being > pushed to the outer limits, because in case after case in which the judge may have a very slight financial interest, as defined in the the bill, the judges will not be able to sit and must under the bill disqualify themselves, even if the parties would like to have them sit.

120 Cong. Rec. at 36270.

Nevertheless, despite repeated objections to the lack of a provision allowing waiver where the judge's interest was insubtantial, Congress refused to follow the lead of the ABA and the Judicial Conference on this point. The Senate passed the bill after Senator Burdick, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Improvements in Judicial Machinery of the Committee on the Judiciary and sponsor of the bill in the Senate, told that body that "[t]he most significant provision in these new standards would require a judge to disqualify himself in any case in which he has a financial interest, however small, in the proceeding." 119 Cong. Rec. at 33029 (1973)(remarks of Senator Burdick). Senator Burdick stressed the fact that the proposed amendment deviated from the ABA code in that the amendment did not allow for waiver of either financial interest or kinship within the third degree as grounds for disqualification. Senator Burdick explained that "[t]he rationale . . . [for not allowing waiver] is that these are . . . instances in which the public at large would feel a judge most certainly should disqualify himself." Id. at 33030.

The House Judiciary Committee specifically noted that the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct allowed waiver where the judge had only a small financial interest in a party, whereas the proposed amendment to section 455 did not. The Committee explained that "[w]hile the ABA canon on disqualification would permit waiver in these . . . instances, the committee believes that confidence in the impartiality of federal judges is enhanced by a more strict treatment of waiver . . . . The statutes contain ample authority for chief judges to assign other judges to replace either a circuit judge or district court judge who become disqualified." House Report at 7; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6357. The Committee also said "[n]otwithstanding the views expressed [by the Judicial Conference] it is felt that the American people are entitled to ethical behavior on the part of all three branches of the Government, not merely the Executive or legislative branches." Id. at 6361.

Congress adopted a broad and sweeping per se rule despite warnings that it might lead to major disruption of litigation and to the loss of the judge with the most expertise in a given matter, even where the judge's financial interest in the party was insubstantial. It was aware that the rule would in at least some cases create the very type of hardships that petitioners plead here. Congress weighed these hardships against the importance of public confidence in the federal judiciary and struck the balance in favor of the latter.

Given that Congress' main concern in adopting section 455 was to promote public confidence in the impartiality of the judiciary, it is entirely consistent with congressional intent to hold that a financial interest in a class member requires recusal. While Congress did not consider or discuss the status of class members when it enacted section 455, we believe that Judge Muecke's construction of the statute effectuates the expressed congressional purpose in adopting the per se rule.

We conclude that the term "party" as used in section

455 must be given its broad customary meaning rather than the narrow construction suggested by plaintiffs, and hold that for purposes of the recusal statute, the term "party" includes class members. Thus, after five years of litigation, a multi-million dollar lawsuit of major national importance, with over 200,000 class plaintiffs, grinds to a halt over Mrs. Muecke's $29.70. A new judge must now be assigned to conduct further proceedings.

IV

Other Considerations

We acknowledge that petitioners are not alone in their contention that there are serious shortcomings in section 455. The per se rule of recusal of section 455(b)(4) has been subject to much criticism. See Note, Judicial Disqualification in the Federal Courts: A Proposal to Conform Statutory Provisions to Underlying Policies, 67 Iowa L. Rev. 525 (1982); Note, Disqualification of Federal District Court Judges for Bias or Prejudice: Problems, Problematic Proposals, and a Proposed Procedure, 46 Alb. L. Rev. 229, 230 (1981); Comment, Disqualification of Federal Judges for Bias or Prejudice, 46 U. Chi. L. Rev. 236, 251-68 (1978); Note, Judicial Disqualification in the Federal Courts: Maintaining an Appearance of Justice Under 28 U.S.C. § 455, 1978 U. Ill. L. F. 863, 870-85. The Judicial Conference of the United States has recently proposed to Congress that section 455 be amended.[17/]

Congress discussed many of the arguments now being advanced by critics of section 455 when it amended that section in 1974. However, Congress did not discuss the question whether class members should be classified as parties for purposes of the per se rule of section 455(b)(4), nor did Congress consider whether any reasons exist for treating class action suits differently in any respect. In the words of Judge Muecke,

> [I]t is somewhat surprising that Congress did not consider the effect of § 455 on the administration of class action litigation. Not only has the class action become an increasingly common form of litigation in this country, the likelihood of § 455 applying in a class action, with its many "parties", is much increased over simple litigation.

515 F. Supp. at 1080. Moreover, the administrative burden of applying section 455 in class action proceedings is far greater than in normal civil cases. Certification of the class may not occur for months, or even years, after the complaint has been filed; thus, the judge may not be able to compare his stock holdings to the class membership list until after substantial judicial resources have been invested in the litigation. Accordingly, whatever Congress may decide generally with respect to reconsidering the explicit decisions it made when it amended section 455 in 1974, the question whether and how that section should apply in class action cases would seem to warrant congressional consideration.

We note that the administrative problems of applying section 455 in class action cases are compounded by the fact that the disqualifying interest may result from the ownership of stock by a judge's spouse. Although it may be possible under most circumstances for a judge to control the extent and nature of his or her own investments, the judge may be unable to control the financial holdings or investment activities of a spouse. The day has passed when a husband can order his wife to arrange her financial affairs to suit his convenience. As increasing numbers of women establish careers, the likelihood that judges' wives will insist on asserting the right to maintain independent judgment and control over their investments also increases. Indeed, as increasing numbers of women become federal judges, the likelihood that there will be a number of judicial husbands who will pursue independent careers and treat their own investments in a similar fashion also increases. Thus, from a practical standpoint, federal judges lack control over a significant area of potential conflict under section 455: stock ownership by their spouses in class members.

It now appears that the per se rule may give rise to a greater number of conflicts - and a different kind - than initially anticipated by Congress. The underlying assumption -- that conflicts can readily be avoided by judges following the advice offered by Congress with regard to the management of their financial affairs[18/] -- may, at least with respect to class action cases, be somewhat fallacious. We recognize that this fact does not affect the question whether a class member is a party for purposes of section 455, as that provision was enacted in 1974. We think it relevant, however, to the need for a legislative evaluation of the reasonableness and consequences of the per se rule in class action cases and to the question whether the actual benefits of applying the per se rule in such cases outweigh the resultant disruption to the orderly and efficient administration of the judicial system.[19/]

VI

Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, we reluctantly agree with Judge Muecke that class members are parties within the meaning of section 455(b)(4), and that Mrs. Muecke's stock ownership in a class member constitutes a financial interest in a party to the proceeding. Accordingly, as Judge Muecke properly concluded, he was required to recuse himself.

The petition for the writ of mandamus is DENIED.

1/ Courts and commentators have referred to the use of mandamus to exercise supervisory authority over the district courts as "supervisory mandamus." See, e.g., Bauman v. United States District Court, 557 F.2d 650 (9th Cir. 1977); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.28 at 312 (2d ed. 1982).

2/ We do not intend to foreclose the issue of whether prejudicial error could arise where an invidious purpose underlies the assignment of a case to a particular judge. However, under the assignment system used in most, if not all, of the district courts in this circuit, such an issue is unlikely ever to arise.

3/ Our previous decision in In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020 (9th Cir. 1982), does not foreclose petitioners' contention that the recusal order will have a significant adverse impact on both the progress of this litigation and the orderly and efficient administration of the federal courts in general. Although we strongly suggested in Cement that petitioners' failed to demonstrate that the recusal order would substantially delay the proceedings, we stated that the contention would be reviewed in our consideration of the merits for the petition for mandamus:

> [I]f dissatisfied with the district judge's decision and confident that the litigation will be greatly disrupted, a party may seek a writ of mandamus from the court of appeals. It is for just such an exceptional circumstance that the writ was designed. Plaintiffs have done so here and that petition will be reviewed on the merits.

Id. at 1025 (citations omitted).

4/ Although Judge Muecke's order "conclusively determine[s] the disputed question, resolve[s] an important issue completely separate from the merits of the action, and [is] effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment," Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, 449 U.S. 368, 375 (1981) (quoting Coopers & Lybrand v. Livesay, 437 U.S. 463, 467 (1978)), we have previously determined that the order is not appealable under the collateral order doctrine of Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949), because the order does not impair a "claim of right " possessed by plaintiffs. In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020, 1024-25 (9th Cir. 1982).

5/ Ordinarily mandamus will not issue unless the petitioner can demonstrate that his right to such relief is "clear and indisputable." Will v. Calvert Fire Insurance Co., 437 U. S. 655, 662 (1978) (plurality opinion). See also Kerr v. United States District Court, 426 U.S. 394 (1976); Banker's Life & Casualty Co. v. Holland, 346 U.S. 379 (1953). In Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478 (7th Cir. 1981), the trial judge granted the defendants' motion that he recuse himself pursuant to section 455 on the ground that his impartiality might reasonably be questioned. Plaintiffs' petition for a writ of mandamus to vacate the recusal order was dismissed by the court of appeals with the explanation that

"[w]e are not persuaded that a party in like circumstances could ever make a showing that its rights [sic] to issuance of the writ is clear and indisputable." Id. at 480.

It may be true that a petitioner can rarely, if ever, demonstrate that his right to relief is "clear and indisputable" where a trial judge has recused himself pursuant to an exercise of discretion under section 455, i.e., if the trial judge has determined that his impartiality might "reasonably" be questioned or that his interest might be "substantially" affected. However, where, as here, the trial judge finds no reason to recuse himself other than one that results from his interpretation of the statute, and the alleged error is thus solely one of law, petitioner may be able to establish a "clear and indisputable" right to relief.

6/ The Second Circuit has recently employed a "firm conviction" standard to determine if a trial court's interpretation of a statute was correct. In In re International Business Machines Corp., No. 82-3037, slip op. at 4371 (2d Cir. Aug. 13, 1982), the Second Circuit granted a petition for a writ of mandamus where the trial judge refused to take prompt action to dismiss a major antitrust enforcement action despite the fact that the Department of Justice stipulated to dismissal. The trial judge refused to enter a judgment of dismissal pending his determination of whether the Tunney Act, 15 U.S.C. § 16(b,-(h) (1976), was applicable to the stipulated dismissal.

The court stated: "Essential to IBM's argument that Judge Edelstein has abused his jurisdiction is a firm conviction that the Tunney Act does not apply to . . . stipulation[s] of dismissal." Id. at 4389. The court concluded that the language of the statute and its legislative history "compelled" the conclusion that the district court's interpretation of the statute was incorrect. Id. at 4394. The Second Circuit also considered whether review by mandamus was appropriate in that case:

> We begin with the recognition that this is an extraordinary case. It has been one of the longest antitrust cases since the enactment of the Sherman Act, and involves one of the nation's largest industrial concerns. The parties in this litigation have seen four changes of Administration with corresponding shifts in civil antitrust policies. With these changes have come dozens of new attorneys. The length of the proceedings is particularly significant because of developments in the industry since the commencement of the action which, practically speaking, have rendered many of the underlying products commercially outmoded. The case also reaches us in a unique context in that both parties seek dismissal. In light of the underlying issue of first impression, i.e. whether the Tunney Act applies to Rule 41(a)(1) stipulations of dismissal, the unique nature of this case, the enormous sums of money being expended by the parties in compliance with orders for document retention which the district court will not even consider modifying until it has decided the Tunney Act question, and the length of the proceedings, we have the "extraordinary significance" required to make mandamus an appropriate consideration. See In re Attorney General, 596 F.2d 58, 64 (2d Cir. 1979). Accordingly, we proceed to a review of IBM's claims.

Id. at 4388.

In light of the above factors, the Second Circuit issued the writ of mandamus after having found that the district court's interpretation of the Tunney Act was wrong and that the trial judge had therefore abused his jurisdiction in refusing to dismiss the case.

7/ Although mandamus is most frequently used where there has been a usurpation of judicial power or a clear abuse of discretion, Bankers Life & Casualty Co. v. Holland, 346 U.S. 379 (1953), mandamus may also be used to "compel [a district court] to exercise its authority when it is its duty to do so." Kerr v. United States District Court, 42 U.S. 394, 402 (1976) (quoting Roche v. Evaporated Milk Assn., 319 U.S. 21, 26 (1943)).

8/ There is, however, one further question that we would be required to decide. We could not issue the writ unless we concluded not only that Judge Muecke was not required to recuse himself because of "a financial interest . . . in a party," but also that he was not required to do so because of "a financial interest in the subject matter." Although Judge Muecke did not consider the latter issue, it was fully briefed and argued by the parties both before the district court and this court. While we do not ultimately decide the question here, we have no hesitation in concluding, for purposes of our mandamus analysis, that Judge Muecke was not required to recuse himself on the latter ground.

9/ Section 455(d)(4)(i) provides that "Ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a "financial interest" in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund . . . ."

10/ However, for other procedural purposes they are. Class members must be given notice of any proposed dismissal or settlement and may personally appear and object at a settlement hearing, see e.g., Cannon v. Texas Gulf Sulfur Co., 55 F.R.D. 308 (S.D.N.Y. 1972); see also 3 H. Newberg, Class Actions § 56606 at 564 (1977); the filing of a complaint on behalf of a class tolls the statute of limitations for all members of the class, American Pipe & Const. Co. v. Utah, 414 U.S. 538 (1974); and when jurisdiction over a 23(b)(3) class is based on diversity, each member of the class must satisfy the $10,000 amount in controversy requirement, Zahn v. International Paper Co., 414 U.S. 291, 294 (1973) ("Each plaintiff in a Rule 23(b)(3) class action must satisfy the jurisdictional amount . . . .").

11/ Contra Brennan v. Midwestern Life Ins. Co., 450 F.2d 999 (7th Cir. 1971), cert. denied, 405 U.S. 921 (1972).

12/ Contra Rodriquez v. Family Publications Service Inc., 57 F.R.D. 189 (C.D. Cal. 1972).

13/ Cf. Greenfield v. Villager Industries, Inc., 483 F.2d 824, 831 (3rd Cir. 1973).

14/ We agree with Judge Muecke's analysis to the extent that it stands for the proposition that there is no logical basis for excluding "class member" from the definition of the term "party" as Congress meant that term to be defined when it last amended section 455. We do not understand his analysis to suggest, nor would we necessarily agree, that there is no logical or rational basis for drawing a distinction between ordinary civil cases and class actions for purposes of enacting appropriate statutory recusal provisions. Indeed, after asserting that there was "no reason in logic" for drawing such a distinction, Judge Muecke went on to point out several reasons why the application of section 455 to class actions creates substantial administrative burdens which do not occur when ordinary civil cases are involved. 515 F. Supp. at 1080-81. These arguments constitute "reasons in logic" for drawing such a distinction and we consider them infra.

15/ At the time Congress was debating the amendments to section 455, the Judicial Conference of the United States had adopted the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct with some minor changes. Although the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct required the finding that the interest be insubstantial before the parties could agree to waive the ground for disqualification, the Code as adopted by the Judicial Conference did not require any such finding. Rather, the parties were permitted to waive the ground for disqualification even where the judge's financial interest was substantial.

16/ The Department of Justice suggested that a ground for disqualification should be deemed to be waived if it is not asserted in a timely manner. In a letter to the House Judiciary Committee, the Department of Justice stated that a provision should be added to the proposed amendment requiring that "applications for disqualification . . . be timely made so as to prevent applications from being filed near the end of a trial when the underlying facts were known long before. The Department of Justice recommends enactment of this legislation, amended as suggested above." House Report at 9; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6358. The Justice Department's views evinced concern that the mandatory disqualification procedure might be used by disgruntled litigants to disrupt trials after considerable judicial resources had been invested in the proceedings.

17/ The proposed amendment would allow a judge to accept a waiver by the parties if the ground for disqualification did not arise until after "substantial judicial time had been devoted to the matter" and the judge's interest would not be substantially affected by the outcome. Judicial Conference of the United States, 1980 Proceedings 81. The proposed amendment also provides that even "in the absence of waiver, disqualification is not required if the judge determines that the public interest in avoiding the cost of delay of reassignment outweighs any appearance of impropriety arising from his continuing with the matter to completion." Id. The issues raised by the proposed amendment are, of course, for Congress to consider if it wishes.

18/ The House Judiciary Committee considered, at least in part, the burden that the amendment would impose on judges:

> Under subsection (c), the judge has a duty to inform himself about his own financial interests. This precludes use of a so called blind trust.
>
> . . . .
>
> Subsection (d)(4) also provides that investments in mutual funds . . . are generally not "financial interests."
>
> These provisions of the bill with relation to disqualification based on financial interests are not intended to deprive the judge of the opportunity to make financial investments. However, they must be considered in light of Canon 5C(3) of the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct which provides:
>
> > A judge should manage his investments and other financial interests to minimize the number of cases in which he is disqualified. As soon as he can do so without serious financial detriment, he should divest himself of investments and other financial interests that might require frequent disqualification.
> Therefore, a judge is free to invest. He should invest in companies which are not likely to become litigants in his court. If that should happen, then he must disqualify himself.

H.R. Rep. at 6357. The Judiciary Committee's suggestion that a judge invest in companies that are not likely to become litigants in the judges court is of limited utility in multidistrict class actions such as the one before Judge Muecke. There are over 200,000 class members, many of whom are corporations. It appears that disqualifications under section 455 will become the rule rather than the exception in large class actions unless judges and their families either refrain from investing or invest only in mutual or common funds.

19/ There may be other, less disruptive methods of alleviating Congress' concern that a judge not be put in the position of determining whether his interest is "substantial," whether it will be "substantially affected" by the outcome of the proceeding, or whether the public interest in avoiding delay outweighs any appearance of impropriety. For example, those questions could be decided by another judge or tribunal. Such a procedure would satisfy the concern that a judge not be the arbiter of questions involving his own self-interest, yet would prevent disruption of major litigation where the public interest so dictates.

CLERK U.S. COURT OF APPEALS

In re Cement & Antitrust Litigation (MDL-296); Arizona v. United States District Court - No. 81-7465

FERGUSON, Circuit Judge, concurring:

I agree that Judge Muecke properly determined that he was required to recuse himself. I further agree that this court has jurisdiction under the All Writs Act to review Judge Muecke's decision.

However, this case should not be considered as one that expands the supervisory power of this court over district courts. First, the decision of the district court was one mandated by the law; this court is not reviewing an exercise of discretion. Second, the matter does not in any way determine the rights of the parties but instead is directed solely to the orderly administration of the courts, the very core of this court's supervisory power. Third, the only way in which the new and significant issue presented here could be adjudicated was by this court assuming jurisdiction under the All Writs Act.

Questions Presented

1. Where an application for extension of time within which to file a petition for writ of certiorari is denied and the jurisdictional 90-day period for seeking certiorari expires, is the time for seeking certiorari extended by the filing in the Court of Appeals of an untimely petition for rehearing?

2. Did the Court of Appeals commit reversible error in (a) dismissing for lack of finality an appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291 and (b) declining to accept a discretionary appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) of the decision of a district court judge to recuse himself from further participation in pretrial proceedings in this multidistrict case?

ON WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES
COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT

BRIEF IN OPPOSITION TO PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI

For the reasons set forth herein, respondents[1] respectfully oppose the Petition for a Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

1 Respondents are Ash Grove Cement Co.; Citadel Cement Corp.; Columbia Cement Division of Filtrol Corporation; The Flintkote Company; Giant Portland Cement Co.; Kaiser Cement & Gypsum Corporation; Keystone Portland Cement Co.; Lehigh Portland Cement Co.; Lone Star

PERTINENT STATUTES AND REGULATIONS

In addition to the statutes set forth in the Petition, 28 U.S.C. § 2101(c), and Supreme Court Rules 18, 20.2, 20.3, and 20.4 are pertinent and are printed in Appendix II hereto.

COUNTERSTATEMENT OF THE CASE

The undisputed record in In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, MDL Dkt. No. 296, shows that Judge Muecke's wife owns stock in members of the plaintiff National Cement Class. Based upon this fact, and after obtaining an opinion from the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States concluding that recusal was appropriate, Judge Muecke recused himself from further participation in this multidistrict case which has been consolidated for pretrial proceedings in the District of Arizona. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F. Supp. 1076 (D. Ariz. 1981). Judge Muecke recused himself because "the law [28 U.S.C. § 455], as written, says I must," id. at 1078, and because "this Court is very persuaded by the Advisory Committee's conclusions as to Canon 3C [of the Code of Judicial Conduct]," id. at 1079.

Subsequent to rendering his recusal order and opinion, Judge Muecke, at petitioners' request, certified his recusal to the Ninth Circuit pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b). Petition Appendix C. Petitioners thereupon sought review in the Ninth Circuit of Judge Muecke's recusal decision in three ways: they filed a petition for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (Ninth Circuit Dkt. No. 81-8079), they filed an appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (Ninth Circuit Dkt. No. 81-5481), and they filed a petition for writ of mandamus (Ninth Circuit Dkt. No. 81-7465).

On October 30, 1981, the Court of Appeals entered an order denying permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b), dismissing petitioners' 28 U.S.C. § 1291 appeal, and setting the petition for writ of mandamus down for oral argument. Petition Appendix D. The mandamus proceeding was argued to the Ninth Circuit on January 4, 1982 and the matter remains under submission.

The 90-day period within which a petition for writ of certiorari must be filed to review the Court of Appeals' October 30, 1981 order expired on January 28, 1982. 28 U.S.C. § 2101(c). On January 22, 1982, petitioners made application to this Court for an enlargement of time in which to file the Petition, which was denied by Justice Rehnquist on January 25, 1982. Docket A-656, Appendix III hereto.[2] Notwithstanding Justice Rehnquist's denial of an enlargement of time within which to file the Petition, petitioners did not file a petition for certiorari before the 90 days expired on January 28, 1982.

Instead, on January 11, 1982, petitioners requested the Ninth Circuit to permit the filing of an untimely petition for reconsideration of that court's October 30, 1981 Order, since the time for filing such a petition had expired on November 13, 1981. The Court of Appeals on January 26, 1982, granted leave to file a petition for reconsideration "out of time," and explained that on January 27, 1982, the court would file an "opinion expanding the views summarily expressed in the order filed October 30, 1981." Petition Appendix F. The expanded

2 After their application for extension was denied by Justice Rehnquist, petitioners on January 26, 1982 filed a petition for reconsideration, which violated Supreme Court Rule 29.3, providing that any application for extension of time to petition for certiorari "if once denied, may not be renewed." The clerk returned the document pursuant to Rule 43.5.

opinion reiterated the conclusions set forth in the Court of Appeals' October 30, 1981 order without modifying the court's position on any issue.[3]

Pursuant to the Court of Appeals' January 26, 1982 order granting petitioners leave to file for rehearing out of time, petitioners on February 3, 1982 filed their petition for rehearing and suggestion for rehearing en banc. The Court of Appeals denied the petition for rehearing on April 15, 1982, and rejected the suggestion for rehearing en banc, no judge of the Circuit having requested a vote on this suggestion.[4]

Then, on June 2, 1982, petitioners filed in this Court a third application for enlargement of time within which to file their petition for writ of certiorari. Motion to Extend Time to File Petition for Certiorari, Dkt. A-1052, dated June 2, 1982. Without mentioning that Justice Rehnquist previously had denied applications for time extensions and that the jurisdictional time for seeking certiorari from the Ninth Circuit's October 30, 1981 Order had therefore expired on January 28, 1982, petitioners incorrectly represented in this application that the 90-day period within which to file their petition for writ of certiorari was due to expire July 14, 1982. Id. at 2. Apparently relying on petitioners' misstatements, and before respondents were able to bring the misstatements to the Court's attention, Justice Rehnquist granted petitioners an extension to August 15, 1982.[5]

On August 16, 1982, petitioners filed the present Petition.

3 Petition Appendix A. The Ninth Circuit's opinion also appears at 673 F.2d 1020 (9th Cir. 1982).

4 Petition Appendix G. The court's April 15, 1982 Denial of Rehearing also amended its previous opinion by adding an explanatory footnote, which did not modify its position on any issue.

5 Subsequently, by motion dated July 23, 1982, petitioners filed a fourth application for further extension of time. After respondents filed an opposition, petitioners' motion was denied without comment by Justice Rehnquist on August 2, 1982.

REASONS FOR DENYING THE WRIT

I. The Court Has No Jurisdiction To Consider The Petition Because It Was Not Timely Filed.

This Court is without jurisdiction to consider the present Petition for Writ of Certiorari to review the Order of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit entered on October 30, 1981, because the Petition was not filed within the 90-day time period provided for filing such a petition. 28 U.S.C. § 2101(c)[6] In their first application for time extension to Justice Rehnquist, petitioners conceded that their Petition for Writ of Certiorari from the Court of Appeals Order "must be filed" no later than January 29, 1982 (thus giving themselves an extra day). Motion to Extend Time to File Petition for Certiorari, Dkt. A-656, dated January 22, 1982, at 6. This Petition was not filed until August 16, 1982, 200 days out of time.

Petitioners apparently take the position that, although the 90-day time period for seeking certiorari expired after Justice Rehnquist declined to grant a time extension, they nonetheless extended the 90 days by filing in the Court of Appeals an untimely petition for reconsideration. Petitioners are clearly wrong. In 1980 Rule 20.4 of the Rules of this Court was amended expressly to provide that the time for seeking certiorari runs from the denial of a rehearing only "if a petition for rehearing is timely filed by any party in the case." (Emphasis added.)[7]

6 FTC v. Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., 344 U.S. 206 (1952); Toledo Scale Co. v. Computing Scale Co., 261 U.S. 399, 417-18 (1923); Supreme Court Rule 20.2. Rule 20.3 of the Rules of the Supreme Court provides that "The Clerk will refuse to receive any petition for a writ of certiorari which is jurisdictionally out of time."

7 See 13 Moore's Federal Practice ¶¶ 820.01, 820.04 (1982). This amendment to the Court's rules resolved the apparent uncertainty created by language in older cases dealing with appeals in general as to whether action by a lower court on an untimely petition for rehearing would extend the time for seeking appeal. E.g., compare R. Stern & E. Gressman, Supreme Court Practice (5th ed. 1978) § 6.3 (quoting Bowman v. Loperena, 311 U.S. 262 (1940)) with § 6.4 (quoting Federal Power Commission v. Idaho Power Co. 344 U.S. 17 (1952) and FTC v. Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., 344 U.S. 206 (1952)).

And, of course, this result is not changed simply because the Ninth Circuit on January 27, 1982 issued an opinion reiterating at greater length the views summarily expressed in the October 30, 1981 Order.[8] This case falls squarely within the rule articulated in FTC v. Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., 344 U.S. 206, 211-12 (1952).

> "Thus, the mere fact that a judgment previously entered has been reentered or revised in an immaterial way does not toll the time within which review must be sought. Only when the lower court changes matters of substance, or resolves a genuine ambiguity, in a judgment previously rendered should the period within which an appeal must be taken or a petition for certiorari filed begin to run anew. The test is a practical one. The question is whether the lower court, in its second order, has disturbed or revised legal rights and obligations which, by its prior judgment, had been plainly and properly settled with finality." (Footnotes omitted.)

Just as this Court concluded in Minneapolis-Honeywell: "The judgment of [January 27, 1982] which petitioner now seeks to have us review, does not meet this test. It reiterated, without change, everything which had been decided on [October 30, 1981]." Id. at 212.

Thus, because the time for filing a petition for a writ of certiorari has expired, thereby depriving this Court of jurisdiction, the Petition should be denied or, pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 20.3, returned to petitioners by the clerk.

8 As petitioners conceded in their third application for time extension, the Court of Appeals itself had characterized the opinion as simply "expanding the views summarily expressed in the Order filed October 30, 1981." Motion to Extend Time to File Petition for Certiorari, Dkt. A-1052, dated June 2, 1982, at 4. The Court of Appeals' expanded opinion in fact reiterated its earlier conclusions without modifying its position on any issue. Compare Petition, Appendices A and D.

II. The Ninth Circuit's Denial Of The § 1292(b) Appeal And Its Dismissal Of The § 1291 Appeal Was Clearly Proper.

The only issues legitimately presented by the Petition are whether the Ninth Circuit committed reversible error in declining to accept a discretionary appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) and in dismissing for lack of finality an appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291 of Judge Muecke's recusal order. The Court of Appeals was clearly correct in both instances and its decision does not present an issue that should be reviewed by this Court.

Although mandamus review of Judge Muecke's recusal decision is currently underway before the Ninth Circuit, petitioners claim that this Court must, as a threshold matter, decide the merits of the recusal order before it can even consider whether to grant or deny certiorari on the procedural issues raised by the present Petition. As discussed below, the recusal issue petitioners seek to raise was not decided by the Court of Appeals. There is no merit to petitioners' position that they can force premature consideration of that issue in this Court by filing a Petition on procedural issues not appropriate for review and then claiming that this Court cannot even deny certiorari without deciding as a threshold matter the recusal issue the Ninth Circuit currently has under advisement.

A. Refusal To Entertain the § 1292(b) Appeal Was Proper.

The decision of a Court of Appeals not to permit an appeal under 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) is ultimately discretionary. The statute authorizing such appeals provides only that a Court of Appeals may "in its discretion, permit an appeal to be taken." Thus, the decision of a Court of Appeals in this regard is not ordinarily reviewable.[9] 9 See 17 C. Wright, A. Miller & E. Cooper Federal Practice and Procedure, § 4036 at 43 n.18 (1978) ("[T]he discretion to deny interlocutory appeal under 28 U.S.C.A. § 1292(b) . . . is so broad that Supreme Court reversal should never be available . . . .").

Moreover, the Court of Appeals properly decided not to entertain an interlocutory appeal of Judge Muecke's decision to recuse himself since, in the circumstances of this case, that ruling did not present a controlling question of law within the meaning of § 1292(b). As both the Ninth[10] and Seventh[11] Circuits have held, no party to litigation necessarily has a protectable interest in the continued exercise of jurisdiction by a particular judge, so Judge Muecke's opinion did not involve any legal issue of controlling importance under the circumstances of this case.[12]

Contrary to petitioners suggestion, the Court of Appeals' refusal to entertain an interlocutory appeal of Judge Muecke's recusal order does not create a conflict among the Circuits. The Ninth Circuit did not foreclose permissive review under Section 1292(b) of matters collateral to the merits (such as the court quite properly found recusal to be) when exceptional circumstances warrant it. 673 F.2d at 1026-27 and n.5. (Petition Appendix A at A-9 through A-11; Petition Appendix G at A-46.) Likewise, in the cases petitioners claim "conflict" with the Ninth Circuit's instant refusal to permit interlocutory appeal, each of the courts made clear that some recusal opinions should receive discretionary appellate review, and others should not, depending on the circumstances of each case. Thus, although some courts have permitted discretionary interlocutory appeal of recusal decisions and others have not, the differing results are due not to a conflict of law, but to differing analyses of the particular facts and circumstances of each case.

10 In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020, 1024 (9th Cir. 1981). Petition Appendix A at A-6.

11 Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478, 479 (7th Cir. 1981).

12 Furthermore, Judge Muecke's recusal was based in part on his interpretation of the ethical considerations of Canon 3C of the Code of Judicial Conduct, so that his decision to recuse himself would not be controlled by any contrary construction of 28 U.S.C. § 455.

The Court of Appeals' decision not to entertain interlocutory review in this case was perfectly proper, based on an analysis of the factual circumstances of the present case, and presents no issue which should be reviewed by this Court.

B. The Dismissal Of The Section 1291 Appeal Was Clearly Proper.

The Court of Appeals' dismissal of the Section 1291 appeal was also correct and not worthy of review.

Petitioners do not dispute the Ninth Circuit's conclusion that Judge Muecke's recusal order was not a final and appealable order for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 1291. They also do not dispute the Ninth Circuit's conclusion that Judge Muecke's recusal decision was not appealable under the collateral order doctrine of Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949), because petitioners have no "claim of right" to any particular judge. Instead, petitioners claim that the collateral order doctrine applies in this case because Judge Muecke's decision precludes assignment of any judge. Petition at 12-13. That contention is preposterous. There are literally hundreds of federal judges to whom the case could be reassigned, including several judges in the District of Arizona where the case is now pending. Indeed the Ninth Circuit already has rejected petitioners' suggestion that the Judicial Panel is prevented from reassigning the case to one of these judges because members of the Panel would themselves be disqualified. As the Court of Appeals found, it is absolutely clear that the possible recusal of a judge from the adjudicative phases of a proceeding does not prohibit that judge from carrying out ministerial duties short of adjudication, including assigning a case to another judge, or assigning a judge to make the assignment. 673 F.2d at 1024-25. (Petition Appendix A at A-6 through A-7). See Stringer v. United States, 233 F.2d 947, 948 (9th Cir. 1956); Application of Scott, 379 F. Supp. 622, 624 (S.D. Tex. 1974). In fact, even after Judge Muecke recused himself, petitioners themselves successfully petitioned him to transfer the case temporarily to another judge in the District of Arizona to rule upon certain matters.

Petitioners also suggest that, despite the Ninth Circuit's clear holding that the Panel can reassign the case, the Judicial Panel deems itself incapable of appointing a new judge. Petition at 13. The Panel has said no such thing. Instead, at petitioners' suggestion, the Panel deferred its decision on appointing a new judge "until plaintiffs' [petitioners'] mandamus petition in the Ninth Circuit has been resolved." Petition Appendix H. Petitioners urged the Panel not to take action to assign a new judge before a decision by the Ninth Circuit, claiming that assigning a new judge would "disregard the courtesy usually afforded other Courts," "abuse traditional concepts of comity," and "possibly moo[t] the recusal issues in the Ninth Circuit."[13] Plaintiffs' Response to Defendants' Motion for Designation of District Court Judge, dated December 10, 1981, at 5. The Panel's brief order nowhere suggested that any other principles were involved in its decision to await the Ninth Circuit's ruling.

Thus, the Court of Appeals' dismissal of petitioners' § 1291 appeal of Judge Muecke's recusal order was clearly correct and presents no issue which should be reviewed by this Court.

III. Judge Muecke's Recusal Decision Is Not Presently Before This Court.

Although the Ninth Circuit currently has Judge Muecke's recusal decision under review,[14] petitioners ask this Court to review the merits of that decision in connection with the present Petition. Because the Court of Appeals has not yet decided that issue, however, that matter is not a question on which certiorari may be sought. See, e.g., J. Truett Payne Co. v. Chrysler Motors Corp., 451 U.S. 557, 568 (1981) (Supreme 13 Respondents respectfully submit that petitioners have failed to heed their own advice by asking this Court to consider the recusal issue before the Ninth Circuit has decided the issue.

14 Although the Ninth Circuit declined to entertain an interlocutory appeal and dismissed petitioners' § 1291 appeal, petitioners' mandamus petition has been briefed, argued and submitted to the Court of Appeals, where it is under advisement.

Court will "not ordinarily address for the first time in this Court an issue which the Court of Appeals has not addressed"); Bakery Sales Drivers Local No. 33 v. Wagshal, 333 U.S. 437, 444-45 (1948).[15] Furthermore, because review of Judge Muecke's recusal decision is presently pending before the Ninth Circuit, the strong policies favoring orderly development of appellate issues counsel against this Court's reviewing the recusal issue in the absence of a considered opinion by the Court of Appeals and full briefs of the parties.[16]

In their attempt to make the merits of Judge Muecke's recusal decision part of the present Petition, petitioners claim that this Court has no choice but to rule on the recusal issue. They claim that before the Court can pass on the Petition, or even make ministerial decisions regarding the form of the briefs presented to the Court,[17] it must decide whether Judge Muecke correctly decided the recusal issue.[18]

15 Likewise, the general rule is that questions not raised before the Court of Appeals may not be raised for the first time on Supreme Court review. See, e.g., United States v. United Continental Tuna Corp., 425 U.S. 164, 181-82 (1976); Adickes v. S.H. Kress & Co., 398 U.S. 144, 147 n.2 (1970). This Court always has been reluctant to decide issues not decided by the lower courts, because of the advantage of prior appellate deliberation. See Wood v. Strickland, 420 U.S. 308, 326-27 (1975).

16 "Issues that are left to mature in courts of appeals may be resolved without any need for Supreme Court intervention and may be resolved better by the Supreme Court if it needs to act." 17 C. Wright, A. Miller & E. Cooper, Federal Practice and Procedure § 4034 at 4-5 (1978). In any event, petitioners have not satisfied Supreme Court Rule 18, which requires a showing of "imperative public importance" before this Court will deviate "from the normal appellate practice" and review a case pending in a Court of Appeals.

17 Petitioners go so far as to contend that this Court cannot "even decide the simple procedural motion for relief from the Rules" without deciding the merits of Judge Muecke's recusal. Petition at 8; Petitioners' Reply Memorandum in Support of "Motion for Relief from Compliance with Certain Provisions of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3," dated September 8, 1982, at 2.

18 Petitioners claim that the Court must now consider the underlying merits of the recusal issue because the 1982 Financial Disclosure Reports of

The Court need not accept such sophism. It can dispose of the present Petition, which is jurisdictionally out of time and which presents issues that are obviously not worthy of issuance of a writ of certiorari, without disturbing the orderly appellate consideration of the recusal issue. The present Petition is simply part of the larger recusal dispute which is still being developed in the Court of Appeals below, and which may arrive in this Court in due time. It is therefore entirely appropriate for this Court to deny the present Petition in order to assure that the recusal dispute reaches this Court in a posture for deliberate consideration.

Any court has authority to assure that the matter of its own capacity is considered in an orderly and thorough way, and to enter appropriate orders to that effect. Thus a judge who (ultimately) is without jurisdiction nonetheless has authority to order discovery on the issue, and to enter other appropriate orders necessary to put the issue of his jurisdiction into a posture for reasoned decision. See Oppenheimer Fund v. Sanders, 437 U.S. 340, 351 n.13 (1978); McNutt v. General Motors Acceptance Corp., 298 U.S. 178, 189 (1936); 8 C. Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 2009 at 52 (1970). Likewise, a court has the obligation to assure that the matter of its own potential recusal ripens in an orderly and deliberate way.[19] It is well settled that a court has plenary authority to control its own docket. Will v. Calvert Fire Insurance Co., 437 U.S. 655 (1978). In the absence of a Court five Justices purportedly indicate stock ownership in class members ignores the fact that those statements are current only as of December 31, 1981. It does not follow that any Justice currently has such a shareholding or will at the time the recusal issue is properly presented, whether later in connection with a timely petition for review of the Court of Appeals' mandamus ruling or, should the Court decide to defer action on this Petition, in connection with its later consideration.

19 For example, Judge Muecke ordered a briefing schedule on the recusal issue after a suggestion of recusal had been made, and it would have been ludicrous to suggest he had no authority to do so on the ground that he was recused.

of Appeals' decision, which is likely to be forthcoming in the companion mandamus proceeding, it is inappropriate for this Court to review the recusal matter as preliminary to considering the certiorari petition which itself raises no review worthy issues.

In urging this Court to short circuit the orderly appellate process and consider the recusal issue before the Court of Appeals has decided the issue, petitioners paint a totally false picture of the drastic nature of Judge Muecke's ruling. In recusing himself, Judge Muecke simply followed the clear language of the statute enacted by Congress[20] and the advice he solicited from the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States regarding the ethical obligations imposed by Canon 3C of the Code of Judicial Conduct. Petition Appendix B at A-29 through A-33. Moreover, Judge Muecke's conclusion that the recusal statute applies to interests in both named class representatives and unnamed class members is consistent with this Court's conclusion in United States v. Will, 449 U.S. 200 (1980), that (absent the Rule of Necessity) every Article III judge was disqualified under section 455(b)(5)(i) because as unnamed members of the 20 Following intensive judicial confirmation controversies stemming in part from the vague recusal standard of the then existing statute, Congress in 1974 amended 28 U.S.C. § 455 to resolve "the dilemmas created by the loose language of Section 455" and remove "the cloud of doubt" to which judges were subjected in applying the statute. 1974 Amendments to 28 U.S.C. § 455: Hearings Before the Subcomm. on Improvements in Judicial Machinery of the Senate Judiciary Committee, 93d Cong., 1st Sess. 24 (statement of Senator Hollings). As amended in 1974, 28 U.S.C. § 455 contains a clear per se standard that requires a judge to recuse himself whenever he has a financial interest, "however small," in a party to or the subject matter of a proceeding. It is established that stock ownership of even a single share is sufficient financial interest to require recusal. In re New Mexico National Gas Antitrust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794, 796 (10th Cir. 1980); In re Virginia Electric & Power Co., 539 F.2d 357, 368 (4th Cir. 1976); see also H.R. Rep. No. 93-1453, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 7 (1974).

class each was "a party to the proceeding."[21] Id. at 211-12 and n.11. In fact, to our knowledge the only other district judge to have been confronted with this issue also held recently that class members are "parties" to the proceeding for purposes of the recusal statute, 28 U.S.C. § 455. In re New Mexico Natural Gas Antitrust Litigation, MDL Dkt. No. 403 (D.N.M. May 14, 1982) (See Transcript of Proceedings, attached hereto as Appendix IV at 7a-8a.) The drastic consequences and inflated claims petitioners attempt to portray are simply illusory. At most Judge Muecke's recusal poses an interesting, if uncommon, issue. Issues are not appropriate for review by this Court, however, simply because they are interesting, particularly when the issue is presently pending before the Court of Appeals.[22]

Therefore, there is no need for the Court to prematurely consider an issue presently pending in the Court of Appeals.

21 This Court's conclusion in this regard was precisely the result advocated by the United States in its brief to the Court. See Brief of Solicitor General at 25.

22 If, however, this Court is of the view that it cannot dispose of the Petition without resolving the recusal issue, the Court can defer any action on the Petition until after the Court of Appeals renders its decision. In the event the Court believes that the merits of the recusal issue should be considered at this time, respondents agree with petitioners that the Court should direct the parties to fully brief the issue to the Court. See Petitioners' Reply Memorandum in Support of "Motion for Relief from Compliance with Certain Provisions of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3," dated September 8, 1982, at 3.

CONCLUSION

This Petition was filed long out of time. The issues otherwise legitimately presented by this Petition—the correctness of the Court of Appeals' disposition of the § 1292(b) and § 1291 appeals—are not issues worthy of review by this Court. The threshold issue petitioners seek to raise– the correctness of the district court judge's recusal decision—is not properly before the Court and need not be resolved to pass on the present Petition. Respondents therefore respectfully submit that the Petition for Writ of Certiorari should be denied or, pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 20.3, returned to petitioners by the clerk.

28 U.S.C. § 2101(c)

(c) Any other appeal or any writ of certiorari intended to bring any judgment or decree in a civil action, suit or proceeding before the Supreme Court for review shall be taken or applied for within ninety days after the entry of such judgment or decree. A justice of the Supreme Court, for good cause shown, may extend the time for applying for a writ of certiorari for a period not exceeding sixty days.

Supreme Court Rules

18 A petition for writ of certiorari to review a case pending in a federal court of appeals, before judgment is given in such court, will be granted only upon a showing that the case is of such imperative public importance as to justify the deviation from normal appellate practice and to require immediate settlement in this Court. See 28 U.S.C. § 2101(e); see also, United States v. Bankers Trust Co., 294 U.S. 240 (1935); Railroad Retiremen: Board v. *Alton R. 20.2 A petition for writ of certiorari in all other cases shall be deemed in time when it is filed with the Clerk within the time prescribed by law. See 28 U.S.C. § 2101(c).

20.3 The Clerk will refuse to receive any petition for a writ of certiorari which is jurisdictionally out of time.

20.4 The time for filing a petition for writ of certiorari runs from the date the judgment or decree sought to be reviewed is rendered, and not from the date of the issuance of the mandate (or its equivalent under local practice). However, if a petition for rehearing is timely filed by any party in the case, the time for filing the petition for writ of certiorari for all parties (whether or not they requested rehearing or joined in the petition for rehearing) runs from the date of the denial of rehearing or of the entry of a subsequent judgment entered on the rehearing.

APPENDIX IV

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE DISTRICT OF NEW MEXICO

IN RE: NEW MEXICO NATURAL GAS ANTITRUST LITIGATION — MDL DOCKET NO. 403

TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS

BE IT REMEMBERED, that on the 14th day of May, 1982, at 12:02 o'clock p.m., this matter came on for hearing before THE HONORABLE HOWARD BRATTON, Chief United States District Judge, sitting at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

. . . [List of Appearances of counsel omitted]

LAW CLERK MASON-PLUNKETT: Please rise. Court is in session.

THE COURT: Please be seated. All right. Comes first a housekeeping matter. I filed today an Amended Memorandum of Opinion and Order for the Motions for Summary Judgment. All it does is incorporate the errata which we filed some time in February, I've forgotten when, and make corrections as to typographical and some cites and what not. We were rather pushed to get it out before the trial and so we've tried to clean it up. If there is any change in substance between it and the original Opinion and the errata, the originals control. But no change in substance is intended in any way and I think you will so find.

Addressing the pending Motion to Recuse, I had thought, originally, after the lawsuit was over, my general thinking was to package up your lawsuit on the issue of liability and send it on up to the Circuit Court while you handle your discovery matters on the issues of damages. That seemed to me to be the most expeditious and really orderly way to handle the matter.

But the decision will have to be made by another judge, because I conclude that the Motion to Recuse, on the ground that I have relatives within the third degree of consanguinity, who are members of the class, who should be considered members of the class, for purposes of the recusal statute, is well taken even if it is very, very belated, to say the least.

Once the matter is raised, however, the timeliness is no issue because the fact remains that the statute is mandatory and by its own terms, it cannot be waived.

While I agree with the Judge who observed that the class action statute and the disqualification statute really do not mesh well in light of how class actions develop today, but nonetheless, that, the statute, remains and, in my judgment, is clear and determinative.

I regret that I did not note this matter at an earlier time of my own Motion, particularly since, if you will recall, I was the one who first raised the issue of recusal of a Judge when the matter was first assigned to me. You'd been presenting it to Judges, the matter, seeking ruling from other Judges and, apparently, never raised or considered the issue. But had I done so and raised this matter, it certainly would have saved my staff and me months and mountains of paper and 60 very long days. But that is neither here nor there now. That's water under the dam, under the bridge. But at the time I originally raised the issue and recused myself, I did not consider this point now raised: that relatives should be considered memb— or, members of the class should be considered parties within the meaning of the statute. And when the Circuit said that I should go ahead with the lawsuit, I simply put the whole thought of recusal out of my mind and went ahead and handled it. But now that the issue has been raised, the only proper course and the one I'm going to pursue is to recuse myself from further participation in the case.

I have consulted the other Judges of the court here and each advises me that he feels the same disability and would not serve in that cause. But I just tell you that they have advised me that. If you want to go and talk to each Judge and make your own determination or have them advise you directly, why, of course, you are free to do so. If I do not hear from you—I'll give you an opportunity to do that, if you want to. If I do not hear from you by Tuesday, I will notify Judge Seth of the situation and he will handle the matter further.

One last thing, I think all of you had inquired of me whether you might interview the jurors who had served in the case and discuss the case with them. I would suggest you take that matter up with whoever is designated in the matter and that you do not consult or visit with the jurors prior to taking the matter up with whoever handles the matter henceforth.

There being nothing further, Court will be in recess.

MR. BEANE: Your Honor, pardon me, there is one item that's come to my attention and I simply want to bring it to the Court's attention and it's come to my attention that Judge Seth, himself, may have been a customer of Southern Union during the class period and may not have opted out and I simply wanted the Court to know that I found that out at 9:00 o'clock this morning, Dallas time. What impact that has on anything, I certainly do not know. But I wanted that brought to the attention of the Court as soon as I found out about it.

THE COURT: All right. Okay. I mentioned some time, originally, that I assumed Judge Seth would be a member of the class, as I would, but that's a matter you can address with Judge Seth, of course. My proper course is to advise him and he'll handle the matter further from there.

Court's in recess.

(WHEREUPON, at 12:15 o'clock p.m., Court stood in recess.)

PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI

In respondents' Brief in Opposition to Petition for Writ of Certiorari in this matter, respondents */ called to the Court's attention that the merits of Chief United States District Judge Muecke's recusal decision were not properly raised by the present Petition, in that they were not presented in or decided by the Court of Appeals below. We further noted that the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit then had under advisement a separate mandamus petition initiated by petitioners in which Judge Muecke's recusal was being considered on the merits. (Respondents' Brief in Opposition, pp. 7, 10-14.)

On October 1, 1982 the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit issued its opinion in the separate mandamus proceedings. (App. I hereto.)*/ The Court of Appeals unanimously upheld Judge Muecke's recusal decision on the merits.

The inappropriateness of petitioners' present attempt to seek review of the merits of the recusal issue by the present Petition, which does not arise out of the mandamus proceedings and presents issues clearly unworthy for issuance of a writ of certiorari, is underscored by their ability now to attempt to secure review of the Court of Appeals' mandamus ruling.

UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS

FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT

Petitioners,
vs.
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF ARIZONA,
Respondent,	OPINION
KAISER CEMENT & GYPSUM CORPORATION, et al.,
Real Parties in Interest.

On Petition for Writ of Mandamus
United States District Court for the District of Arizona
Honorable Carl A. Muecke, District Judge, Presiding

Argued and Submitted: January 4, 1982

Before: FERGUSON, NELSON and REINHARDT, Circuit Judges

REINHARDT, Circuit Judge

Plaintiffs seek a writ of mandamus directing the district court to vacate its opinion and order in which Judge Muecke granted the defendants' motion to recuse himself pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) (1976). In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 515 F.Supp. 1076 (D. Ariz. 1981). Petitioners request that we issue the writ pursuant to our supervisory authority under the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651 (1976). We have previously dismissed plaintiffs' appeal from Judge Muecke's order for lack of jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (1976) and have denied plaintiffs' petition for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (1976). In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020 (9th Cir. 1982). In our opinion we concluded, however, that the petition for a writ of mandamus would be reviewed on the merits. Id. at 1025. We now do so under our supervisory authority to insure the proper and orderly administration of the federal judicial system. See Schlangenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104 (1964); La Buy v. Howes Leather Co., 352 U.S. 249 (1957).[1/]

I.

History of Proceedings

Beginning in 1976, twenty-one separate actions were filed in federal district courts in Arizona and California alleging a conspiracy among various cement and concrete producers to fix the price of cement and concrete in violation of the antitrust laws. On September 12, 1977, the Judicial Panel on Multi-District Litigation transferred those actions to the Central District of Arizona and assigned the cases to the Honorable C. A. Muecke for coordinated or consolidated pretrial procedures. In re Cement and Concrete Antitrust Litigation, 437 F. Supp. 750 (J.P.M.D.L. 1977). The Panel on Multi-District Litigation cited Judge Muecke's familiarity with the litigation as one of the reasons for transferring the case to the District of Arizona. Id. at 753.

Early in 1979, Judge Muecke certified a nationwide class of public and private cement producers and two statewide governmental entity classes. The parties lodged with the court a master class list that contained the names of 210,235 putative class members who could be identified with reasonable effort. Judge Muecke actively presided over the pretrial proceedings through January of 1981, during which time he entered over 75 pretrial orders, ruled on countless motions, supervised the substantial completion of the discovery process, approved the master class list, and gave notice to class members that they could opt out of the class by written request prior to December 31, 1980.

On January 12, 1981, several of the defendants advised Judge Muecke by letter that a comparison of his 1980 financial disclosure report with the names on the master class list revealed that Judge Muecke's wife owned stock in seven of the 210,235 class members. The defendants asserted that the judge was under a per se obligation to recuse himself pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) and Canon 3(C)(1)(c) of the Code of Judicial Conduct. Judge Muecke ordered the parties to brief the question and heard oral argument on two occasions.

Judge Muecke also requested an advisory opinion from the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States. The Committee responded by suggesting that Judge Muecke should disqualify himself because (1) his wife had a financial interest in the subject matter of the proceeding within the meaning of section 455, (2) his wife's interests could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding within the meaning of Canon 3 of the Code of Judicial Conduct, and (3) his continued handling of the case could create the appearance of impropriety in violation of Canon 2 of the Code of Judicial Conduct. 515 F. Supp. at 1083-84. See also Advisory Comm. on Judicial Activities, Disqualification in Class Actions, Advisory Op. 68 (1981).

Judge Muecke recused himself in an opinion and order, 515 F.Supp. at 1076. The judge did not reach the issue of whether he had a financial interest in the "subject matter" of the proceeding, but rather, based his order of recusal on his conclusion that his wife's stock constituted a financial interest in a "party" to the proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) (1976). In his opinion and order of recusal, Judge Muecke made it clear that the sole reason he disqualified himself was because he believed that section 455 imposed a per se rule of recusal in such circumstances:

> I must admit that my first reaction to [respondents'] position recalled the words of Mr. Bumble in Dicken's Oliver Twist: "If the law supposes that . . . the law is an ass -- an idiot."
> . . . I have concluded [,however,] that I must recuse myself not because I feel a sense of conflict, and not because I feel that to continue would create the appearance of impropriety. I have concluded that I must recuse myself for the sole reason that the law, as written, says I must.

515 F. Supp. at 1078 (footnote omitted). Judge Muecke further indicated that he was willing and able to continue handling the multidistrict proceeding and that he would have done so were it not for section 455. Id. at 1081. Judge Muecke certified his order of recusal for an interlocutory appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (1976).

Plaintiffs have sought review of Judge Muecke's recusal order through three avenues: (1) an appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1291; (2) a petition for permission to appeal pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b); and (3) a petition for a writ of mandamus requesting this court to exercise its supervisory authority over the district courts pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1651. Although we dismissed the appeal under section 1291 and denied permission to appeal under section 1292(b), we noted that where a party claims exceptional circumstances, such as major disruption of the litigation resulting from an order of recusal, the party may seek a writ of mandamus in the court of appeals. In deciding to review the petition on the merits, we said, "[i]t is for just such an exceptional circumstance that the writ was designed." 673 F.2d at 1025.

II.

Bauman Revisited

A. Introduction

In reviewing petitioners' request for a writ of mandamus, we are guided by the principles collected and distilled in Bauman v. United States District Court, 557 F.2d 650 (9th Cir. 1977). In Bauman, we expressed our concern over the unprincipled use of the writ as a means of wresting control of litigation from the district courts merely because appellate judges disagree with interlocutory rulings of the district courts or are sympathetic to arguments made in support of petitions. Such unrestrained use of mandamus would undermine the mutual respect that is an indispensable element of the relationship between federal trial and appellate courts and would "subvert the policies underlying the finality rule, 28 U.S.C. § 1291, or the carefully limited congressional scheme governing interlocutory appeals . . . ." Id. at 653.

In order to confine the use of mandamus to its proper office, we enunciated five general guidelines in Bauman to assist in the determination of whether mandamus is the appropriate remedy in a particular case. The guidelines are:

(1) whether the party seeking the writ has no other adequate means, such as direct appeal, to attain the relief he desires; (2) whether the petitioner will be damaged or prejudiced in a way that is not correctable on appeal; (3) whether the district court's order is clearly erroneous as a matter of law; (4) whether the district court's order is an oft repeated error or manifests persistent disregard for the federal rules; and (5) whether the district court's order raises new and important problems or issues of law of first impression. Id. at 654-55. Related considerations include: whether the injury alleged by petitioners, although not correctable on appeal, is the kind that justifies invocation of our mandamus authority; whether the petition presents an issue of law which may repeatedly evade appellate review; and whether there are other compelling factors relating to the efficient and orderly administration of the district courts.

As we noted in Bauman, the guidelines are cumulative and may not all point to the same conclusion. Id. at 655. Moreover, all of the guidelines are unlikely to be met in any one case. Some are more relevant to particular categories of cases than others. Certain concepts relating to the traditional use of mandamus are not necessarily applicable in supervisory mandamus cases, or, at the least, are applied differently. The guidelines are not susceptible of mechanical application; they are not meant to supplant reasoned and independent analysis by appellate courts. In sum, the guidelines serve only as a useful starting point, an analytic framework for determinations regarding the propriety of mandamus relief.

B. The Availability and Adequacy of Other Relief and the Nature of the Harm Required for Mandamus Relief.

The first two criteria articulated in Bauman are designed to insure that mandamus, rather than some other form of relief, is the appropriate remedy. The petitioners must demonstrate that they have no other adequate means of obtaining the relief desired and that they will be damaged in a way not correctable on appeal from final judgment. There is another consideration as well: the injury must be the kind that warrants the invocation of the extraordinary remedy of mandamus.

The relief sought by petitioners is a writ directing Judge Muecke to vacate his order of recusal so that the able judge, who has an extensive working knowledge of this complex litigation, may continue to preside over the consolidated pretrial proceedings. Petitioners thus hope to avoid the inevitable costs and delay that would result from the assignment of a new judge, and seek to prevent the loss of Judge Muecke's unique working knowledge of this case. We have already denied petitioners' request to review the order of recusal under 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (direct appeal of collateral order), and 28 U.S.C. § 1292(b) (discretionary interlocutory appeal). 673 F.2d 1020. While we may be free to reconsider that decision, we decline to do so.

We do not think it would be proper to reconsider here a decision we so recently announced unless new circumstances had intervened or our earlier decision was indisputably or patently erroneous. Otherwise, we would simply be substituting the views of the individual members of this panel for the judgment of the majority of our colleagues on the panel that heard the matter previously. Therefore, while we are impressed by the well reasoned and persuasive dissent of Judge Boochever, and believe that the views he expressed have substantial merit, we conclude that petitioners' avenues of interlocutory appeal from the recusal order must remain closed.

We next consider whether a post-judgment appeal would provide an effective remedy and thus render the exercise of our mandamus authority inappropriate. Although it has been stated that "disqualification questions are fully reviewable on appeal after final judgment," In re Corrugated Container Anti-Trust Litigation, 614 F.2d 958, 960-61 (5th Cir.), cert. denied. 449 U.S. 888 (1980), a review of the authorities indicates that a more accurate statement of the law is that an order denying a motion for disqualification is reviewable on appeal after final judgment. See, e.g., Berger v. United States, 255 U.S. 22 (1921); Potashnick v. Port City Construction Co., 609 F.2d 1101 (5th Cir. 1980) cert. denied, 102 S. Ct. 1256 (1982); SCA Services v. Morgan, 557 F.2d 110 (7th Cir. 1977); Los Angeles Trust Deed & Mortgage Exchange v. SEC, 285 F.2d 162 (9th Cir. 1960), cert. denied, 366 U.S. 919 (1961); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.13[10] at 187 n.1 (2d ed. 1982); C. Wright, A. Miller & E. Cooper, Federal Practice & Procedure, § 3553 at 384 (1975); Comment, Disqualification For Interest of Lower Federal Judges, 71 Mich. L. Rev. 533, 547 (1973).

It is, of course, possible that petitioners could seek to challenge the recusal order after final judgment has been entered, but no such review could prevent the damage that petitioners allege they will suffer or afford effective relief therefrom. Despite the fact that the petitioners may suffer tremendous disruption, unreasonable delay, additional cost, and the loss of Judge Muecke's valuable experience, a post-judgment reversal on appeal could not provide a remedy for those injuries. Moreover, whatever collateral injuries petitioners suffer will have been incurred even if they prevail fully at trial and thus have no right to appeal from the final judgment.

Equally important, when a trial judge enters an order granting a motion for disqualification the error, if any, cannot serve as a basis for reversal on appeal. In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d at 1025. A party cannot ordinarily predicate a claim of prejudicial error on the fact that he was required to try his cause before one judge who was duly qualified to preside rather than another. Prejudicial error does not occur simply because a particular judge fails to handle a case or some other judge does; the mere assignment of a matter to a judge does not affect the outcome of the case. It is the conduct of the judge in conducting the proceeding that gives rise to error which is prejudicial and requires reversal, not the assignment of the case to the judge.[2/] Thus, despite the fact that an erroneous order of recusal may cause collateral injury to the party, the error is harmless for purposes of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 61; therefore it does not constitute prejudicial or reversible error. See Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478, 480 n.7 (7th Cir. 1981); Kelly v. Metropolitan Board. of Education, 479 F.2d 810, 811 (6th Cir. 1973) (McCree, J., concurring).

We conclude that petitioners have no effective right of appeal and will be damaged in a way not correctable on appeal from final judgment. However, we must also consider the question whether petitioners have alleged the type of injury necessary to justify invocation of the mandamus remedy. In another context we stated that "[w]e have consistently rejected petitioners' position that the costs of trying massive civil actions render review after final judgment inadequate." In re Sugar Antitrust Litigation, 559 F.2d 481, 484 (9th Cir. 1977) (denying mandamus relief from an order certifying class).

There are, of course, limits to the hardships which litigants will be forced to bear as a result of erroneous interlocutory orders, even in traditional mandamus cases. In Varsic v. United States District Court, 607 F.2d 245 (9th Cir. 1979), we granted a petition for a writ of mandamus where the plaintiff was proceeding in forma pauperis and the district court erroneously transferred his case from the Central District of California to the Southern District of New York. Despite the fact that the transfer order was fully reviewable on appeal after final judgment, we found that plaintiff would suffer "peculiar hardship" and stated that > assuming that Varsic loses in the Southern District of New York, but successfully appeals the transfer order in the Second Circuit, he will again be severely prejudiced. The impact of the inevitable delay which would result from a second trial in the Central District of California following the appeal in the Second Circuit, on a person in his situation, would not be correctable on appeal.

Id. at 252 (emphasis added).

The principal damage that petitioners contend they will incur as a result of the recusal order is additional cost and unreasonable delay. Although the disruption of the proceedings may not prejudice petitioners to the same degree as the change of venue would have prejudiced Varsic, it appears that the recusal order will significantly impair the progress of this litigation. Nevertheless, we believe that there is a substantial question as to whether petitioners have demonstrated the kind of injury that would be necessary to justify the invocation of our mandamus authority in a traditional mandamus case.

Here, however, we are reviewing the petition pursuant to our supervisory mandamus authority. We are concerned with far more than the injury to these particular petitioners; we are concerned, inter alia, with the effect of the challenged order on the operation of the courts. Petitioners' contend that the recusal order will have a major disruptive effect on the administration of justice in the district of Arizona or any other district to which the litigation may be transferred.[3/] Moreover, they contend that the resolution of the legal question will, for reasons we consider below, add importantly to the efficient operation and administration of the district courts throughout this circuit. Under these circumstances, the degree of injury to petitioners is a less critical factor. We believe that in supervisory mandamus cases, as long as petitioners have demonstrated that they will suffer an actual injury not correctable on appeal, they have satisfied both the injury requirement and the second criterion in the Bauman analysis.

B. Oft Repeated Errors, New and Important Issues of Law, and The Need to Supervise the Administration of the Federal Judicial System

The fourth and fifth factors noted in Bauman are whether the district court's order is an oft repeated error, or manifests a persistent disregard of the federal rules, and whether the district court's order raises new and important problems or issues of law of first impression. Here, the fourth factor is absent and the fifth factor is indisputably present. It is unlikely that both of these factors would be present where a petition for mandamus presents a single issue, since one of the factors deals with repeated error while the other deals with questions of first impression.

While the two factors deal with contrasting situations, each for its own reason may implicate the duty of appellate courts to exercise supervisory control of the district courts in order to insure proper judicial administration. See generally Schlangenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104 (1964); LaBuy v. Howes Leather Co., 352 U.S. 249, 259-60 (1957) ("Supervisory control of District Courts by Courts of Appeals is necessary to proper judicial administration in the federal system."); Coldblum v. National Broadcasting Corp., 584 F.2d 904, 906 n.2 (9th Cir. 1978) (mandamus appropriate for the exercise of supervisory control of district courts necessary to proper judicial administration); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.28 at 312 (2d ed. 1982).

In the present case, it is the fifth Bauman factor that implicates our supervisory mandamus authority: we are faced with the need to resolve a significant question of first impression where the failure to do so may adversely affect the efficient operation of the district courts. See Schlangenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104, 111 (1969) ("[I]ssue of first impression that called for construction of Rule 35 in a new context. . . . Court of Appeals should have also, under these special circumstances, determined the "good cause" issue, so as . . . to settle new and important problems."); National Right to Work Legal Defense & Education Foundation, Inc. v. Richey, 510 F.2d 1239, 1243 (D.C. Cir.), cert. denied, 422 U.S. 1008 (1975) (review by mandamus appropriate "where the decision will serve to clarify a question that is likely to confront a number of lower court judges in a number of suits before appellate review is possible."); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.28 at 312-13 (2d ed. 1982) ("The courts of appeals possess the . . . power to supervise the administration of justice by their district courts . . . and they may review immediately questions of unusual importance the determination of which are necessary to orderly, even and efficient administration.").

Exercise of our supervisory mandamus authority is particularly appropriate when an important question of law would repeatedly evade review because of the collateral nature of the issue.[4/] See Colonial Times Inc. v. Gasch, 509 F.2d 517, 524-26 (D.C. Cir. 1975). In Colonial Times, the court held that mandamus could issue to correct an error in the discovery order before it. The court noted that the type of issues raised in the case before it, "while important to the general course of the litigation, are often collateral to the litigation and thus lost to appellate review in fact if not in theory." Id. at 526. The court stated that mandamus is appropriate "when the appellate court is convinced that resolution of an important, undecided issue will forestall future error in trial courts, eliminate uncertainty and add importantly to the efficient administration of justice." Id. at 524.

Similarly, in this case, an important question of first impression will evade review unless it is considered under our supervisory mandamus authority. Moreover, that question may continue to evade review in other cases as well. In cases in which district judges recuse themselves, the orders of recusal will be effectively unreviewable on appeal notwithstanding the injuries to the parties and the possible disruption of the orderly administration of the courts. While it is true that an order denying a motion for recusal might at some later time become the subject of an appeal, it would be contrary to the interest of orderly judicial administration to delay resolution of the important question before us in order to await the occurrence of such a possibility.

We believe that the petition in this case presents a new and far reaching question of major importance to the district courts, that the question is likely to continue to evade review and that its resolution would add importantly to the efficient and orderly administration of the district courts. The exercise of our supervisory mandamus authority is appropriate under such circumstances.

D. The "Clearly Erroneous as a Matter of Law" Standard

Whether Judge Muecke's recusal order is clearly erroneous as a matter of law involves a pure question of statutory construction. The meaning of the "clearly erroneous as a matter of law" standard of review is elusive at best, but especially so when a question of law of first impression is involved. If a district court were to adopt an interpretation of a statute that squarely contradicted the literal terms and clear intent of the statute, it could readily be said that the interpretation was clearly erroneous. But when a district court is faced with two plausible interpretations of a statute that has not been construed by an appellate court, it would be difficult in one sense to characterize either interpretation as "clearly erroneous". Viewed differently, however, if an appellate court were to review the interpretation adopted by the district court and reject it, that particular interpretation could at that point be said to be "clearly" erroneous. See United States v. Mehrmanesh, 652 F.2d 766, 773 (9th Cir. 1980) ("If we decide that the district court was wrong in its reading of [the statute], appellant's right to relief will be "clear and indisputable.") (Fletcher, J. dissenting).[5/]

We believe that the test set forth by the Supreme Court for determining when a finding of fact is "clearly erroneous" is instructive where a question of law is involved as well. In United States v. United States Gypsum Co., 333 U.S. 364 (1948), the Court stated that under Rule 52(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure:

> [a] finding [of fact] is "clearly erroneous" when although there is evidence to support [the district court's finding], the reviewing court on the entire evidence is left with the definite and firm conviction that a mistake has been committed.

Id. at 395. The "firm conviction" test provides a helpful approach to our efforts to determine when a district court's interpretation of a statute falls under the third Bauman criterion -- "clearly erroneous as a matter of law as that term is used in mandamus analysis," Bauman, 557 F.2d at 650. Two of our previous decisions suggest that we will characterize a ruling of a district court on a question of law as "clearly erroneous" only when, after a full review of the authorities, we are firmly convinced that the district court's interpretation was incorrect.[6/]

In Mehrmanesh, we were unable to determine the meaning of the statute simply from an examination of its language. After considering the limited authorities available, we were of the view that the "question decided below was a close one." Id. 682 F.2d at 770-71. We were not firmly convinced, either way, as to what the correct result should be. We concluded, therefore, that "[w]hether or not the district court's interpretation is ultimately upheld on appeal after final judgment, we cannot now find it to be 'clearly erroneous as a matter of law . . . .'" Id. (quoting Bauman v. United States District Court, 557 F.2d 650, 660 (9th Cir. 1977)). In Varsic v. United States District Court, 607 F.2d 245 (9th Cir. 1979), we also could not determine the meaning of the statute simply from an examination of the language. There we reviewed the legislative history of an Employee Retirement Income Security Act venue provision, compared its language with the language used in the venue provisions of other statutes, and analyzed cases construing those other provisions. After painstaking analysis of these materials and other questions, we said "[w]hile we should be careful in attaching the adverb 'clearly' to erroneous in our hindsight review, we conclude that the test is met here." Id. at 252.

In Mehrmanesh we found the question close -- we were not firmly convinced of the correct answer. In Varsic, we ultimately were. In line with the "firm conviction" test, United States Gypsum, for determining whether findings of fact are "clearly erroneous," we conclude that: when we are firmly convinced that a district court has erred in deciding a question of law, we may hold that the district court's ruling is "clearly erroneous as a matter of law as that term is used in mandamus analysis," Bauman, 557 F.2d at 660.

Moreover, we have some doubt that the district court's order need be "clearly" erroneous in supervisory mandamus cases where the petition raises an important question of law of first impression, the answer to which would have a substantial impact on the administration of the district courts. In cases in which the Supreme Court has reviewed the exercise of supervisory authority by the appellate courts over the district courts, it has not set forth any requirement that the order of the district court be "clearly erroneous" as a prerequisite to the granting of mandamus relief. See Schlagenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104 (1964); LaBuy v. Howes Leather Co., 352 U.S. 249 (1957); see also Note, Supervisory and Advisory Mandamus Under the All Writs Act, 86 Harv. L. Rev. 595, 611, 615 & n.86 (1973) ("Schlagenhauf . . . left no room in the area of advisory [supervisory] mandamus for a requirement of degree of error").

The requirement that the petitioner demonstrate that the order of the district court is "clearly" erroneous stems from our desire to avoid interference with the district court's control of the litigation before it. In the normal run of cases, it would be counterproductive for appellate courts to interfere when "the most that could be claimed is that the district courts have erred in ruling on matters within their jurisdiction." Schlagenhauf, 379 U.S. at 112 (quoting Parr v. United States, 351 U.S. 513, 520 (1956)). We are hesitant to declare that a district judge has exceeded his authority[7/] unless we are reasonably certain, i.e., "firmly convinced," that he has done so. But in supervisory mandamus cases involving questions of law of major importance to the administration of the district courts, the purpose of our review -- and the reason for our correcting an error made by a trial judge -- is to provide necessary guidance to the district courts and to assist them in their efforts to ensure that the judicial system operates in an orderly and efficient manner. Accordingly, in such cases we see no legitimate reason for refraining from exercising our supervisory authority where we can determine that an error has been made but cannot, for whatever reason, characterize the error as "clearly" erroneous.

Considering the nature of the issue before us, we believe that petitioners would be entitled to a writ were we to be firmly convinced that the district court was incorrect in its interpretation of section 455. Moreover, in light of the fact that the petition presents a question of law of first impression, the resolution of which would have a substantial effect on the orderly and efficient administration of the courts, we might issue the writ even were we simply to conclude that the district court was in error.[8/]

III

The Recusal Statute

We now turn to the question of the proper interpretation of section 455. Section 455 provides in part that

> (a) Any justice, judge or magistrate of the United States shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.
>
> (b) He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances:
>
> . . . .
> (4) [When] he knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse . . . has a financial interest > in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding . . . .

>
> . . . .
>
> (d) For the purposes of this section the following words or phrases shall have the meaning indicated:
>
> (4) "financial interest" means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small . . . .
>
> . . . .
> (e) No justice, judge, or magistrate shall accept from the parties to the proceeding a waiver of any ground for disqualification enumerated in subsection (b). Where the ground for disqualification arises only under subsection (a), waiver may be accepted provided that it is preceded by a full disclosure on the record of the basis for disqualification.

Another provision of section 455 excludes specified mutual fund investments from the definition of "financial interest."[9/]

After the plaintiff class had been certified and the time had run during which class members could opt out, Judge Muecke was notified by the defendants that his wife owned stock in several of the plaintiff class members. The defendants contended that Mrs. Muecke's stock ownership constituted a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding and that Judge Muecke was under a per se duty to recuse himself. After extensive briefing, oral argument, and an opinion from the Advisory Committee on Codes of Conduct of the Judicial Conference of the United States, Judge Muecke recused himself on the ground that his wife's stock ownership constituted a financial interest in a party to the proceeding within the meaning of section 455(b)(4).

In his opinion Judge Muecke correctly noted that in subsection (b)(4) of the statute, the phrase "financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding," unlike the phrase "or any other interest," is not modified by the subsequent phrase "that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding." Thus, subsection (b)(4) establishes two classes of disqualifying interests: first, "financial interests in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding;" these interests require recusal whether or not the outcome of the proceeding could have any effect on the interests; second, "other interests;" these interests require recusal only if they could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding. See In re New Mexico Natural Gas Anti-Trust Litigation, 620 F.2d 794, 796 (10th Cir. 1980). An "interest" is disqualifying whether it is held by the judge or his spouse. The issue before Judge Muecke, then, was whether his wife's stock ownership in several of the class members constituted a financial interest in a party to the proceeding or the subject matter in controversy. If such ownership constituted a financial interest in either, it is irrelevant, for purposes of recusal, whether that interest would be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

Judge Muecke held that ownership of stock in a class member constitutes a financial interest in a party to the proceeding. In so holding, Judge Muecke rejected the petitioner's arguments that, because the statute does not refer to class members and because general law does not treat class members and parties in an identical fashion, class members are not parties within the meaning of section 455. 515 F. Supp. at 1079.

Judge Muecke acknowledged that congressional silence on the question of the status of class members creates some difficulty in applying the statute:

> Given that § 455 purports to adopt a per se rule regarding disqualification, it is amazing that the statute is not more specific as to when the per se rule would apply. The problems created by the language of § 455 are compounded by a dearth of legislative history on the questions before this Court. Section 455 might operate with some degree of success in the context of simple litigation. When applied to complex multidistrict class actions, however, the statute appears to break down.
>
> . . . .
>
> Despite the proliferation of class-actions in this country, there is no indication that Congress directly considered the question whether "party" under (b)(4) should be read to include "class member."

Id. at 1079.

However, Judge Muecke found unpersuasive petitioners' argument that because general law does not treat class members and parties in an identical fashion for all purposes, class members are not parties for purposes of section 455. It is true that for certain procedural purposes, class members and parties are not treated identically.[10/] But, these differences in treatment are a concession to the nature of class action suits and the purposes of Rule 23: if every class member had to be treated as a party in all circumstances, the purposes of Rule 23 might in some instances be frustrated. Thus, for example, the presence of non-diverse class members will not defeat federal diversity jurisdiction so long as the class representatives and the opposing parties are diverse; e.g., Freidman v. Myers, 482 F.2d 435 (2d Cir. 1973); see also Snyder v. Harris, 394 U.S. 332, 340 (1969); 13 C. Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 1755 at 550 n. 82;

some courts have held that class members are not subject to discovery under Fed. R. Civ. P. 33; e.g., Fischer v. Wolfinbarger, 55 F.R.D. 129 (W.D. Ky. 1971); Wainwright v. Kraftco Corp., 54 F.R.D. 532 (N.D. Ga. 1972);[11/] and other courts have held that class members should not be treated as parties for purposes of counterclaims under Rule 13; e.g., Donson Stores v. American Bakeries Co., 58 F.R.D. 481 (S.D. N.Y. 1973).[12/]

Whatever the rule may be with respect to treating class members as parties for certain procedural purposes, it is clear that class members and parties are treated in substantially the same manner in regard to the substantive benefits and burdens of judgment. Thus, Rule 23 provides that any class member who has not opted out shall be included in the judgment, whether favorable or not to the class member, Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)-(3); a class member may appeal from an order approving a settlement to which the member objects, Ace Heating & Plumbing Co. v. Crane Co., 453 F.2d 30 (3d Cir. 1971); a class member is bound as a party for res judicata purposes, see e.g., Brown v. Vermillion, 593 F.2d 321 (8th Cir. 1979); Smith v. Alleghany Corp., 394 F.2d 381 (2d Cir.), cert. denied, 393 U.S. 939 (1968); 3B J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 23.60 at 23-468; 13 C. Wright & A. Miller, Federal Practice & Procedure § 1784 at 178 ("According to traditional res judicata notions, a member of a class in a Rule 23 suit is considered to be a party by representation, and will be bound to the same extent as an actual party").

On some occasions, courts have expressly described class members as parties. In American Pipe & Construction Co. v. Utah, 414 U.S. 538 (1974), the Supreme Court stated "[u]nder

the circumstances of this case, . . . the claimed members of the class stood as parties to the suit until and unless they received notice thereof and chose not to continue." Id. at 550-51. The Court held that the statute of limitations was tolled for "all members of the class who would have been parties had the suit been permitted to continue as a class action." Id. at 554. Similarly, in comparing the status of members of an organization that had filed suit to the status of class members in a class action, the Seventh Circuit stated that "the [Supreme] Court's remarks plainly imply that the organization's members are not parties to an organizational representative suit. Yet class members are parties to class actions. See e.g., Zahn v. International Paper Co., ..." Local 194, Retail, Wholesale & Department Store Union v. Standard Brands, 540 F.2d 864, 867 (7th Cir. 1976).[13/]

We need not decide the general question whether class members are in fact "parties" to a class action suit; for some purposes they are treated as such, and for other purposes they are not. Here, we need decide only if, for purposes of section 455, stock ownership in a class member constitutes an interest in "a party to the proceeding." We agree with Judge Muecke's analysis in rejecting petitioner's argument that class members are not parties within the meaning of section 455:

> The problem with plaintiffs' argument is that, where it counts, class members and parties are identical. There is no question that class members are included in the benefits and burdens of a judgment on an equal basis with parties. For this reason, there appears to be no reason in logic why a financial interest "however small" in a named party to a litigation should be grounds for recusal, but that the same interest in a class member should not be.

> Neither the degree of conflict, nor the appearance of impropriety is altered by a litigant's classification as "party" or "class member."

515 F. Supp. at 1079.[14]

A review of the statute's legislative history adds considerable support to Judge Muecke's ruling that, because the appearance of impropriety is similar whether the interest is in a named party or a class member, class members should be viewed as parties for purposes of recusal under the statute.

Prior to its amendment in 1974, section 455 provided that

> Any justice or judge of the United States shall disqualify himself in any case in which he has a substantial interest . . . or is so related or connected with any party or his attorney as to render it improper, in his opinion, to sit on the trial, appeal or other proceeding therein.

The movement to amend section 455 was "spurred by the ambiguities and uncertainties" of the above language. 120 Cong. Rec. 36268 (1974)(statement of Rep. Kastenmeier). Representative Kastenmeier, the House sponsor of the bill to amend section 455, pointed to two main problems under the statute prior to its amendment. First, the statute provided no guidance on the question of how to determine the substantiality of a judge's interest in a party; second, the sole arbiter of the question of the substantiality of the judge's interest was the very judge whose impartiality was being questioned. Id. The House Judiciary Committee described the purpose of the amendment as follows: "[B]y setting specific standards, Congress can eliminate the uncertainty and the ambiguity arising from the language in the existing statute and will have aided the judges in avoiding possible criticism for failure to disqualify themselves." H.R. Rep. No. 1453 at 6, 93rd Cong. 2d Sess. 1974; reprinted in 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News 6351, 6355 [hereinafter cited as House Report].

At the time that Congress was considering the merits of the amended version of section 455, the American Bar Association (ABA) had adopted a new Code of Judicial Conduct. Canon 3(C)(1) of the ABA Code provided that

> . . . .

"Financial interest" was defined in the new code as a "legal or equitable interest, however small . . . ." Id., Canon 3(c)(3).

Although recusal is required under the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct where the judge has a financial interest in a party, however small, Canon 3(D) of the Code specifically provides that the parties may waive this ground for recusal if they agree in writing that the interest is insubstantial and the judge discloses the basis of his disqualification on the record.[15/] The Reporter for the ABA committee which formulated the Code explained why the committee adopted a waiver provision: "Because of the hardship to the litigants that could be brought about in some jurisdictions by the delay in obtaining another judge to replace a disqualified judge, the Committee decided that under specified circumstances a judge's disqualification based on economic interest . . . could be waived." E. Thode, Reporter's Notes to the Code of Judicial Conduct 71 (1973).

The proposed amendment to section 455 was cast in terms very similar to Canon 3(C) of the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct. Indeed, one of the stated purposes of the amendment was to bring the statutory requirement of recusal into line with the ethical obligation imposed by the newly adopted ABA Code of Judicial Conduct. 120 Cong. Rec. 36269 (1974). However, there were significant differences between the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct and the proposed amendment to section 455. The most notable difference was the absence from the proposed amendment of a waiver provision similar to that contained in Canon 3(D). This difference was the subject of much of the congressional debate about the amendment and was the source of most of the opposition to the enactment of the new section 455.

The absence of a provision allowing waiver of a ground for disqualification by the parties when a judge holds an insubstantial interest in a party led to criticism from several quarters. The Judicial Conference of the United States expressed its disapproval of the proposed amendment. The Judicial Conference took the position that the amendment to section 455 was unnecessary in light of its recent adoption of a new judicial code. In addition, it objected to the fact that the proposed amendment did not allow waiver of disqualification when the judge's interest was insubstantial. The Judicial Conference expressed the view that a waiver provision would be in the best interests of the litigants and the administration of justice. House Report at 10-12; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6360-61.[16/]

A number of members of Congress objected to the inflexible nature of the proposed amendment. Representative Dennis of Indiana condemned the proposal as "unreasonable and unrealistic" because it lacked a waiver provision. He pointed to the possible adverse consequences both before the House Judiciary Committee and on the floor of the House:

> The necessary effect of this inflexible provision is that, by legislative enactment, we could have a true Daniel come to judgment -- or a Learned Hand upon the bench -- and if the case involved, let us say, the Exxon Corporation, and the judge owned 20 shares of common stock, which he had inherited from his parents many years before and had never particularly thought of since, he absolutely could not sit, even though both parties to the cause preferred him -- because of his expertise, learning, and integrity -- to any and all other available members of the judiciary.
> To me, an inflexible provision of this kind does not make good sense, does not make for the highest quality of justice, and represents an over-reaction to a problem which, so far as the Committee has been advised, is largely non-existent.

House Report at 15; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6363. See also 120 Cong. Rec. at 36269.

Representative Smith of New York noted that the "American Bar Association generally supports the bill, but feels that the disqualification for any financial interest is unreasonable." He also raised concerns over the possible effect such a sweeping rule of disqualification could have on the federal judiciary. After arguing in favor of a waiver provision, he stated:

> I think this is very important in these days when judicial manpower in our Federal courts to which this will apply is being > pushed to the outer limits, because in case after case in which the judge may have a very slight financial interest, as defined in the the bill, the judges will not be able to sit and must under the bill disqualify themselves, even if the parties would like to have them sit.

120 Cong. Rec. at 36270.

Nevertheless, despite repeated objections to the lack of a provision allowing waiver where the judge's interest was insubtantial, Congress refused to follow the lead of the ABA and the Judicial Conference on this point. The Senate passed the bill after Senator Burdick, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Improvements in Judicial Machinery of the Committee on the Judiciary and sponsor of the bill in the Senate, told that body that "[t]he most significant provision in these new standards would require a judge to disqualify himself in any case in which he has a financial interest, however small, in the proceeding." 119 Cong. Rec. at 33029 (1973)(remarks of Senator Burdick). Senator Burdick stressed the fact that the proposed amendment deviated from the ABA code in that the amendment did not allow for waiver of either financial interest or kinship within the third degree as grounds for disqualification. Senator Burdick explained that "[t]he rationale . . . [for not allowing waiver] is that these are . . . instances in which the public at large would feel a judge most certainly should disqualify himself." Id. at 33030.

The House Judiciary Committee specifically noted that the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct allowed waiver where the judge had only a small financial interest in a party, whereas the proposed amendment to section 455 did not. The Committee explained that "[w]hile the ABA canon on disqualification would permit waiver in these . . . instances, the committee believes that confidence in the impartiality of federal judges is enhanced by a more strict treatment of waiver . . . . The statutes contain ample authority for chief judges to assign other judges to replace either a circuit judge or district court judge who become disqualified." House Report at 7; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6357. The Committee also said "[n]otwithstanding the views expressed [by the Judicial Conference] it is felt that the American people are entitled to ethical behavior on the part of all three branches of the Government, not merely the Executive or legislative branches." Id. at 6361.

Congress adopted a broad and sweeping per se rule despite warnings that it might lead to major disruption of litigation and to the loss of the judge with the most expertise in a given matter, even where the judge's financial interest in the party was insubstantial. It was aware that the rule would in at least some cases create the very type of hardships that petitioners plead here. Congress weighed these hardships against the importance of public confidence in the federal judiciary and struck the balance in favor of the latter.

Given that Congress' main concern in adopting section 455 was to promote public confidence in the impartiality of the judiciary, it is entirely consistent with congressional intent to hold that a financial interest in a class member requires recusal. While Congress did not consider or discuss the status of class members when it enacted section 455, we believe that Judge Muecke's construction of the statute effectuates the expressed congressional purpose in adopting the per se rule.

We conclude that the term "party" as used in section

455 must be given its broad customary meaning rather than the narrow construction suggested by plaintiffs, and hold that for purposes of the recusal statute, the term "party" includes class members. Thus, after five years of litigation, a multi-million dollar lawsuit of major national importance, with over 200,000 class plaintiffs, grinds to a halt over Mrs. Muecke's $29.70. A new judge must now be assigned to conduct further proceedings.

IV

Other Considerations

We acknowledge that petitioners are not alone in their contention that there are serious shortcomings in section 455. The per se rule of recusal of section 455(b)(4) has been subject to much criticism. See Note, Judicial Disqualification in the Federal Courts: A Proposal to Conform Statutory Provisions to Underlying Policies, 67 Iowa L. Rev. 525 (1982); Note, Disqualification of Federal District Court Judges for Bias or Prejudice: Problems, Problematic Proposals, and a Proposed Procedure, 46 Alb. L. Rev. 229, 230 (1981); Comment, Disqualification of Federal Judges for Bias or Prejudice, 46 U. Chi. L. Rev. 236, 251-68 (1978); Note, Judicial Disqualification in the Federal Courts: Maintaining an Appearance of Justice Under 28 U.S.C. § 455, 1978 U. Ill. L. F. 863, 870-85. The Judicial Conference of the United States has recently proposed to Congress that section 455 be amended.[17/]

Congress discussed many of the arguments now being advanced by critics of section 455 when it amended that section in 1974. However, Congress did not discuss the question whether class members should be classified as parties for purposes of the per se rule of section 455(b)(4), nor did Congress consider whether any reasons exist for treating class action suits differently in any respect. In the words of Judge Muecke,

> [I]t is somewhat surprising that Congress did not consider the effect of § 455 on the administration of class action litigation. Not only has the class action become an increasingly common form of litigation in this country, the likelihood of § 455 applying in a class action, with its many "parties", is much increased over simple litigation.

515 F. Supp. at 1080. Moreover, the administrative burden of applying section 455 in class action proceedings is far greater than in normal civil cases. Certification of the class may not occur for months, or even years, after the complaint has been filed; thus, the judge may not be able to compare his stock holdings to the class membership list until after substantial judicial resources have been invested in the litigation. Accordingly, whatever Congress may decide generally with respect to reconsidering the explicit decisions it made when it amended section 455 in 1974, the question whether and how that section should apply in class action cases would seem to warrant congressional consideration.

We note that the administrative problems of applying section 455 in class action cases are compounded by the fact that the disqualifying interest may result from the ownership of stock by a judge's spouse. Although it may be possible under most circumstances for a judge to control the extent and nature of his or her own investments, the judge may be unable to control the financial holdings or investment activities of a spouse. The day has passed when a husband can order his wife to arrange her financial affairs to suit his convenience. As increasing numbers of women establish careers, the likelihood that judges' wives will insist on asserting the right to maintain independent judgment and control over their investments also increases. Indeed, as increasing numbers of women become federal judges, the likelihood that there will be a number of judicial husbands who will pursue independent careers and treat their own investments in a similar fashion also increases. Thus, from a practical standpoint, federal judges lack control over a significant area of potential conflict under section 455: stock ownership by their spouses in class members.

It now appears that the per se rule may give rise to a greater number of conflicts - and a different kind - than initially anticipated by Congress. The underlying assumption -- that conflicts can readily be avoided by judges following the advice offered by Congress with regard to the management of their financial affairs[18/] -- may, at least with respect to class action cases, be somewhat fallacious. We recognize that this fact does not affect the question whether a class member is a party for purposes of section 455, as that provision was enacted in 1974. We think it relevant, however, to the need for a legislative evaluation of the reasonableness and consequences of the per se rule in class action cases and to the question whether the actual benefits of applying the per se rule in such cases outweigh the resultant disruption to the orderly and efficient administration of the judicial system.[19/]

VI

Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, we reluctantly agree with Judge Muecke that class members are parties within the meaning of section 455(b)(4), and that Mrs. Muecke's stock ownership in a class member constitutes a financial interest in a party to the proceeding. Accordingly, as Judge Muecke properly concluded, he was required to recuse himself.

The petition for the writ of mandamus is DENIED.

1/ Courts and commentators have referred to the use of mandamus to exercise supervisory authority over the district courts as "supervisory mandamus." See, e.g., Bauman v. United States District Court, 557 F.2d 650 (9th Cir. 1977); 9 J. Moore, Moore's Federal Practice ¶ 110.28 at 312 (2d ed. 1982).

2/ We do not intend to foreclose the issue of whether prejudicial error could arise where an invidious purpose underlies the assignment of a case to a particular judge. However, under the assignment system used in most, if not all, of the district courts in this circuit, such an issue is unlikely ever to arise.

3/ Our previous decision in In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020 (9th Cir. 1982), does not foreclose petitioners' contention that the recusal order will have a significant adverse impact on both the progress of this litigation and the orderly and efficient administration of the federal courts in general. Although we strongly suggested in Cement that petitioners' failed to demonstrate that the recusal order would substantially delay the proceedings, we stated that the contention would be reviewed in our consideration of the merits for the petition for mandamus:

> [I]f dissatisfied with the district judge's decision and confident that the litigation will be greatly disrupted, a party may seek a writ of mandamus from the court of appeals. It is for just such an exceptional circumstance that the writ was designed. Plaintiffs have done so here and that petition will be reviewed on the merits.

Id. at 1025 (citations omitted).

4/ Although Judge Muecke's order "conclusively determine[s] the disputed question, resolve[s] an important issue completely separate from the merits of the action, and [is] effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment," Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. v. Risjord, 449 U.S. 368, 375 (1981) (quoting Coopers & Lybrand v. Livesay, 437 U.S. 463, 467 (1978)), we have previously determined that the order is not appealable under the collateral order doctrine of Cohen v. Beneficial Industrial Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541 (1949), because the order does not impair a "claim of right " possessed by plaintiffs. In re Cement Antitrust Litigation, 673 F.2d 1020, 1024-25 (9th Cir. 1982).

5/ Ordinarily mandamus will not issue unless the petitioner can demonstrate that his right to such relief is "clear and indisputable." Will v. Calvert Fire Insurance Co., 437 U. S. 655, 662 (1978) (plurality opinion). See also Kerr v. United States District Court, 426 U.S. 394 (1976); Banker's Life & Casualty Co. v. Holland, 346 U.S. 379 (1953). In Hampton v. City of Chicago, 643 F.2d 478 (7th Cir. 1981), the trial judge granted the defendants' motion that he recuse himself pursuant to section 455 on the ground that his impartiality might reasonably be questioned. Plaintiffs' petition for a writ of mandamus to vacate the recusal order was dismissed by the court of appeals with the explanation that

"[w]e are not persuaded that a party in like circumstances could ever make a showing that its rights [sic] to issuance of the writ is clear and indisputable." Id. at 480.

It may be true that a petitioner can rarely, if ever, demonstrate that his right to relief is "clear and indisputable" where a trial judge has recused himself pursuant to an exercise of discretion under section 455, i.e., if the trial judge has determined that his impartiality might "reasonably" be questioned or that his interest might be "substantially" affected. However, where, as here, the trial judge finds no reason to recuse himself other than one that results from his interpretation of the statute, and the alleged error is thus solely one of law, petitioner may be able to establish a "clear and indisputable" right to relief.

6/ The Second Circuit has recently employed a "firm conviction" standard to determine if a trial court's interpretation of a statute was correct. In In re International Business Machines Corp., No. 82-3037, slip op. at 4371 (2d Cir. Aug. 13, 1982), the Second Circuit granted a petition for a writ of mandamus where the trial judge refused to take prompt action to dismiss a major antitrust enforcement action despite the fact that the Department of Justice stipulated to dismissal. The trial judge refused to enter a judgment of dismissal pending his determination of whether the Tunney Act, 15 U.S.C. § 16(b)-(h) (1976), was applicable to the stipulated dismissal.

The court stated: "Essential to IBM's argument that Judge Edelstein has abused his jurisdiction is a firm conviction that the Tunney Act does not apply to . . . stipulation[s] of dismissal." Id. at 4389. The court concluded that the language of the statute and its legislative history "compelled" the conclusion that the district court's interpretation of the statute was incorrect. Id. at 4394. The Second Circuit also considered whether review by mandamus was appropriate in that case:

> We begin with the recognition that this is an extraordinary case. It has been one of the longest antitrust cases since the enactment of the Sherman Act, and involves one of the nation's largest industrial concerns. The parties in this litigation have seen four changes of Administration with corresponding shifts in civil antitrust policies. With these changes have come dozens of new attorneys. The length of the proceedings is particularly significant because of developments in the industry since the commencement of the action which, practically speaking, have rendered many of the underlying products commercially outmoded. The case also reaches us in a unique context in that both parties seek dismissal. In light of the underlying issue of first impression, i.e. whether the Tunney Act applies to Rule 41(a)(1) stipulations of dismissal, the unique nature of this case, the enormous sums of money being expended by the parties in compliance with orders for document retention which the district court will not even consider modifying until it has decided the Tunney Act question, and the length of the proceedings, we have the "extraordinary significance" required to make mandamus an appropriate consideration. See In re Attorney General, 596 F.2d 58, 64 (2d Cir. 1979). Accordingly, we proceed to a review of IBM's claims.

Id. at 4388.

In light of the above factors, the Second Circuit issued the writ of mandamus after having found that the district court's interpretation of the Tunney Act was wrong and that the trial judge had therefore abused his jurisdiction in refusing to dismiss the case.

7/ Although mandamus is most frequently used where there has been a usurpation of judicial power or a clear abuse of discretion, Bankers Life & Casualty Co. v. Holland, 346 U.S. 379 (1953), mandamus may also be used to "compel [a district court] to exercise its authority when it is its duty to do so." Kerr v. United States District Court, 42 U.S. 394, 402 (1976) (quoting Roche v. Evaporated Milk Assn., 319 U.S. 21, 26 (1943)).

8/ There is, however, one further question that we would be required to decide. We could not issue the writ unless we concluded not only that Judge Muecke was not required to recuse himself because of "a financial interest . . . in a party," but also that he was not required to do so because of "a financial interest in the subject matter." Although Judge Muecke did not consider the latter issue, it was fully briefed and argued by the parties both before the district court and this court. While we do not ultimately decide the question here, we have no hesitation in concluding, for purposes of our mandamus analysis, that Judge Muecke was not required to recuse himself on the latter ground.

9/ Section 455(d)(4)(i) provides that "Ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a "financial interest" in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund . . . ."

10/ However, for other procedural purposes they are. Class members must be given notice of any proposed dismissal or settlement and may personally appear and object at a settlement hearing, see e.g., Cannon v. Texas Gulf Sulfur Co., 55 F.R.D. 308 (S.D.N.Y. 1972); see also 3 H. Newberg, Class Actions § 56606 at 564 (1977); the filing of a complaint on behalf of a class tolls the statute of limitations for all members of the class, American Pipe & Const. Co. v. Utah, 414 U.S. 538 (1974); and when jurisdiction over a 23(b)(3) class is based on diversity, each member of the class must satisfy the $10,000 amount in controversy requirement, Zahn v. International Paper Co., 414 U.S. 291, 294 (1973) ("Each plaintiff in a Rule 23(b)(3) class action must satisfy the jurisdictional amount . . . .").

11/ Contra Brennan v. Midwestern Life Ins. Co., 450 F.2d 999 (7th Cir. 1971), cert. denied, 405 U.S. 921 (1972).

12/ Contra Rodriguez v. Family Publications Service Inc., 57 F.R.D. 189 (C.D. Cal. 1972).

13/ Cf. Greenfield v. Villager Industries, Inc., 483 F.2d 824, 831 (3rd Cir. 1973).

14/ We agree with Judge Muecke's analysis to the extent that it stands for the proposition that there is no logical basis for excluding "class member" from the definition of the term "party" as Congress meant that term to be defined when it last amended section 455. We do not understand his analysis to suggest, nor would we necessarily agree, that there is no logical or rational basis for drawing a distinction between ordinary civil cases and class actions for purposes of enacting appropriate statutory recusal provisions. Indeed, after asserting that there was "no reason in logic" for drawing such a distinction, Judge Muecke went on to point out several reasons why the application of section 455 to class actions creates substantial administrative burdens which do not occur when ordinary civil cases are involved. 515 F. Supp. at 1080-81. These arguments constitute "reasons in logic" for drawing such a distinction and we consider them infra.

15/ At the time Congress was debating the amendments to section 455, the Judicial Conference of the United States had adopted the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct with some minor changes. Although the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct required the finding that the interest be insubstantial before the parties could agree to waive the ground for disqualification, the Code as adopted by the Judicial Conference did not require any such finding. Rather, the parties were permitted to waive the ground for disqualification even where the judge's financial interest was substantial.

16/ The Department of Justice suggested that a ground for disqualification should be deemed to be waived if it is not asserted in a timely manner. In a letter to the House Judiciary Committee, the Department of Justice stated that a provision should be added to the proposed amendment requiring that "applications for disqualification . . . be timely made so as to prevent applications from being filed near the end of a trial when the underlying facts were known long before. The Department of Justice recommends enactment of this legislation, amended as suggested above." House Report at 9; 1974 U.S. Code Cong. & Ad. News at 6358. The Justice Department's views evinced concern that the mandatory disqualification procedure might be used by disgruntled litigants to disrupt trials after considerable judicial resources had been invested in the proceedings.

17/ The proposed amendment would allow a judge to accept a waiver by the parties if the ground for disqualification did not arise until after "substantial judicial time had been devoted to the matter" and the judge's interest would not be substantially affected by the outcome. Judicial Conference of the United States, 1980 Proceedings 81. The proposed amendment also provides that even "in the absence of waiver, disqualification is not required if the judge determines that the public interest in avoiding the cost of delay of reassignment outweighs any appearance of impropriety arising from his continuing with the matter to completion." Id. The issues raised by the proposed amendment are, of course, for Congress to consider if it wishes.

18/ The House Judiciary Committee considered, at least in part, the burden that the amendment would impose on judges:

> Under subsection (c), the judge has a duty to inform himself about his own financial interests. This precludes use of a so called blind trust.
>
> . . . .
>
> Subsection (d)(4) also provides that investments in mutual funds . . . are generally not "financial interests."
>
> These provisions of the bill with relation to disqualification based on financial interests are not intended to deprive the judge of the opportunity to make financial investments. However, they must be considered in light of Canon 5C(3) of the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct which provides:
>
> > A judge should manage his investments and other financial interests to minimize the number of cases in which he is disqualified. As soon as he can do so without serious financial detriment, he should divest himself of investments and other financial interests that might require frequent disqualification.
> Therefore, a judge is free to invest. He should invest in companies which are not likely to become litigants in his court. If that should happen, then he must disqualify himself.

H.R. Rep. at 6357. The Judiciary Committee's suggestion that a judge invest in companies that are not likely to become litigants in the judges court is of limited utility in multidistrict class actions such as the one before Judge Muecke. There are over 200,000 class members, many of whom are corporations. It appears that disqualifications under section 455 will become the rule rather than the exception in large class actions unless judges and their families either refrain from investing or invest only in mutual or common funds.

19/ There may be other, less disruptive methods of alleviating Congress' concern that a judge not be put in the position of determining whether his interest is "substantial," whether it will be "substantially affected" by the outcome of the proceeding, or whether the public interest in avoiding delay outweighs any appearance of impropriety. For example, those questions could be decided by another judge or tribunal. Such a procedure would satisfy the concern that a judge not be the arbiter of questions involving his own self-interest, yet would prevent disruption of major litigation where the public interest so dictates.

Arizona v. United States District Court - No. 81-7465

FERGUSON, Circuit Judge, concurring:

I agree that Judge Muecke properly determined that he was required to recuse himself. I further agree that this court has jurisdiction under the All Writs Act to review Judge Muecke's decision.

However, this case should not be considered as one that expands the supervisory power of this court over district courts. First, the decision of the district court was one mandated by the law; this court is not reviewing an exercise of discretion. Second, the matter does not in any way determine the rights of the parties but instead is directed solely to the orderly administration of the courts, the very core of this court's supervisory power. Third, the only way in which the new and significant issue presented here could be adjudicated was by this court assuming jurisdiction under the All Writs Act.

PETITIONERS' REPLY MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF "MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM COMPLIANCE WITH CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF SUPREME COURT RULES 19.3, 21.1(D), 28.1 and 28.3"

The pending Petition for a Writ of Certiorari involves the appealability of an order holding that absent members of a certified Rule 23, F.R.Civ.Pro., class are "parties" to the litigation for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4). Petitioners' present motion seeks relief from overwhelming expenses and logistical burdens which might be imposed by a literal reading of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3 if such rules were applied consistent with the ruling below on the merits of the recusal (i.e., Chief District Judge C. A. Muecke's May 26, 1981 Opinion and Order holding that absent class members are "parties" to this litigation for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4)). Absent the relief requested, Petitioners arguably would be required to serve their Petition on the more than 210,000 class members whose names appear on the Master Class List (filed as Exhibit A to the present motion), and incur extraordinary other expenses in prosecuting the present Petition before this Court.[1] Such an absurd result could hardly have been contemplated by this Court's Rules.

Respondents do not oppose the "technical" relief which Petitioners seek in paragraphs (1)-(3) of their motion,

[1] In addition to costs of printing and mailing copies of the pending Petition for Writ of Certiorari, merely copying the list of "parties" in its present (reduced type) form for dissemination to each of the 210,235 putative class members on the Master Class List would require in excess of 282,000,000 pieces of paper (copied on both sides). At a rate of $.02 per page, duplicating costs involved in serving this list of "parties" on each of the absent class members (as potentially required by Supreme Court Rule 28.3) would exceed $11,289,000, and first class postage costs would exceed $4,000,000.

but fail to respond to the essence of the present quandry: for this Court to even consider and rule on this unopposed "technical" motion, it must first determine that it has the necessary quorum of six Justices, as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1. This preliminary determination of a quorum itself requires that the individual Justices decide the underlying merits of the recusal issue. To determine the presence (or absence) of a quorum of this Court, it must first decide whether ownership of stock in absent class members by the Chief Justice and Justices Powell, Blackmun, Rehnquist and O'Connor[2] mandates their disqualification pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4). If absent class members are "parties" for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 455, then no quorum exists to even consider, much less grant or deny, the present motion.

While certain of the respondents have previously attempted to avoid consideration of the merits of the recusal issue by this Court,[3] the issue is now squarely presented by the present motion for relief from certain provisions of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3. The fact that a petition for a writ of mandamus from Chief Judge Muecke's recusal order is currently before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals does not detract from the necessity that, before this Court considers this motion and the pending Petition for Writ of Certiorari, it must initially determine that it has a quorum.

[2] As set forth in their respective Financial Disclosure Reports, current as of December 31, 1981.

[3] See, Alpha Portland Industries, Inc. v. California, ___ U.S. ___, 102 S.Ct. 17 (1981), dismissing Petition for Writ of Certiorari pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 53.2.

Accordingly, Petitioners have moved in the alternative that this Court decide the parameters of the term "parties" (for purposes of both the Supreme Court Rules and 28 U.S.C. § 455) in ruling on the present motion. If this Court believes that the present record is insufficient to address the issue of whether absent class members are "parties" for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 455, Petitioners respectfully submit that the proper course would be for the Court to direct full briefing on the merits of the recusal issue prior to any determination of the present motion.

ON PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT

REPLY BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI

SUPPLEMENTAL STATEMENT OF THE CASE

In addition to the facts set forth in the "Statement of the Case" at pages 2-7 of this "Petition For A Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals For the Ninth Circuit," the following facts are relevant to the timeliness issue raised in respondents' brief in opposition. At the January 4, 1982 oral argument on the mandamus petition from Judge Muecke's recusal order (which was accepted by the Ninth Circuit when petitioners' alternate jurisdictional grounds under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1291 and 1292(b) were rejected), the Panel raised the question of the propriety of jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1291 and 1292(b), and inquired why petitioners had not requested reconsideration of the jurisdiction rulings. At that hearing, petitioners so moved orally, and on January 11, 1982 petitioners filed a written motion for leave to file a petition for reconsideration and attached a copy of the petition.

On January 22, 1982, while petitioners' motion for leave to petition for reconsideration was pending before the Ninth Circuit, an application for enlargement of time in which to file a petition for writ of certiorari on the jurisdictional issues was filed with this Court. On January 25, 1982, that application was denied (Appendix III to Brief in Opposition to Petition For Writ of Certiorari). The very next day, the Ninth Circuit entered an Order (Petition Appendix F): (1) stating that an "opinion expanding the views summarily expressed in the Order filed October 30, 1981" would be filed the next day, (2) ordering the petition for reconsideration lodged with the Court, and (3) granting petitioners leave to file a petition for rehearing within seven days of the filing of the Court's opinion. The extended opinion, with an eight page dissent, was filed January 27, 1982. On February 3, 1982, petitioners timely filed a petition for rehearing and suggestion for rehearing en banc based on the extended opinion in accordance with the Circuit Court's Order. On April 15, 1982, the Ninth Circuit issued an "Amendment of Opinion and Denial of Rehearing" (Petition Appendix G) which denied the petition for rehearing and rejected the suggestion for rehearing en banc.

Since five of the Justices of this Court have stockholdings similar to Mrs. Muecke's, the identical recusal issue before the Ninth Circuit on the petition for writ of mandamus would be presented by a petition for a writ of certiorari on the jurisdiction issues. Therefore, on June 2, 1982, petitioners requested an extention of time in which to file such a petition to give the Ninth Circuit more time in which to rule. That request was granted by Justice Rehnquist to the extent of allowing a thirty-two day extension to Sunday, August 15, 1982. (Appendix L, attached hereto.) As the Ninth Circuit still had not ruled on the mandamus petition by July 24, 1982, petitioners requested an additional extension of twenty-eight days (thus totaling the sixty days permitted by this Court's rules) in which to file a petition for a writ of certiorari on the jurisdiction issues, which request was denied on August 2, 1982. On August 16, 1982, petitioners timely filed this petition for a writ of certiorari from the Ninth Circuit's jurisdiction rulings which were final on April 15, 1982.

REASONS WHY THE WRIT SHOULD BE GRANTED

I. The Petition Was Timely Filed

Prior to January 28, 1982, the date by which a petition for writ of certiorari for review of the Ninth Circuit's October 30, 1981 Order would have been due, the Circuit Court granted petitioners' motion for leave to petition for reconsideration. By ordering the petition for reconsideration lodged and inviting the filing of a new petition for rehearing, the Circuit Court suspended the finality of and put at issue both its October 30, 1981 summary Order and the January 27, 1982 extended Opinion. The Ninth Circuit's rulings on these issues were not resolved until April 15, 1982. That is the first date on which a petition for a writ of certiorari was proper. See Bowman v. Lopereno, 311 U.S. 262, 266 (1940), wherein the Court stated (footnotes omitted, emphasis added):

> The filing of an untimely petition for rehearing which is not entertained or considered on its merits, or a motion for leave to file such a petition out of time, if not acted on or if denied by the trial court, cannot operate to extend the time for appeal. But where the court allows the filing and, after considering the merits, denies the petition, the judgment of the court as originally entered does not become final until such denial, and the time for appeal runs from the date thereof.

See also, United States v. Healy, 376 U.S. 75, 77-80 (1964); Forman v. United States, 361 U.S. 416, 426 (1960); Pfister v. Northern Illinois Finance Corporation, 317 U.S. 144, 149-150 (1942); Wayne United Gas Co. v. Owens-Illinois Glass Co., 300 U.S. 131, 137 (1937); and R. Stern & E. Gressman, Supreme Court Practice, § 6.3 (5th ed. 1978).

Here, the Circuit Court considered the merits of petitioners' motion for rehearing and modified the October 30, 1981 Order in the April 15, 1982 "Amendment of Opinion and Denial of Rehearing" (Appendix G). The ninety day period for filing a petition for a writ of certiorari began to run from April 15, 1982 and would have expired on July 14, 1982.

However, on June 4, 1982 petitioners filed a motion to extend time to file a petition for certiorari. This motion was timely filed a full forty days before expiration of the period available to petition for a writ of certiorari. Although respondents filed an opposition setting forth the same timeliness arguments made now, that motion was granted without a caveat as to jurisdiction, and the date for filing a petition for a writ of certiorari was extended until Sunday, August 15, 1982. This petition was filed and endorsed by the Supreme Court Clerk on the next business day, August 16, 1982.

Respondents rely upon FTC v. Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., 344 U.S. 206 (1952), for the proposition that the petition here was untimely filed. However, this Court repeatedly emphasized that Minneapolis-Honeywell did not concern the filing of a motion for reconsideration, or the Circuit Court's acceptance of an application to file a motion for reconsideration:

> The [Petitioner] filed no such petition [for rehearing].

Id. at 208. And:

> [T]he memorandum was labeled neither as a petition for a rehearing nor as a motion to amend the previous judgment, and in no manner did it purport to seek such relief. On the contrary, the [Petitioner] indicated that it was quite content to let the Court of Appeals' decision . . . stand undisturbed.

Id. at 210.

Since the Ninth Circuit chose to lodge petitioners' reconsideration petition, invited the filing of a new rehearing petition and then considered the petition on the merits, the rule enunciated in Bowman v. Lopereno, supra, controls. As stated by R. Stern & E. Gressman, Supreme Court Practice, § 6.3 at 399 (5th ed. 1978):

> If rehearing is sought in the court below, there is no absolute certainty that the judgment below will not be altered. Only when there is such certainty can the judgment properly be made the subject of a petition for certiorari. And thus it is that the time for petitioning for certiorari commences on the date when certainty and finality attach to the action taken by the lower court. Where rehearing has been sought, that date is the one on which rehearing was denied.

Similarly here, once the Ninth Circuit granted petitioners leave to file a petition for rehearing, any petition for a writ of certiorari before the Circuit Court ruled on the rehearing petition would have been premature. It is for that reason that petitioners properly filed their petition for a writ of certiorari after April 15, 1982, when the Ninth Circuit affirmed and amended its October 30, 1981 and January 27, 1982 rulings, and not by January 29, 1982 as respondents assert was required.

Having timely filed this petition for a writ of certiorari, petitioners respectfully request that this Court determine whether it can convene a quorum consistent with 28 U.S.C. § 455(b)(4) so that it may rule upon this petition and accompanying "Motion For Relief From Compliance With Certain Provisions of Supreme Court Rules 19.3, 21.1(b), 28.1 and 28.3." As respondents implicitly concede,[1] a federal judge or justice is obligated to individually evaluate his or her capacity to sit without regard to whether a similar recusal issue is pending elsewhere. Such determination here will require each justice owning stock in a class member to consider the substantive issues resolved in Judge Muecke's recusal Order totally independent of the mandamus proceeding before the Ninth Circuit. Petitioners agree with respondents that proper consideration will require full briefing of the recusal issue to this Court.[2]

II. This Petition Should Be Held For Consideration With No. 82-483.

Petitioners respectfully direct this Court's attention to their "Petition For A Prejudgment Writ of Certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals For the Ninth Circuit" in State of Arizona, et al. v. United States District Court For the District of Arizona, No. 82-483, October Term, 1982. No. 82-483 requests prejudgment review of the recusal issue in the context of the mandamus proceeding. Petitioners respectfully suggest that because identical recusal questions are presented, this Petition should be held for consideration and consolidated with No. 82-483 after the real parties-in-interest there (respondents here) file their brief in opposition on October 18, 1982.
